Butler Banker Given 3 Years

PRISON FOR 'PADDING' RECORDS

Thomas M. Baker, 65, vice president of the former Merchants National Bank of Butler, was sentenced to serve three years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today on a charge of making false reports.

Baker pleaded guilty to falsifying his reports to the Comptroller of Currency over a period of three years. His counsel, Attorney John Wilson, explained that Baker had misrepresented worthless notes in the report, hoping that in time the notes would be redeemable.

Following revelation of Baker's actions the Merchants National Bank was taken over by the Citizens Savings and Trust Company of Butler.

Mr. Knudsen's Idea

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 1.

DETROIT is proud, prosperous and progressing. With the cities attached to it as Brooklyn is to New York Detroit has 1,700,000 population, actual names and addresses.

And Detroit is enjoying the greatest exhibition of Titian's paintings ever seen in America. Twenty-five fine examples of the great Venetian's work—any city could be proud of that.

FRANCIS KLENBERGER of New York, who knows pictures, bought the Titians that Mr. Altman gave to New York city, and 70 per cent of all the Altman pictures, and now buys for Colonel Friedsam, proves by this collection that the best investment is a fine oil painting.

FOR instance one Titian in Detroit's exhibition is a portrait of Phillip the Second of Spain from the collection given by the late Mrs. Emery to Cincinnati.

That picture was one of four owned by the Barbarigzo family in Padua. Dr. Von Bode, head of the Berlin museum, bought the four pictures forty years ago for $7,500. But the museum wouldn't pay him. Lenbach the artist took

Tamperer Wreck Cause

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—The passanger train derailment December 11 on the Baltimore & Ohio near Guffy, Pa., was held today by Interstate Commerce Commission safety inspectors to have been caused by malicious tamperings with the tracks. One person was killed and 15 injured when train No. 19 left the rails.

The investigation developed that both nuts had been removed from four "rail joints," the commission said.

It has not been determined who tampered with the track.

Jail Scion In Ring Theft

A young man, described as the scion of a wealthy Youngstown (O.) broker, landed in Morals Court today, his marital intentions blasted and the pretty Pittsburgh nurse he would wed accusing him of stealing her diamond ring.

Claude McCracken, 28, confessed that he had stolen a $400 ring from Eva Cromley, 24, of 7149 Armitage street, and pawned it for $42. He and Miss Cromley, he testified, had been sweethearts and he had asked her to be Mrs. McCracken—he would, in fact, marry her this very moment, if only she'd say yes.

Detectives W. B. Cryster and Robert Best described McCracken's father as a "millionaire real estate broker" of the Ohio city and McCracken added that he had not "got along" with his father because the elder had wanted him to stay on the McCracken country estate with no money.

Since August, when he met Miss Cromley, who is a nurse in a Squirrel Hill home, he has been working here as a sign painter.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon reserved decision, holding McCracken meanwhile.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 1.—Advised of the arrest of a Claude G. McCracken in Pittsburgh, M. L. McCracken, wealthy building and loan broker, said today:

"I have a son, Claude, one of six, who has been in Pittsburgh for seven or eight years. He has not been home for several years and I know nothing of his affairs."

How Mine Strike Is Hurting Pittsburgh

"Your paper is hurting the city by printing Fannie Hurst's stories about misery in the camps of evicted miners," is the gist of a message received by The Sun-Telegraph from a reader.

This newspaper is responsible for turning on the light, NOT for what the light discloses.

Fannie Hurst wrote the truth, and if that were all, it would be sufficient reason for its publication.

But the real reason for The Sun-Telegraph's exposure of conditions in the mining camps was and is a CONSTRUCTIVE one.

This senseless tie-up of industry, costing the Pittsburgh community, it is estimated, over two millions of dollars a week, should be ended at once!

Pittsburgh of late has been feeling the pinch of this economic crime—it is high time the deadlock be broken and industry and business resume their normal courses.

Action in Washington, following Miss Hurst's exposures, may be the beginning of the end of this controversy.

Both sides have blundered. The Sun-Telegraph does not undertake to say which side is most to blame.

But the public is NOT to blame. And the public is bearing most of the cost of this foolish battle!

In the interest of the public, to whose service The Sun-Telegraph is dedicated, this newspaper has published and will continue to publish the whole truth so far as it may be discovered about this and other important controversies.

For that is the only road by which a solution founded in justice may be reached.

COL. THOMPSON, WAR HERO, ANSWERS 'TAPS'

Col. Joseph H. Thompson, World War hero, former football star, political leader and prominent attorney, died early today in his home, Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls. The slow ravages of gas inhaled and wounds received in action during the World War was the indirect cause of his death. Heart disease was the immediate cause.

Death came at 1:15 o'clock this morning. His wife and son were at his side.

OUTSTANDING SOLDIER

Col. Thompson was one of the relatively few soldiers of the World War upon whom the Congressional Medal of Honor was bestowed for gallantry in action. Other honors for his war service included the Croix de Guerre of France with the palm and the title of Knight Commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy.

On the gridiron he gained fame, first at Geneva College as a player and captain and later at the University of Pittsburgh as player, captain and coach, and as a coach at Carnegie Tech. He served in the Pennsylvania State Senate from the Beaver-Lawrence district in 1912-16.

Born in County Down, Ireland, September 26, 1871, a son of Jacob and Jean Riley Thompson, he was brought to this country by his parents at the age of 2 months. Some time later the family returned to Ireland and the boy attended the primary schools there. On March 4, 1899, he came again to America, worked in the mills and continued his education in Geneva College. Later he attended the University of Pittsburgh and was graduated in 1908. He had taken up the study of law and was admitted to the bar in the same year.

"Joe" Thompson rode into public notice on the vehicle of the gridiron. The first time Pittsburgh heard of him was when he repeatedly thrilled the football crowds of Geneva College and later won the plaudits of the throngs that used

FINED $100 SECOND TIME WITHIN WEEK

A. J. Berkowitz, confectioner of 102 Eckert street, made his second contribution of $100 to the city treasury this week. Charged with keeping a disorderly house, he paid $100 on Sunday morning. Yesterday the police visited his place and confiscated a half gallon of moonshine and Magistrate John J. Sweeney imposed a similar fine today.

OPERATORS BLAMED IN PARLEY FIASCO

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Charges that a conspiracy between railroad companies and coal operators was behind the suspension of activities in the bituminous coal fields were made in the Senate today by Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

Asking early action on his resolution for an investigation of the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, Senator Johnson read a letter from Secretary Davis of the Labor Department, blaming the operators for the failure of government negotiations to end the suspension.

"We in the department," the secretary wrote, "diligently sought some method by which this strike might be settled, but the failure of the great bulk of the operators or of any of the operators' association officials to attend made it impossible to make any real progress toward the solution of the program separating the mine workers and operators in these districts."

Senator Johnson also made public a letter from Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania, charging the use of the police power of Pennsylvania in behalf of private interests.

"Involved is the charge," Senator Johnson said, "that railroad companies have exercised their great power to coerce others into the repudiation and violation of contracts, in the making of which the United States government itself had participated; that these railroad companies have conspired to destroy a labor union; that in some instances they have refused cars to transport coal mined by union labor; that they have hammered down the price of coal while basing their rate structure upon a much higher price; that, in fact, the present horrible conditions had their inception in a conspiracy between railroad companies and coal operators.

"It is charged that cruelty unspeakable has been practiced, sparing neither the aged, the sick, the weak, nor the infirm, the mother of the babe."

New Lost Girl Clue Fades

By International News Service.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Hope of finding Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing college freshman, working as a governess or nursemaid in this vicinity faded today.

Smith College records disclosed that the missing heiress was not recorded as absent on the week of last November she was thought to have been seen by Miss Lucy J. Gurnee hunting a position in greater Boston.

Miss Ida M. D. Liddell, proprietor of a Back Bay employment agency, declared that neither her records or recollection disclosed any such person as described by Miss Gurnee. She denied she had sent the young woman companion of Miss Gurnee—a girl answering the description of Miss Smith and recounting events of the freshman's life that tally with that of the missing New York heiress—to the home of a wealthy resident of greater Boston to act as governess for his two children.

Coolidge Favors Strike Probe

By JOHN T. LAMBERT,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Congressional investigation of the nine-months' soft coal strike in order that the country may be informed of the great distress suffered by the miners, the financial damage sustained by the operators and that the blame may be placed upon the side which has refused to arbitrate will be backed by President Coolidge it was learned at the White House.

Tragic stories of the havoc wrought by the prolonged cessation in the Pennsylvania fields have piled in upon official Washington since the operators refused to respond to Secretary of Labor Davis' call to an arbitration conference with the miners.

Poverty, disease and death have walked in upon the miners in an increasing triumvirate of misery, according to the reports being daily received.

The financial status of the soft coal corporations has been greatly impaired by the long tieup and the harmful results have been spread among the retail merchants and other business interests by the reduced purchasing power of the miners, according to the reports.

President Coolidge, it is understood, is willing to see the Senate employ the "power of pitiless publicity" in order to bring the operators and miners to terms.

Open Mine Police Probe

By WILLIAM I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—More than 100 specific charges of brutality and other offenses on the part of coal and iron police in the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania are being investigated by Deputy Attorney General Philip S. Moyer under orders from Governor John S. Fisher.

The investigation, it was learned today, has been practically completed and Moyer is preparing a report to be submitted to the Governor for action. Most of the complaints were filed by Philip Murray of the United Mine Workers, although scores of others, general rather than specific, have come from residents of the mining districts.

A few of the complaints being investigated by Moyer are filed against members of the state police, but the trouble in a vast majority of the cases is laid at the doors of the coal and iron police, appointed under the law by the Governor, but, for all practical purposes, under orders and at the disposal of mining interests, railroad, public utility companies and other corporations which employ them.

It is no secret here that Governor Fisher and members of his cabinet would like to see legislation enacted that would abolish the coal and iron police entirely, although it was said unofficially that such a drastic move would be inadvisable unless the state police force is increased to possibly 500 members in order to keep the peace in mining and industrial villages that often are isolated and remote from other than state control.

EXPOSE OF SUFFERING SPURS ON BIG MEN

As if in direct answer to Fannie Hurst's reproach in The Sun-Telegraph last Thursday, that Pittsburgh was showing too languid an interest in the suffering of the women and children in the striking miners' camps, the foremost business and professional men of the city met in the board room of the Union Trust Company today and organized a relief committee. It will begin work forthwith.

By virtue of his service as chairman of Pittsburgh chapter of the American Red Cross, which, it was said, "has endeared him to the community," Augustus K. Oliver was elected president of the organization, for which a name will be selected later.

The following were chosen as vice presidents: Taylor Allderdice, president of the National Tube Company; W. S. Arbuthnot, president of the Arbuthnot-Stephenson Company; Charles D. Armstrong, president of the Armstrong Cork Company; Bishop Hugh C. Boyle, of Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic Church; W. L. Clause, chairman of the board of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; Maurice Falk, treasurer of the Duquesne Reduction Company; Isaac W. Frank, chairman of the United Engineering and Foundry Company; T. P. Gaylord, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and president of the Chamber of Commerce; Rabbi Samuel Goldenson, of Rodef Shalom Temple; E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company; Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann Department Stores; Mayor Charles H. Kline,

Reed Puts Hat in Ring

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Standing on his record as one of Pennsylvania's two representatives in the Upper House of Congress for the last six years, United States Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, has announced his candidacy here for renomination in the state primaries in April.

Although Senator Reed is at present without open opposition reports have been received here that one or two contenders are prepared to come forward before the closing date arrives for filing in the Republican primaries, March 5.

Both former Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Pinchot, have been mentioned from time to time as prospective opponents of Senator Reed for the nomination. But nothing of a definite character has come from either of them to indicate what their respective plans may be.

In his announcement, which was expected by his friends, the Pennsylvania senator declared simply that he had done his best to serve the people of the state and had stood

DEATH STILLS 'E-YAH' OF HUGHEY JENNINGS

By International News Service.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 1.—Hugh A. (Hughey) Jennings, one of baseball's most picturesque figures, died at 1:15 a. m. today at his home here. He was 57 years old.

Jennings suffered an attack of meningitis last Saturday and his condition rapidly became worse. The colorful and aggressive manager, who won three pennants for Detroit, waged a game struggle against the disease after physicians had given up hope for his recovery. He had been ill for three years.

The end came peacefully. He became unconscious on Sunday, but regained consciousness later and chatted with relatives.

Jennings is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Thomas P. McWilliams; two brothers, James and Frank Jennings, and one sister, Mrs. Edward Walsh. All live in Pennsylvania.

The famous "E-Yah" of Jennings now is stilled forever.

It resounded through the land back in 1907 when the Detroit Tigers started on their winning splurge and Jennings, as their fiery manager, came in for an era of great exploitation. He delivered pennant winners at Detroit in 1907, 1908 and 1909, but was not able to win a single world's series, being beaten by the famous Chicago Cubs of Chance's day the first two years

ST. THOMAS HONORS FLIER

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—This American island today celebrated a public holiday in honor of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew here from Maracay, Venezuela, over islands and waters which have figured large in the history of exploration.

Swinging along a crescent of 1,050 miles, over the coast of Venezuela and the Lesser Antilles, Lindbergh made his way with clocklike precision. He passed over dozens of islands, large and small, which became inscribed on the maps of the world with the voyages of Columbus. The flight was completed in 10 hours and 15 minutes.

Lindbergh flew high. He encountered slight headwinds and a little rain. He said the air was slightly rough, but not enough to hamper his progress.

The chain of the West Indies over which he flew appeared to be very beautiful, he said. He saw no obstacle to aviation along the trail as blazed.

A presidential salute of 21 guns announced Lindbergh's arrival, after the firing of two cannon and the ringing of church bells had heralded his approach.

One of the island belles gave Lindbergh a bouquet of flowers as he stepped from the plane. He was then welcomed by Capt. Waldo Evans, U. S. N., retired, governor of the islands.

Lindbergh will hop off about 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for San Juan, Porto Rico, 75 miles away.

MINE POLICE PROBE

present, according to available records, are 1,589 coal and iron officers, an increase of 243 since the present governor took office. When Pinchot left office on the first of last year there were, according to his own statements, 2,000 such officers in the state. Records here show that of the 2,000, 1,346 were employed by soft coal corporations. Pinchot, after a rigid investigation, cut nearly 4,000 such police from the 6,000 record total amassed during the Sproul administration.

According to a statement made public at the office of the governor, [illegible] s in Western Pennsyl- [illegible] more coal and iron [illegible] npanies expect to re- [illegible] ces and 63 do not contemplate any changes. Of the 87 companies, 57 have reported no disturbances during the strike, this statement said, 13 have reported minor troubles and 16 have admitted major disturbances. Only 17 companies admitted that they have received complaints about coal and iron police employed by them.

The state administration, it was learned, has been trying to stop one practice which is causing trouble. That is the practice of some coal companies of uniforming their private police force in a uniform that cannot be distinguished from that worn by the state police.

James H. Lockhart, vice president of the Lockhart Iron and Steel Company; the Rev. Dr. Clarence E. Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; James F. Malone, president of City Council; Bishop Alexander Mann, of Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church; W. L. Mellon, chairman of the Gulf Refining Company; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. Dr. C. W. Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church; A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company; W. C. Robinson, president of the National Metal Molding Company; H. B. Rust, president of the Koppers Company; Lawrence E. Sands, president of the First National Bank, and Emil Winter, president of the Workingman's Savings Bank and Trust Company.

The following were elected as the executive committee:

William G. Costin, chairman of the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Company, was elected secretary, and Mr. Braun treasurer.

IMPOSING ASSEMBLAGE

Seldom has so imposing a meeting of financiers been held in Pittsburgh. In addition to those named, most of whom were present, there were noted in the assembly:

R. B. Mellon, president of the Mellon National Bank; George E. Hann, a director of the American Fruit Growers' Association; former Judge Henry G. Wasson, A. C. Robinson, president of the Peoples Savings and Trust Company; J. E. McKirdy, of the Union Trust Company; John F. Casey, president of the John F. Casey Company; George E. Alter, attorney; James Hammond, president of Gimbel's Pittsburgh store; W. H. Robinson, vice president of the H. J. Heinz Company; Homer D. Williams, president of the Pittsburgh Steel Company; George S. Davison, president of the Gulf Refining Company; Charles L. McCune, a director of the Union National Bank; Henry Chalfant, president of Spang, Chalfant & Co.; Lloyd W. Smith, president of the Union National Bank; William P. Snyder, Jr., president of the Shenango Furnace Company; J. L. Lewis, president of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company; George R. Wallace, president of the Paden City Pottery Company; J. B. Shea, president of the Joseph Horne Company; H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Company; B. N. Clopper, executive secretary of the Federation of Social Agencies; William U. Follansbee, president of Follansbee Brothers Company; Walter Rosenbaum, secretary of the National Department Stores; A. Seder, president of Frank & Seder; R. B. Croup, vice president of Boggs & Buhl; Grant McCargo, president of the Pittsburgh Hotels Company; James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company; Ralph M. Dravo, vice president of the Dravo Contracting Company; J. Rogers Flannery, president of the Flannery Nut and Bolt Company, and others prominent in Pittsburgh's affairs.

Mr. Monro called the meeting to order and explained its purpose. The community was confronted, he said, with a very serious condition, and prompt action was essential to ameliorate the suffering of the destitute families. There was no purpose, he said, to go into the merits of the controversy, or to discuss the economics or ethics of it. The sole motive was to relieve the sickness and sorrow of helpless women and children, and to that end relief should be given continuously until the arrival of warm weather enabled them to help themselves. Truckloads of food and other necessities should be sent without delay to the camps where the need is greatest. He begged those who would address the meeting not to take sides in the controversy, but to bear in mind that any discussion as to where the fault lay would be foreign to the nature of the gathering. Some persons, he said, who had been invited to the meeting had already sent checks, and he hoped that everyone present would donate at least $1,000.

"FOR THE CITY"

"Do this," he appealed, "for our peace of mind, for the city that we all love, and for the God that we all worship."

OLIVER NAMED

Mr. Oliver was then invited to take the chair, and on motion of Mr. Braun was made permanent president. In every emergency, Mr. Braun said, in his speech of nomination, Pittsburgh has measured up to its responsibility, and it will not fail in the present crisis.

Organization and election of officers immediately followed.

Mr. Oliver invited Dr. Clopper to tell the meeting what he had found in the survey that the social workers' committee, which he heads, has made of conditions in the mining camps. Mr. Oliver said, in this connection, that it would be necessary to begin raising funds at once, and it would be well for the committee to avail itself of the information which Dr. Clopper has collected.

Dr. Clopper said the clergymen's committee, associated with the social workers' committee, felt strongly that it was the duty of the people of Allegheny County to handle the situation without outside assistance, and he welcomed the co-operation of the business men, which "speaks volumes for the spirit of Allegheny County."

Dr. Clopper said there were at present 1,400 families in barracks, and probably 200 additional families would be forced to take refuge in these makeshift shelters. An intensive study made by the social workers of conditions at Horning, Curry, Broughton and Bruceton had revealed, he stated, that half of the families were in need of help. In fifty families 264 children were found. The needs of these 50 families, as shown by the social workers' standard budget for food requirements, called for $596 a week. The miners' union is giving the families $183 a week, leaving $313 to be collected from other sources.

$6,400 A WEEK GOAL

Dr. Clopper estimated that at least 800 families would require about $8 each a week. He set $6,400 a week as the goal for which the relief committee should strive. There were problems of disease and feeble-mindedness that would have to be taken up later, he added.

Mr. Oliver said he had conferred with the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, chairman of the clergymen's relief committee, and that the latter had expressed willingness to co-operate. The territory that will be covered in the relief work will not take in all of District No. 5 of the United Mine Workers, but will include all of Allegheny county, part of Washington county and possibly part of Fayette county.

County Commissioner E. V. Babcock took the floor and stated he took a different position than that indicated by other speakers. He emphasized the desirability of making the most rigid investigation before granting relief. He said he himself had visited the miners' barracks at Russellton in December and had taken a meal in the home of one of the strikers. He saw no real suffering, he declared. There was congestion, but no actual hunger.

"PRISONERS FED ON LESS"

"They had a good substantial soup, with bread," he said, "and there was butter on the bread. If I had found real suffering I would have raised a fund myself as a public official, but I didn't find suffering. The prisoners in our jail are fed on a smaller weekly allowance than the miners' union grants to the strikers, and are fed well.

"When you raise a fund to help the strikers you are taking sides in the controversy. You are automatically helping the strikers and hurting the other side. Don't build up an organization that will haunt you. Don't teach these people to be too dependent on you. Don't take some preacher's word about the suffering. Don't give help until it has been established beyond the shadow of a doubt that there is dire need."

Mr. Oliver answered that it was his idea to do exactly as Mr. Babcock suggested—to distribute relief only on the requisition of reliable social workers, and not to give money but food, clothing and the like.

RELIEF PLAN APPROVED

A motion was then made and carried to the effect that the assembly approved of the plan of going ahead immediately with the relief program.

"To dissipate any idea that I am opposed to this," said Mr. Babcock, "I would like to make the motion." He was accordingly credited with having made it.

Mr. Malone suggested that it would be a good plan to add to the committee representatives of organized labor, as "otherwise there will be a tendency among the miners to suspect some ulterior motive." Mr. Oliver said he thought the suggestion a good one.

The public is asked to contribute to the fund. Checks should be made payable to A. E. Braun, treasurer, and sent to his office in the Farmers Deposit National Bank.

MAMIE KOST

Mamie Kost, 19, of 74 Ohio street, McKees Rocks, today is back in the Gayety Theater chorus. Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court, put her there. Her mother, Mrs. Mary Kost, had her arrested yesterday as a runaway and told Magistrate Brandon the girl was incorrigible—not because she had run away, but because she wore the abbreviated costume of a burlesquer. Brandon held the length of a girl's dress has nothing to do with incorrigibility and discharged Mamie, who returned to the show.

County Airports Proposal Is Approved

Allegheny county will have its own airports eventually. At the final budget session last night, the county commissioners unanimously approved a project to lay out 100-acre aviation fields in both county parks, near the golf courses.

Although the actual establishment of the fields is distant, the commissioners were unanimous that they would become a reality. Paul B. Riis, director of parks, questioned about suitability of the terrain, declared the fields could be laid out with little expense.

"When the land was purchased for the parks, Commissioner Armstrong suggested that airports be established," Commissioner E. V. Babcock said. "I favor the project, too."

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern also favored the plan. Commissioner Armstrong suggested that the commissioners make a thorough inspection of possible sites in the park.

two of them. After his death Mrs. Lenbach sold them for $220,500. Later Mrs. Emery bought one, now here, for $480,000.

Colonel Friedsam has one of the four, a portrait of the Doge Gritti, and Lord Lascelles, who married the Princess Mary, has another. The four that sold for $7,500 are worth now $1,500,000.

EDSEL FORD lent one of the best Titians, "A Man In Brown." Jules Bach, of New York, lent "Venus and Mars," and Jacob Epstein, of Baltimore, lent "Portrait of a Senator."

A good antique is a good investment, but you can no longer buy four good Titians for $7,500.

THIS writer talked with Henry Ford, saw new cars dropping off the line, and a new airplane engine on which Ford is working. The model engine of 50 horsepower comes up to his expectations and he will build one to develop 1,000 horsepower.

Ford means to build an airplane, carrying six of those 1,000 horsepower engines.

TALK about a "terrible automobile price war" is nonsense. Mr. Sloan, president of General Motors, and Mr. Ford had luncheon together the other day and agreed that in the future as in the past building a great many cars by one manufacturer is a good thing for all manufacturers. The thing is to create a national automobile appetite, then feed it with quality and value.

FORD, having solved his new car problem, turns to other things, and says the only way to cook an egg is "put it in cold water, raise it to a boil, boil it for two minutes, lift it off the stove and let it stay in the hot water six minutes longer."

LIKE other wise men Henry Ford has learned that health is a matter of diet. He was sending a copy of the life of Luigi Cornaro to Albert D. Lasker who recently gave a million dollars to the University of Chicago to be spent finding out why so many men die just after fifty years of age.

"That's a good idea of Lasker's," Ford says.

CORNARO, who lived foolishly up to forty, was given up to die by his doctors, then became interested, regulated his diet, later wrote to the Pope, "I had to live to be ninety to know that the world is beautiful," and died at 105.

CORNARO who built some of the finest palaces in Venice, and originated a plan to drain the Venetian marshes, lived for 60 years on 12 ounces of food, and 16 ounces of light wine per day. Don't mention the wine to your prohibition friend, it might hurt his feelings.

Henry Ford drinks only water, which all the doctors in Europe and some of the best in America would tell him is a great mistake.

W. S. KNUDSEN, president of Chevrolet, and R. H. Grant, boss of distribution, seemed quite contented, in the General Motors building, which cost $12,000,000, and now is easily worth $25,000,000.

Mr. Knudsen says Chevrolet turned out 22,000 of the new type cars in December, 90,000 in January, and will produce 116,000 this February.

MR. KNUDSEN, whose business is getting work done, says one trouble with our young people is they never have any opportunity to do real work, until they come out of high school, or college, as the case may be. Then it is too late for many of them to learn.

He suggests a lull in study between primary and high school, or high school and college, devoted to practical training and real work.

REED THROWS HAT IN RING

squarely for the principles of the Republican party with which he is affiliated. Particularly he endorsed the economy program of President Coolidge, and praised Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, for the support he has given the chief executive on this score.

Senator Reed also condemned the action of the upper chamber in denying a seat to Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania. He served notice that he would continue to fight to have the state enjoy its constitutional right to full representation in Senate.

Coming to Washington in 1922 under a gubernatorial appointment to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Crow, Senator Reed has forged to the front rapidly as one of the leaders on the Republican side of the aisle.

Expressing full confidence in the outcome of the Pennsylvania primaries, Senator Reed in his announcement said:

"I have done my best to serve the interests of Pennsylvania and her people. I have stood squarely for the principles of the Republican party and I have joined heartily in the program of national economy as instructed by President Coolidge, and ably supported by that distinguished Pennsylvanian, Secretary Mellon.

"In matters of legislation I have tried to use my influence and cast my vote in line with my conscience and my conception of my duty to the state and the country. I submit my record to the voters and ask them to pass their judgmen upon it as a whole.

"There has recently arisen in the Senate a question which I consider of vital importance to the future of this country and the integrity of our Constitution.

"A majority of the Senate has refused to accord Pennsylvania the equal representation in that body to which the Constitution entitles her. A seat has been denied to Senator-elect Vare, who was duly and regularly elected as one of Pennsylvania's representatives. I have opposed that unconstitutional procedure with all my strength and shall continue so to do. It is my hope and belief that the policy thus far carried out can not in the end prevail.

BELLAIRE MAN SUED BY JILTED WIDOW FOR BALM

MARTINS FERRY, O., Feb. 1.—Jilted for a younger woman, she avers, Mrs. Bertha E. Thomas, 43, widowed mother of six children, has filed suit for $51,387 against J. K. McElwain, automobile salesman, of Bellaire.

Mrs. Thomas asks $50,000 for alleged breach of promise and the return of $1,387 which she says she loaned her prospective husband.

After McElwain wooed her and borrowed the money, the widow alleges, he disregarded his promise to marry her and married another woman.

'FOX' TRIAL NEARS END

By International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Based on the progress of the trial to date, defense counsel for William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and slayer of Marian Parker, expects to close its case by tomorrow evening.

Reading of defense depositions will be concluded today, after which Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of the young defendant, will take the stand. She will be followed by Alfred Hickman, the slayer's brother. William Thomas Hickman, the father, is expected to follow Alfred to the sta…

By a showing of this sort of deterioration and disintegration, it is conjectured, the defense hopes to lay the foundation for its theory of dementia praecox. Hickman's plea is "not guilty by reason of insanity."

For the first time Hickman's relations with the other sex entered the proceedings. Information on this was meager.

Otto F. Dubach, principal of Central High School, said Hickman had associated with girls occasionally, but had not been involved in any "serious cases."

J. L. Laughlin, vice principal of the school, said Hickman had written him from Los Angeles on August 11, 1927, referring to his "trouble" here. The reference was to the forgery charges brought against him at a bank here.

Hickman condemned himself bitterly in the letter, Laughlin said, and asked help in getting new work.

On August 31, 1927, Laughlin continued, Hickman talked with him in Kansas City. Laughlin was disappointed.

"He indicated that he was pretty well fed up with advice," Laughlin said.

Laughlin described some of Hickman's adventures with jobs.

"Once he left the employment of a jewelry concern, saying the men over him drank and gambled, and he didn't want to associate with that kind of people," Laughlin said.

LOSES LEGS IN BEAUTY OPERATION

By International News Service.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1—Miss Sadie Holland, 20, is in a critical condition today as a result of having both legs amputated above the knees. Two weeks ago she submitted to an operation designed to straighten her legs, slightly bowed. Gangrene poisoning developed and the double amputation was resorted to in an effort to save her life.

The leg-straightening operation was performed by Dr. Henry J. Schireson, a plastic surgeon. Previously he had performed plastic operations on Lady Diana Manners and Frances (Peaches) Browning.

News of the tragic operation came to light when a brother of the young woman, Joseph I. Holland, called at the office of John W. Follmer, chief investigator for the State Department of Registration, and reported as follows:

"She went to Dr. Schireson to have a burn on one of her shoulders treated. Then Dr. Schireson suggested to her that it would be easy to make her legs appear straight. She agreed to the price he fixed and the operation was performed.

"From what I understand, the large bone of her leg was cut completely through, below the knee, with a circular electric saw. Then a plaster cast was put on, but in a short time it had to be removed. The pain was more than she could stand.

"Next Dr. Van Doren, recommended by our family physician, was called in. He found her suffering from gangrene. To save her life, it was decided to amputate her limbs below the knees."

TRUCKS HIT, 1 ESCAPES DEATH; 1 OVERCOME

One fireman was overcome by smoke and damage estimated at $18,000 was suffered by the Andrew Makrauer and Sons Company at 14 Smithfield street as a result of a fire last night that threatened for a time to spread to adjoining buildings.

Cyril Volzer, 32, a hoseman of No. 3 Engine Company, was overcome and removed to the Mercy Hospital, where it was said his condition was not serious. Batallion Chief Richard Jones estimated the damage.

Emergency Truck No. 1 was damaged when it struck a truck at Seventh avenue and Grant street while en route to the fire. William Aheimer, 24, of 2012 Eccles street, narrowly escaped death or serious injury when he was knocked from the seat of the truck, which was upset by the fire apparatus. Joseph Boyd was driving the fire truck. Aheimer was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

The fire originated from an undetermined cause on the first floor of the building and spread to the second and third floors. The company manufactures barber supplies and there was considerable stock in the building. Firemen made strenuous efforts to keep the blaze from spreading to the St. James Hotel. The hotel was damaged by smoke and water. Firemen were forced to wear gas masks to enter the building.

Street cars were re-routed during the four hours that firemen fought the fire.

J. B. Lewis, 35, of 218 Park avenue, Ben Avon, who told police he was a prohibition agent, was arrested at the scene of the fire when he is alleged to have refused to get from in front of the building when police were clearing the street. He was released on a forfeit.

PUBLISHER OUT FOR DELEGATE

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 1.—(AP.)—E. Arthur Sweeny, Greensburg publisher, and H. F. Bovard, well known in political circles, today announced as Republican candidates for delegate to the National Convention from the Thirty-first Congressional district, Westmoreland county.

Bovard was a delegate to the Republican Convention in Chicago in 1920, and Sweeny, editor of the Greensburg Review and the Tribune, was a delegate to the Cleveland 1924 session when Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency. Sweeny recently was elected president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Yellow pine used in an eaves trough on the roof of the White House that is in good condition after 110 years of use until removed last summer during repairs to the executive mansion, forms a shrine that has many worshipers at the convention of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association of Pennsylvania. It is a sacred stick of wood to the lumbermen, who declared today that promises new modern uses for the most common of the semi-hard woods.

The section of the White House roof was shown to the convention delegates at the William Penn Hotel by E. M. Long, of Cadiz, O. The pine was placed in the White House when the building was remodeled in 1817 following its burning by British troops in the War of 1812.

Speakers at today's session of the convention were James G. Nelson, Charles Graham, J. B. Wallace, S. W. Means and George E. Evans, of Pittsburgh; A. M. F. Stiteler, Beaver Falls; A. T. Upson, New York; Edward Wigman, Washington, Pa.; D. W. Simpson, Indiana, and Charles O'Neil, president of the Association of Bituminous Coal Operators of Central Pennsylvania. Robert Parker Miles, former editor of the New York Journal, gave two entertaining sketches.

PENN TOWNSHIP HEARING ENDS

Hearing on appeal by opponents to the annexation of a portion of Penn township to Pittsburgh, approved by Council and Mayor Charles H. Kline, December 29, was concluded yesterday in Quarter Sessions Court before Judge Frank P. Patterson, and tomorrow was fixed for argument.

The objectors sought to establish that there were 300 taxables in the 68 acres annexed, instead of 215, as alleged by the 179 signers to the petition for annexation. The petition was attacked on the ground it did not contain the required 60 per cent of taxables in the area affected. Many names on the larger list were attacked as duplications and because of removal from the district.

Wheeling Police Rules Fail to Work Here

Wheeling police ethics used on the Delmont Hotel, Federal street, early this morning, cost Arthur Prettying, 35, said to be a Wheeling patrolman, $25. Charging into the hotel, Prettying said he would not stand it being kept open so late. He displayed his badge. A local patrolman was called and Prettying was arrested. He could not explain his actions to Magistrate John J. Sweeney. He paid the fine.

JAILORS MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO CONCEAL CONTEMPT

One of the striking sidelights of the trial so far has been the obvious contempt which Hickman's guards hold for him. Here is a photograph of Clyde Peters, Frank Dewar and Fred Bogie, three of "The Fox" jailors, as they led him into the courtroom. The expressions on their faces tell their own story.

SHOTGUN DEATH UNSOLVED

Another shotgun murder was written into the list of unsolved crimes today when a coroner's jury found that Dominic Caputo, 30, of 5026 Frankstown road, killed January 8, was murdered by persons unknown.

Vincent Zara, 29, of 1052 Blackadore avenue, brother-in-law and companion of Caputo, when Caputo was shot to death as their au passed Tokio street in Frankstc road, testified that he did not kn where his brother-in-law w bound when the shooting occure Caputo had telephoned Zara have him act as interpreter.

GIRL, 7, DYING FROM BURNS

Her clothing igniting from a kitchen stove, Katherine Kalkbrenner, 7, of Snake Hollow, McKeesport, was probably fatally burned at 8 o'clock this morning. Alone in the room at the time, the girl was enveloped in flames before her mother, summoned by the child's screams, could reach her. The child was too badly burned to tell how the accident occurred. She is in McKeesport Hospital. Mrs. Louise Kalkbrenner, mother, was severely burned beating out the flames.

Lady of leisure, jockey or bookkeeper—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly

Let's be honest about body odor

IT'S not a pleasant subject to talk about—but it's important that you face the whole truth about body odor.

You'll readily admit that body odor offends. You know you couldn't be attracted to anyone who was guilty.

But do you realize we are all subject to body odor? To live, we must perspire—constantly. And with activities indoors—in warmer, stuffier rooms—body odor is more noticeable than ever in winter.

Thousands guilty —and don't know it

Even on coldest days, our millions of pores give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Whether you see this body moisture or not, the odor is always there. And no one escapes it. Without taking precautions, everyone—regardless of occupation or position in life—may offend. And worst of all, we cannot tell when we are guilty.

For, once an odor becomes familiar, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it. That's why even fastidious people often assume they are safe—when actually they do offend.

How millions prevent body odor

Yet it's easy to keep free from body odor. Just wash and bathe frequently with the most delightful toilet soap in the world—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same blandly antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores.

Millions have found that Lifebuoy also keeps complexions fresh and clear. They prefer it for every toilet purpose.

You'll like its hygienic scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

FORT MONMOUTH "FIRE TRAP"

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The citizens' committee, headed by Congressman Loring M. Black, Jr., yesterday wound up its survey of housing conditions at military reservations in the vicinity of New York City and an inspection of Army housing at Fort Monmouth, in Monmouth county, near Red Bank and Long Branch, N. J.

While the committee found much to criticise at this post in the continued use of war-time firetraps as storage places for approximately $1,000,000 worth of government property, the members were agreeably surprised to find four new, permanent brick and concrete barracks buildings for the housing of the enlisted men. The buildings were designed by the quartermaster's department and are in first-class condition and well suited for their purpose.

Fort Monmouth is another "war baby" army post and there are approximately 200 war-time structures on the reservation. Most of them, the committee found, are in a bad condition of deterioration. The committee agreed that in the matter of housing the officers at this post are in a worse plight than the enlisted men. Practically all the officers who live at the post, but that is only 25 per cent of the total number, live in flimsy, cold and gloomy wartime shacks. Owing to the heavy housing shortage at the post 75 per cent of the officers live off the post in rented quarters up and down the Jersey coast from Red Bank to Long Branch and Asbury Park.

SIGNAL CORPS POST

Fort Monmouth is the signal corps post of the Army with a large signal corps school, radio laboratories and other highly technical equipment. Practically all of this is housed in rapidly decaying, war-time structures of great fire hazard. The signal school has quarters in flimsy, war-time constructed hangars. As at other posts visited the danger of fire in these buildings from overheated stoves or electric wiring is a constant menace.

The committee was received at the post by Lieut. Col. G. E. Kumpe, post commandant and commander of the signal school, who showed the members every courtesy. After enjoying an Army dinner in the officers' mess hall, a war-time shack, the members of the committee were escorted over the reservation by Col. Kempe and Capt. H. W. Hardman, Q. M. C.

A double set of bachelor officers' quarters proved to be two long, one-story, frame buildings of war-time construction in a bad state of deterioration. The rooms were gloomy and cold, the floors and woodwork sagging and in need of repair.

The post has a soldier population of approximately 1,000 men, who come from all parts of the country to study Army signal work. Exclusive of these are 113 officers stationed there as instructors and in other capacities, including a few student officers. The acute housing shortage is indicated by the fact that of 31 non-commissioned officers entitled to quarters, 29 live outside the reservation in rented quarters on a rent allowance of $20 a month.

QUARTERS BAD

There are quarters for only five married officers. A married staff sergeant, on the regulation allowance of $20 a month, is forced to live in one basement room. A lieutenant lives in a wartime shack with a leaky roof and drafty doors and windows.

Fort Monmouth is a command directly under the chief signal officer of the Army in the War Department. Its regular organizations are the Fifty-first Signal Battalion of 230 men, the First Signal Company, First division, of 72 men; the Fifteenth Signal Service Company of 181 men, besides casuals, medical, quartermaster's, finance and ordnance detachments.

The committee found the chief points of criticism to be aimed at conditions at Fort Monmouth to be the great danger of fire in the war-time shacks used for storing highly valuable supplies and technical equipment, acute housing shortage and the improper housing conditions of the officers and non-commissioned officers.

JAIL BOOZE MAKERS WHO TRIED BRIBERY

Maurice Silverman, Serafino Niccollari and Adolph Harris, arrested April 17 by prohibition officers in connection with a raid on a distillery at 1745 Pioneer avenue, pleaded guilty yesterday in the United States District Court to a charge of conspiring to bribe members of the raiding party. Silverman and Niccollari were sentenced to serve four months each in jail, and Harris to serve one month.

ALCO TIRE CO. MOVES INTO NEW HOME

The Alco Tire Company today is observing open house at its new service station, 3560 Bigelow boulevard, the company having moved from its old place of business at 3301 Bigelow.

Inspection of the new building, musical entertainment and presentation of souvenirs are included in the opening day program arranged for visitors by the management.

The Alco Company has concentrated on Goodyear automobile and truck tires during the two and a half years it has been in business here. Service has been given all makes of tires.

Growth of the company's business has been steady until it has been practically forced into the new and larger quarters, according to C. E. Hamilton, head of the company.

Much of the growth has been in automobile tire replacement sales and in service, he said, and the cramped old quarters prevented, to a degree, giving the best of service at all times. The company also operates an automobile tire and truck tire service station at 15 Second avenue and truck tire headquarters at 6208 Broad street.

GOLF COURSES PROVIDED IN BUDGET

Two 18-hole public golf courses—one in each of the county parks—were assured today by action of the Allegheny county commissioners who last night, in adopting the 1928 budget, included $200,000 for the work. An additional $37,184.50 for maintenance and other expenses was included in the park estimate. Income from other public courses indicates players' fees will pay for the links quickly, once they are thrown open.

With the municipal course in Schenley Park, three public courses will be available. Another municipal course, long debated, apparently has been dropped by City Council.

The tax rate for 1928 was set by the commissioners yesterday, the total budget being about $16,500,000. The millage within the city will remain the same as last year, 7⅝, while millage outside the city was set at 8⅝ mills, an increase of ½ mill over 1927.

Instead of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles remaining under the jurisdiction of Public Works Director Norman F. Brown, it was directed that the bureau be under the direct control of the commissioners. Distribution of automobiles also will be changed. Instead of assigning automobiles to heads of lesser county departments for their individual use, the machines, kept in a central location, will be assigned to individuals upon requisition. The commissioners held over requests for new automobiles and trucks totaling $190,000.

"If we wish to economize, we must stop the wholesale purchasing of automobiles," Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong said.

seek the cause in cachexia (run-down condition)

So many and so varied are the signs of cachexia that millions of people, when run down and out of sorts, rely on yeast to dispel their ailments and restore their health and energy. For the corrective powers of this simple food are well nigh marvelous.

The best form of yeast is Yeast Foam Tablets. Little pellets of pure yeast; as palatable and easy to eat as candy; they keep; they do not ferment nor cause gas. Only 5c for the handy packet or 50c for the large 10-day bottle.

Eat Yeast Foam Tablets for cachexia (run-down condition). Loss of appetite. Indigestion. Constipation. Boils—Pimples.

COL. "JOE" THOMPSON, WORLD WAR HERO, DIES

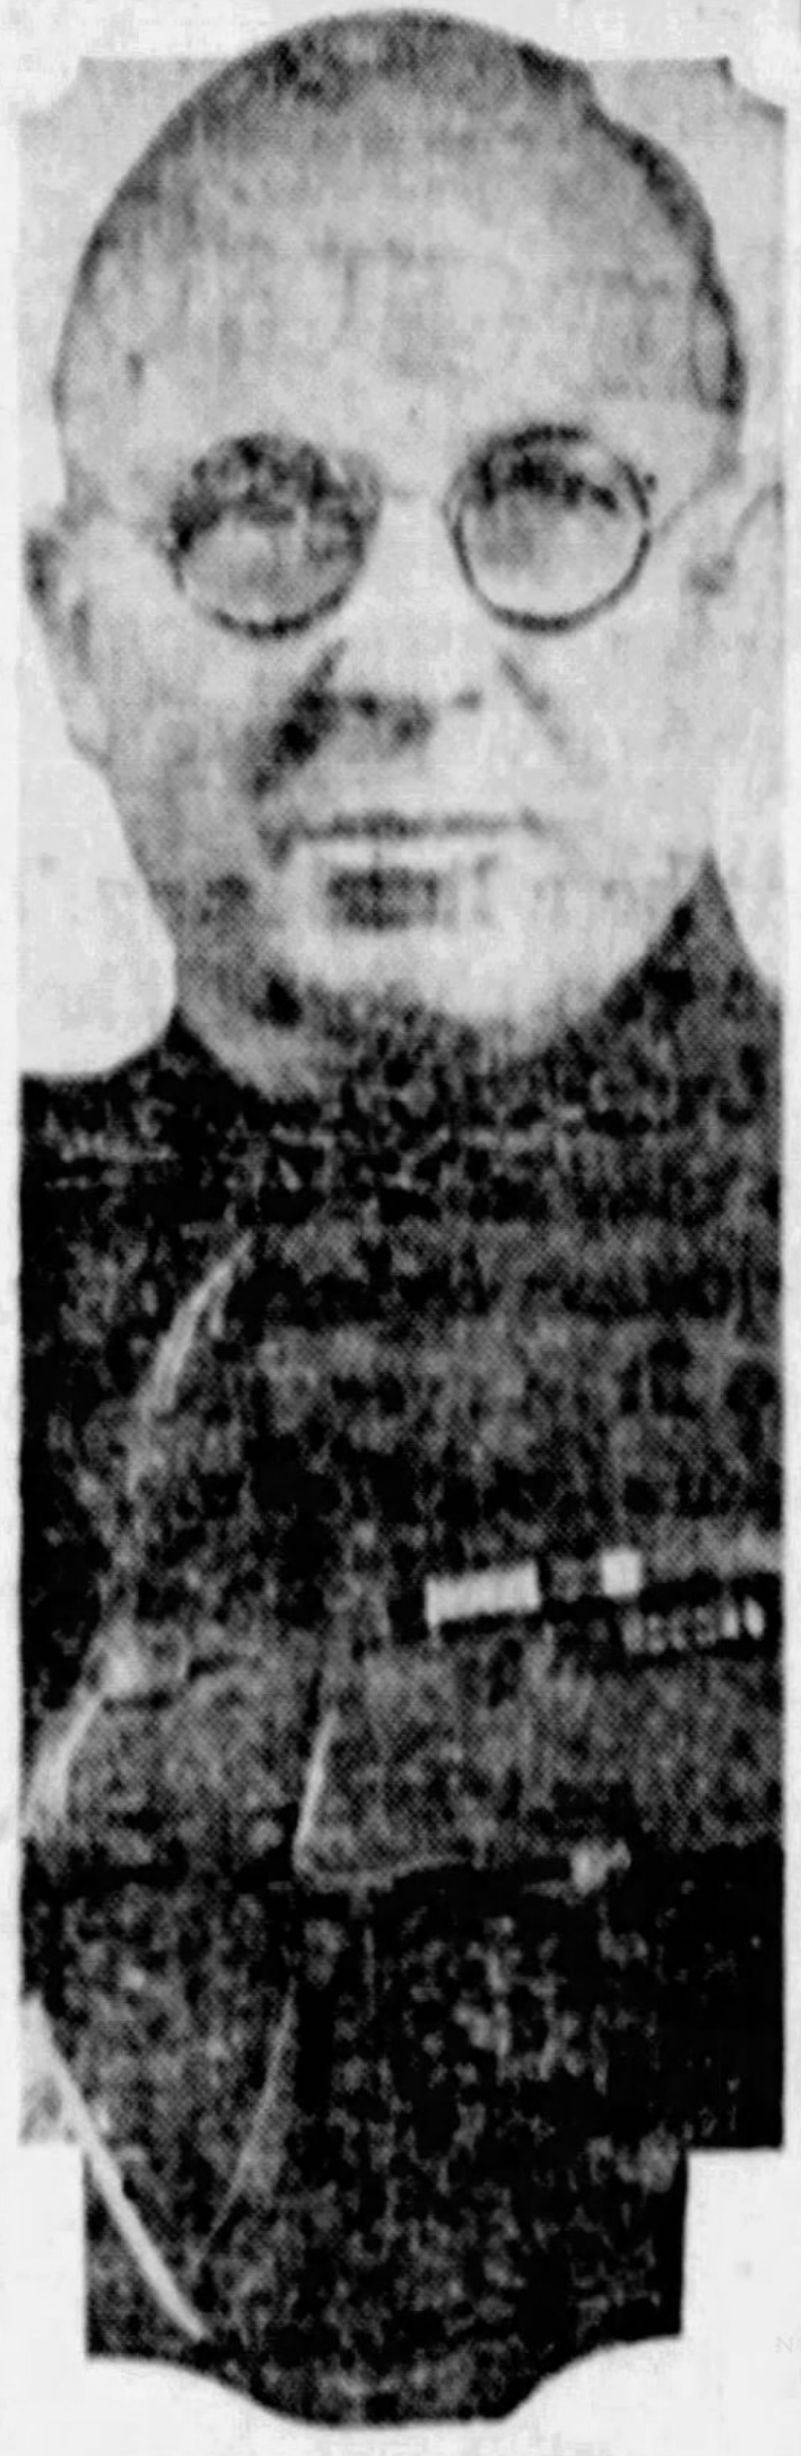
COACHED TEAMS

He achieved national fame when Geneva defeated the crack Washington and Jefferson team and on the Pitt team Thompson continued his great stride. Following his graduation he coached the Pitt team for two seasons and was succeeded by "Pop" Warner. Thompson also continued in an advisory capacity in coaching later Geneva teams and continued a great interest in that school as well as the University of Pittsburgh.

He began his military career when he enlisted as a private in Company H, Fourteenth Infantry, N. G. P., February 16, 1905, and won a captaincy in Company B, Tenth Regiment, in 1909. In 1912 he was commissioned a major in the Tenth and served on the Mexican border in 1916.

"Joe" Is Dead



COL. JOSEPH H. THOMPSON

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Following the entrance of the United States into the World War, Col. Thompson was mustered into the Federal service August 5, 1917. He was wounded in action and gassed. He remained until August 29, 1918, when he was placed on detached service at a divisional school. October 12, 1918, he was promoted to lieutenant colonel of the One Hundred and Ninth Infantry, and later was assigned to the One Hundred and Tenth, serving with his old comrades of Pittsburgh and the Beaver valley. In France he was complimented for his work by Maj. Gen Robert L. Bullard. He was promoted to the rank of colonel March 15, 1919, and May 11, 1919, returned to the United States. He returned the following month to France with 50 athletes, who competed in the Inter-Allied games at the Pershing Stadium, Paris.

He was honorably discharged from the Army December 19, 1919.

WAS LEGION COMMANDER

He was one of the organizers of the American Legion in Paris. He was commander of the Legion in Pennsylvania in 1921 and 1922 and delegate to all the national meetings of the organization, a member of the national finance committee, a member of its foreign relations committee and an active worker in the Fidac.

He was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Beaver Falls, in which he was vestryman. He was affiliated with various Masonic bodies and was a member of Beaver Valley Commandery, Knights Templar. He was a member of the University Club and the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, Pittsburgh. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Violet Thompson, and a son, Joseph H., Jr., a student in the Schenley High School, Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at the Thompson home, Patterson Heights, on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SCOTTDALE DEFEATS SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

MADEMOISELLE LA RUE of Paris will tell you that abroad as well as in this country, Pepsodent is turned to for white, sparkling teeth and gleaming smiles—for gums of healthy coral color

Smiles of Dazzling Wonder

Your teeth are as gleaming white as any you envy
Just remove the dingy film that clouds them

FREE 10-Day Test Proves It

HERE is a simple test that proves most of us have sparkling white teeth without ever knowing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it regularly every day, and your teeth take on new brilliance and whiteness.

Film is charged, too, with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Ordinary dentifrices fail to combat it successfully.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it.

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full-size tube at any druggist's today. See what beauty lies beneath the dingy film on your teeth.

NOW a new Swiss food-drink . . . that gives you INSTANT pep and energy when you're low

It's not only brains, but the pep and energy to carry things through, that win success today. That's why busy, successful people everywhere now drink Hot Ovaltine daily.

For this new Swiss food-drink picks you up in a natural way, whenever you feel below "par."

Every glass is a meal in itself. In easily digested form. Also helps to digest other foods you eat. Thus it supplies your system with energy-producing nourishment—almost instantly. And in this way it ends "let-down" periods.

Millions of people use Ovaltine regularly. At soda fountains. In their offices. At home. Over 20,000 doctors recommend it.

Drink a glass of Hot Ovaltine when you feel tired. Served at all of our fountains. Or you can easily make it at home. We have Ovaltine in 4 different sizes for home use.

Take a can home, 4 sizes for home use.

Soft—Fluttering—Feminine

$35.00

CHIFFON is the fabric which so gracefully produces the new, soft, feminine silhouette which is to rule the afternoon mode for spring, and which is so well presented in this special group of women's dresses.

These dresses, with their full, godet-inset and draped skirts, their fluttering scarfs and cape effects, and their wide girdles softly banding the hipline, come in the accepted spring shades—lake blue, Lanvin blue, rex rose, peony red and rose-beige, and in printed patterns. Also, they may be had in black. Besides five models of chiffon, there is one of georgette crepe.

THE NEW SILKS

Have Their Premiere Tomorrow

THEY are many . . . they are varied . . . they are above all, charming! And Horne's entire Silk Department will be given over for a week to a comprehensive showing of all that is new in the mode. Let us show you the weaves, the colors, the prints that Fashion has designed for your Spring frocks, and let us show you how to make them up smartly and becomingly.

The whole department radiates newness! Special displays in the windows and in the department . . . special features . . . special values . . . and a wealth of charming silks await you.

Prints

Printed silks refresh the mode annually, but always in some subtly different way. This year the most noticeable thing about them is probably their variety. There are small, medium and large patterns, on silks that are sheer, smooth, and rough! The colorings are subdued, for the most part and beautifully blended, whether the ground be dark or light. Of particular note are the American Indian Series, the Talk O' Town Prints, and the amusing Americanas!

New Colors

Shadowed Riviera tones of rose and beige and green and blue . . . yellow . . . mauve . . . ivory . . . oyster . . . white. Colors speak a subtle language this spring . . . and it's important to know about them.

New Weaves

Weaves that are not really new at all—but they've new fashion significance this spring. Canton faille . . . rough textures . . . satin crepe of new texture . . . pebble crepe, a crepe de chine with a new finish . . . There's a fashion story connected with each of these.

Model Frocks

Several attractive dresses have been made up from the new silks, and these will be worn by girls in the department to assist you in visualizing the materials.

TOUR IN STOLEN AUTOS SENDS 2 TO PRISON

Three months of auto touring in stolen cars resulted in prison sentences for Homer O'Neal, 27, of Conneautville, said to have deserted his wife and two children there, and Mrs. Gladys Barron, 22, of Adamsville, separated from her husband. They were sentenced by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

O'Neal was given four years in the Atlanta, Ga., Federal Penitentiary, and Mrs. Barron two years in a prison to be determined later. Both pleaded guilty to charges of transporting stolen automobiles in interstate commerce.

The couple started the tour, taking them to the Pacific coast, last June. They were arrested in September. O'Neal is said to have been under parole from the Western Penitentiary on a sentence for receiving stolen goods, and will have to complete that term for breaking the parole.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Get Rid of Nervousness

Before It Gets Rid of You

If you are weak, run-down or nervous, one box of Lifetone Tablets will show you the way to glorious, vigorous health.

The mighty energizing power of Lifetone Tablets shows so quickly that often one package is all that is needed to turn rundown backward men and women who lack confidence and ambition into strong, vigorous outstanding personalities.

It isn't any one ingredient that does this, for without the other health builders embodied in this quick-acting prescription a much longer time would be necessary to greatly increase the physical and mental power of weak, nervous, tired-out people.

Start to get rid of nervousness today; take two Lifetone Tablets after each meal and two at bedtime for two weeks.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel much more ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

May Drug Co. and druggists everywhere will gladly supply you. Mail orders filled—72 tablets $1.00.

Satisfying Results!

—The Musser Studio

Middletown, Pa. — "I think Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets deserve the highest praise for the work they do so thoroughly and gently in regulating and cleansing stomach, liver and digestive organs. When in my teens I was employed where it was difficult for me to answer nature's call, the result was I was troubled with constipation and would at times go for days without relief. As time went on I grew worse and would have severe bilious headaches, my stomach would sour and my mouth and throat became ulcerated. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and they have wrought a great change in me. I now have no trouble with my stomach, liver and bowels, they work in a perfectly natural way. I am glad to tell this for the sake of others."—Mrs. Cora Germain, 12 State St. (Picture above.) Dealers. 60 Pellets 30c.

TO TEST ANNOYER OF PITT CO-ED

A mother's plea for the custody of her "love-crazed" son was denied in Criminal Court yesterday, and the son, Elias Farris, 23, of 4 Mercer street, was ordered taken to the city home at Mayview for psychiartric treatment, by Judge James R. Macfarlane.

Farris, a University of Pittsburgh student, was originally taken into custody on the complaint of Bertha Schmidt, of Hillsdale avenue, Dormont, also a Pitt student, who said his persistent attentions were distressing.

DECLARED INSANE

Farris was examined by a board of alienists, pronounced insane, and sentenced to the Fairview home for the criminally insane. The plea was made for him that he had been mentally deranged by Miss Schmidt's failure to requite his devotion.

His mother, Mrs. Lizzie Farris, petitioned the court to release him, so that she might take him back to their native land, Syria, there to forget his hopeless attachment.

ISLAM GROTTO TO HOLD MONARCH'S BALL FEB. 13

The annual monarch's ball and reception to the members of Islam Grotto No. 35, M. O. V. P. E. R., will be held Monday evening, February 13, in the William Penn Hotel. Monarch Harry Little has selected J. Clifford Franz as general chairman in charge of all arrangements. Dancing, bridge and "500" will provide the evening's entertainment.

JUST A COUGH BUT HE DIED

A man died in Massachusetts the other day from tuberculosis. But the history of the case showed that it all started with a cough that was neglected, went down and hung on. This Massachusetts man is only one of thousands who die in the same way—all unnecessary. Any doctor will tell you that tuberculosis, taken in time is curable in almost every case. He will also tell you that if not taken in time, you are doomed. Don't neglect that deep cough. Begin now with Murrmann's Compound, the approved and effective formula for lung coughs, asthma, bronchitis and all diseases of the respiratory organs. Murrmann's is not a common patent medicine. It contains no alcohol or any narcotic drugs. It is a healer of inflamed tissue and a tissue builder of known efficiency. At reliable druggists.

WHAT IS THIS MYSTERIOUS SUBSTANCE IN LIVER THAT RESTORES THE WEAK, THIN-BLOODED PEOPLE TO ROBUST HEALTH?

The price of liver has gone up in New York, Baltimore, Detroit and in other cities where physicians keep abreast of times.

There's a reason.

For if you don't know—You ought to know—that science has discovered in beef and calves liver a "Mysterious Substance" that by actual test has succeeded in restoring to good health thousands of weak, thin-blooded, wornout people.

So leading physicians the country over are advising their run-down, thin-blooded patients to eat more liver for better health, more energy and greater vitality.

So wonderfully efficient is this "Mysterious Substance" that in many hospitals that dread disease, Pernicious Anemia, has been successfully treated and overcome.

The "Mysterious Substance" in liver is something like the vitamines extracted from Cod Liver Oil, but most scientific investigators claim for it even greater potency and rejuvenating power.

But getting into the system this potent "Mysterious Substance" by eating liver is recognized as a slow process—too slow for the average eager American who wants to get well speedily.

So one of the best known laboratories in America, after prolonged experiments, succeeded in extracting from fresh beef liver the vital elements and put this extract in concentrated form, very palatable and even pleasant to the taste.

And rundown, thin-blooded, sickly men, women and children have taken this concentrated elixir which has been named Hemo-Liver and have regained their health and strength.

Hundreds of physicians are prescribing it. You can go to any druggist who is at at all progressive today and get a big 12-ounce bottle of Hemo-Liver that will last you eight days.

A tablespoonful is a dose and you'll have to eat a lot of liver to get as much of this red blood making "Mysterious Substance," as you'll get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver. It is not a patent medicine.

How a man may look when his blood is thin and weak—and the change that takes place when the blood is rich and red.

Indeed its powerful efficacy is so apparent that one bottle, or eight days' treatment, often brings such a big improvement in health that both patient and Doctor are astonished.

Its success as a maker of rich blood and to bring strength, vigor and vitality to those who are anemic and run down is so certain that pharmacists sell it with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help you—wonderfully—your money will be refunded.

What is this "Mysterious Substance"—? No one seems to know—but as one great New York newspaper stated editorially—

"The secret of how this 'Mysterious Substance' rejuvenates the corpuscle factory still eludes the searchers, but the victim of the disease will not worry about that. What matters to him is that now he can be cured." Get Hemo-Liver at the May Drug Co. stores.

STARS PLEDGE AID IN MINE BENEFIT

Robert Mantell, Grace George, Rae Samuels, and a number of other stage stars appearing in local theaters this week have volunteered their help in making a success of Howard Thurston's benefit show for suffering women and children in the coal strike districts. The show will be held in the Pitt Theater on Friday afternoon.

In addition to the great company of mysterious Hindus, bright eyed dancing assistants and all the supernatural power at the command of the famous magician, Thurston's beautiful young daughter, Jane, who made her social debut in Cleveland last week, will make her initial appearance on the stage at the benefit performance. Miss Thurston has visited a number of mining communities adjacent to Pittsburgh with her father during the past two weeks, distributing food and clothing and she has become intensely interested in the plight of the sufferers.

Thurston himself has appealed to his thousands of admirers, asking them to buy tickets for Friday afternoon even though they have already seen the show.

ELKS AID MINERS

Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which has staged many gay social affairs, presented the greatest entertainment in its history at the temple, at Seventh street and Duquesne way, last night, for the benefit of the destitute women and children in the mining camps of the local district.

The total receipts were $590.15, all of which goes to the miners' relief fund.

The entertainment began with dancing early in the evening to music furnished by Bill Hollins' Blue Ridge Orchestra, the members of which contributed their services without charge, as did all the other entertainers. At 10:30 o'clock a vaudeville performance started and continued during the greater part of the night. There were 20 acts.

J. Claire McLaughlin, president and general manager of the Liberty Vaudeville Contracting Company, was master of ceremonies and the program included ensemble numbers in which all the performers participated, an acrobatic novelty by Schaffer and Roberts, a specialty by Juggling Cooper, song and dance numbers by the Black Bottom Revue, Beaux Arts Quartet, Eight Liberty Girls, Hearts, Flower and Hearts, the Hey-Hey Trio, Miss Virginia Watson, Miss Eleanor Schad, Miss Helene Miller, Miss Virginia Whalen, Dick Ware, the Morette Sisters, Miss Esther Rohm, Miss Nellie Dixon, Miss Patricia Cooper, Mansfield and Saunders, the Three Vagabonds, the Miss Fairgraves Revue, Miss Mildred Hoffman, Miss Sabina Flannery, Miss Dorothy Arbugast, Miss Betty Nylander, Miss Anna Caruso and the cast from the Chic-Chic Revue at the Gayety Theater. Through the courtesy of Charles Bragg, manager of the Gayety, 24 girls from that theater presented a gypsy number, led by Miss Faith Hope, and another number led by Miss Mabel Lee.

The Elks' committee was composed of John A. Freyvogel, exalted ruler; Joseph W. Brandner, chairman of the house committee; William A. Hillgrove, Andrew J. Liebler, secretary; Monte Getz, Peter Dagnal, Fred Moyer, George J. Anderson, F. N. A. Riefer, L. Clair McLaughlin, Charles Bragg, George Walsh, Heber McDowell, A. H. Maass, Robert Hendel, Theodore Guenther and Henry Loud, club manager.

It was announced that Burgess John Cavanaugh of Homestead had arranged for a midnight show for the benefit of the miners to be given at the Stahl Theater in that borough Friday night. Cavanaugh has already collected $500 for the miners.

A boxing show, with 10 amateur bouts, will be given for the miners at the Oakland Armory on February 13.

The Pittsburgh Music Society, the union musicians' organization, plans a concert for the miners' benefit at a date not yet determined. Five hundred musicians will participate.

PORTRAY BARRACK LIFE

The barrack life of the striking miners will be portrayed on the stage by residents of Hyde Park, Westmoreland county, in an effort to call attention to the suffering in the mine camps. The scene will be introduced as part of a musical show, "The Small Town Revue," which will be given sometime this month. The proceeds will be given to the miners' relief fund.

GROTTO HEARS HOUSE CLERK

William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives, was the speaker last night at the annual banquet of Islam Grotto, held in McCreery's dining room. He spoke on "Forty-six Years Under the Dome of the Capitol." Edmund F. Erk, secretary of the Committee on Foreign Affairs and a charter member of the order, was guest of honor. Other speakers were Councilman John S. Herron, George B. Confer, past monarch; Councilman Harry A. Little, recently elected monarch, and Dr. D. S. Ashcom, retiring head. Councilman Herron was toastmaster.

You never ate anything quite so good

You'll agree to that with your very first taste of these delicate flakes with the nut-like flavor.

And Heinz Rice Flakes are "so good" for another reason, too!

Good because they're good for you!

The patented Heinz process by which the flakes are made, so utilizes the natural roughage of the rice itself as to impart a quality that makes the flakes a natural laxative.

Thus Heinz Rice Flakes, being naturally "laxatized", assist Nature in keeping you healthy—full of the Joy of Living.

Spear's Protective Credit Service

An illustrated booklet, descriptive of the "Bond of Security" and Spear's Protective Credit Service, will be mailed FREE upon request to any address.

The Buying of Furniture and Other Home Furnishings on the Deferred Payment Plan Made Safe

ISSUED TO SPEAR & Co.

90% of ALL furniture sold today is sold on the deferred payment plan. As one of the largest Furniture Institutions, Spear's has undertaken much research and study toward the development of a Better Credit Service. Our aim has always been to make the Deferred Payment Plan simple, safe, economical and agreeable to the needs of any income. Not every store can do this, of course. It takes a powerful financial background, years of experience and a constantly increasing business. The "Bond of Security" is the outgrowth of Spear's untiring efforts to render the greatest possible service to our customers.

No Extra Charge for This Protection

With the guarantee that Spear's furniture does not cost as much as other furniture of the same quality, you can see the additional value of this Bond of Security.

"How can Spear's provide this protection without charge?" The answer is, briefly, "Volume of Business!" Our annual $14,000,000 volume is greater than that of any four Pittsburgh Furniture Stores or Department stores combined. Almost unlimited facilities permit us to offer services beyond the reach of ordinary stores.

The Bond Guarantees Triple Protection!

When you make a purchase on our Deferred Payment Plan, you are given a Bond of Security, which is a written guarantee registered in your name. The Bond guarantees three kinds of protection:

First—It guarantees that the merchandise you have bought here, no matter what the price, will give adequate service.

Second—It guarantees complete protection in case of illness or unemployment.

Third—It guarantees a Paid-in-Full receipt in the event of the wage earner's death before payments have been completed. The merchandise remains in the family's possession.

Spear's is the First and Only Store in Pittsburgh to Give This Protective Service to Home-Makers.

What Others Say

From a School Teacher . . .
"I wouldn't think of buying without this protection . . . I think Spear's is to be praised for this wonderful service."

From a Wife . . .
"I don't know what I should have done when J— died if it hadn't been for your Bond of Security. We'd have lost everything, that's all. But now we have the cozy, pretty home J— always wanted us to have." I can't praise Spear's too much. . ."

From a Mother . . .
"I had no idea that stores could or would be so human . . . Spear's certainly have our undying gratitude . . . You carried us along when my oldest daughter was sick, deferred the payments for us, just as you said you would. My patronage goes to Spear's as long as I live."

From a Bride . . .
"I've wanted to tell you this before, but this is my first opportunity. If it hadn't been for your Bond of Security, I think we'd still be living in a furnished apartment . . . Dr. B.'s practice was just in the growing stage and he was a bit afraid to take the chance of buying home furnishings on the deferred payment plan. . . but your wonderful Bond of Security decided us, and oh, how happy I am that we now have our own home things, free from worry. Thanks, thanks so much!"

From a Father . . .
"You surely deserve a lot of credit for the protection you can guarantee a man who buys home furnishings on your liberal credit plan. I've refurnished my home completely now—have the satisfaction of knowing that my children think it's the finest home they've ever seen. That's what I call worthwhile!"

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Social Lull Indicates Entering of Penance Period Presaging Approach of Lenten Season

ON DANCE COMMITTEE

Miss Miriam Hess is a member of the reception committee for the dance to be given Friday night in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Fifth and Bellefield avenues, by the Divine Providence alumnae.

MISS MIRIAM HESS

ALTHOUGH Lent, that season of fasting from parties as well as the other good things of life, is still quite far away, society folk seem to feel that period of penance is nearer, for very little in the way of entertainment is being planned for this month. After the few but important February weddings—important socially speaking, of course—are over, there are to be no large dances, no luncheons, no bridges, so it seems. With Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the Lenten season as you know, not due until February 22, one might readily think such forehandedness in the way of abstinence from social life rather amazing in this so-called disrespectful age.

When one does meet a society woman she now talks of the rival attractions of the South and the West instead of debutante parties and costume balls.

One conservative woman, Mrs. Walter Cockrill Carroll, is not planning to flee from the city immediately upon the close of the local season. Mrs. Carroll, by the way, has just returned from Springfield, Mass. There she was the guest of her married daughter, Mrs. Edward Bradford, Jr. Before her marriage Mrs. Bradford was Katherine Carroll and was known, of course, in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Carroll, as you know, has two other daughters, Florence, who was one of the most charming debutantes of the season just over, and Mary Edith, who came out a few seasons ago in Chicago. The Carrolls, you will remember, just returned to Pittsburgh from Chicago after an absence of five years.

A great many of the social world are planning to go abroad either this month or in the spring. Mrs. Matthew Taylor is one who has postponed her visit to the Continent until spring. At present she is at Ormond Beach, Fla., where there is an ever-growing colony of the socially prominent.

And I hear that Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson and her daughter, Mary Louise, another much-entertained debutante, are going abroad. Margaret McClintic, who is seen at every notable society event, is going to accompany them.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown, who has remained here throughout the season, a departure from her custom of recent years, has gone to New York. She will probably go south or abroad, or both, later. She has many social connections in the capitals of Europe, where she has an enviable reputation as a hostess.

The Rev. Dr. Alleyne C. Howell left Monday night for New York to attend a wedding, quite an appropriate thing for one to do who has been the officiant at many a notable marriage. The wedding in question is that of Eleanor Katheryn Carroll, daughter of the Adrian McKibbons, and Hiram Wilson Taylor, Jr. The ceremony took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Chapel of the Intercession, New York.

Mrs. James Crossan Chaplin III has as her house guest her mother, Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr., of Boston. Mrs. Brown expects to remain several weeks.

More and more Pittsburgh folk are going to New York, some on shopping trips, some on their way for other climes. Among those recently in Gotham were Mrs. Samuel Grant Cooper, Mrs. Robert H. McCague, Mrs. Alexander C. Blair, Mrs. William M. Nicola, Richard K. Mellon and G. Torrence Miller.

Thursday, February 9, is the date chosen by Miss Rose Richtmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Richtmann, of McPherson boulevard, for her marriage to Nathan Shapiro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shapiro, of Highview street.

The marriage of Miss Marie Lynore Dolores McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. McNulty, of Philadelphia, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Norton Downs Fern, of Philadelphia, will be solemnized Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Mathias' Church, Bala, Pa. A breakfast at the Green House Farms Hotel will follow. After a trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Fern will be at home in the Bala Apartments, Bala.

The locomotives of the Pennsylvania Railroad take water on the fly from long tanks between the tracks

The Iron Horse of The Metropolitan scoops a drink at nearly a mile a minute

IN the speeding cab, a hand tightens on a lever. The long tank between the tracks seems to draw near more swiftly as the train rushes toward it. The hand jerks sharply.

Below, beneath the tender, the air-driven scoop darts down—ploughs a swishing furrow along the shallow trough.

A rush of water funneled upward . . . a final speed-driven spray as the tender's tank overflows and the scoop springs back into place. The Iron Horse has had his drink.

The Metropolitan roars on its way unchecked.

Such track tanks—a Pennsylvania innovation—save an amazing lot of time in a day. 6700 trains make up the Pennsylvania's vast daily fleet. Suppose each train is saved 10 minutes. Then 1117 hours are saved—over a month and a half every day!

This saving is not just a trick of arithmetic. It is real. It is one of the important details that has enabled this country to do more business in less time and with less capital tied up than was ever dreamed of in the world before.

Rough, red hands! So unnecessary!

DISHES have to be washed, of course. But dish-water that is hard is cruel to hands. The hardness mixes with the soap, and forms a ring of grease and dirt. Then the grease and dirt go on your hands. Rough, red hands! So unnecessary!

Soft water won't treat your hands that way. You can soften water by adding Melo. Scum goes. The suds come. How clean they make the dishes! How kind the soft water is to your hands! Get a can of Melo today at your grocer's.

AGENTS SEIZE THREE STILLS IN RAIDS

Prohibition agents aided by constables conducted raids in three widely scattered districts last night, confiscating three large stills, a large quantity of mash and whisky and arrested two persons.

Elias Jinkich, 33, was arrested in a raid at 1104 Sawmill way, where a 15-gallon still, a condenser and a quantity of mash and moonshine were reported confiscated. In a raid at 135 Point View road, Brentwood, Rocco Russo, 37, was arrested after a 100-gallon still, mash and moonshine, the raiders say, had been confiscated. A search is being made for three men said to be the operators of a distillery on the Miller farm near Point Perry.

PROGRAM.

Chaconne	Bach-Busoni
Sonata, Opus III	Beethoven
Maestoso-Allegro con brio ed appassionato
Arietta-Adagio molto semplice e cantabile
Berceuse	Chopin
Valse	Chopin
Scherzo	Chopin
Sonata, Opus 22 (In one movement)	Medtner
Papillon	Rosenthal
"Artist's Life"	Strauss-Godowsky

Oscar Helfenbein, a serious young musician of Pittsburgh, who is about to continue his studies abroad, gave a very ambitious piano recital in Carnegie Lecture Hall last night. The balance of the program leaned a little toward the heavier moods and might have been doubly enjoyable with a few more compositions in a lighter vein.

The Bach-Busoni Chaconne was sufficient as corner stone and test of the young man's abilities. In this number alone the pianist disclosed his fine points as well as the deficiencies life abroad will probably correct. Helfenbein has a fine singing piano tone of bell-like quality and commands a wide range of nuance. He manages dramatic effects by this means alone, however, instead of relying on and emphasizing the intrinsic poetic content of his music. I miss a decided clearness of outline in his themes, not the result of faulty pedaling, but I imagine caused by a youthful inability to sustain interest in a phrase to its utmost conclusion.

Helfenbein's nimble fingers will acquire more humor, too, as years go on; then I should like to hear the Strauss waltz again. As encores came a Chopin prelude and a Grieg nocturne.

Beautiful Woman Is Embodiment of Good Health

IT IS unfair to the little girls of today to say that unless they have perfect features, hair of a certain color, and skin of a given tint, they cannot be regarded as beautiful. Beauty should be a possession capable of being acquired by any normal girl.

It seems to me it is enough to meet the popular idea of beauty. We need not conform to extreme notions of what constitutes feminine beauty. In my opinion, it is possible for any normal girl to possess herself of those qualities which, when she grows up, will cause her to be included in the list of good-looking women.

If the young women regarded as beauties in their respective communities are photographed, nine times out of ten the pictures will be a disappointment. The photograph fails to reproduce the coloring of the skin, the luster of the hair, and other individual qualities which contribute so much to the verdict that the given young woman is beautiful. The cool, critical photograph reveals irregularities of feature, perhaps, and emphasizes artistic imperfections which are not thought of in life.

It happens often that a girl with very imperfect skin, a person truly unattractive, may produce a wonderful picture. The photograph is one which attracts attention at once as the picture of a beautiful woman.

What does this contradiction mean? It means that what we call beauty is not limited to classical lines, to the features which a sculptor would reproduce. On the contrary, beauty as popularly accepted, lies in the vivacity, the skin you love to touch, the attractive peaches-and-cream complexion, the redness of the lips, the sparkle of the eye, the well-kept and burnished hair, the upright figure, the springy step, the tilt of the head and the posture of the body. These are the things that determine the verdict in the selection of beautiful women.

In the last analysis beauty depends upon health. Right living, right eating, care of the teeth, cleanliness of the body, the energy which comes from sleep and fresh air and sunlight—these you see are within reach of every girl. If the child is taken care of as regards teeth, tonsils, adenoids, and is taught the importance of good digestion, simple food and correct living, beauty is within her reach.

To my mind, then, no woman can be beautiful unless she has health. If she is the embodiment of good health she is beautiful.

Answers to Health Queries

P. J. Q.—Is it harmful to drink hot water with a little baking soda in it every morning just after arising? I heard it would help constipation.

A.—Why not correct your trouble by proper diet and exercise? For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. S. Q.—I have been told that the application of ammonia and peroxide will bleach hair on the face. Should I use this? What do you advise for superfluous hair?

A.—Fresh peroxide of hydrogen, frequently applied, will bleach the hair, thus making it less conspicuous and, it is contended by some, peroxide will retard the hair growth. For information regarding the electric needle send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

D. D. S. Q.—What do you advise for oily hair and dandruff.

A.—Brush the hair daily and shampoo once a week. A good tonic is also helpful. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

M. K. Q.—What can be done to straighten toes which have become mis-shapen because of improperly fitted shoes?

A.—Proper shoes may prove corrective to some extent. See an orthopedist for further advice.

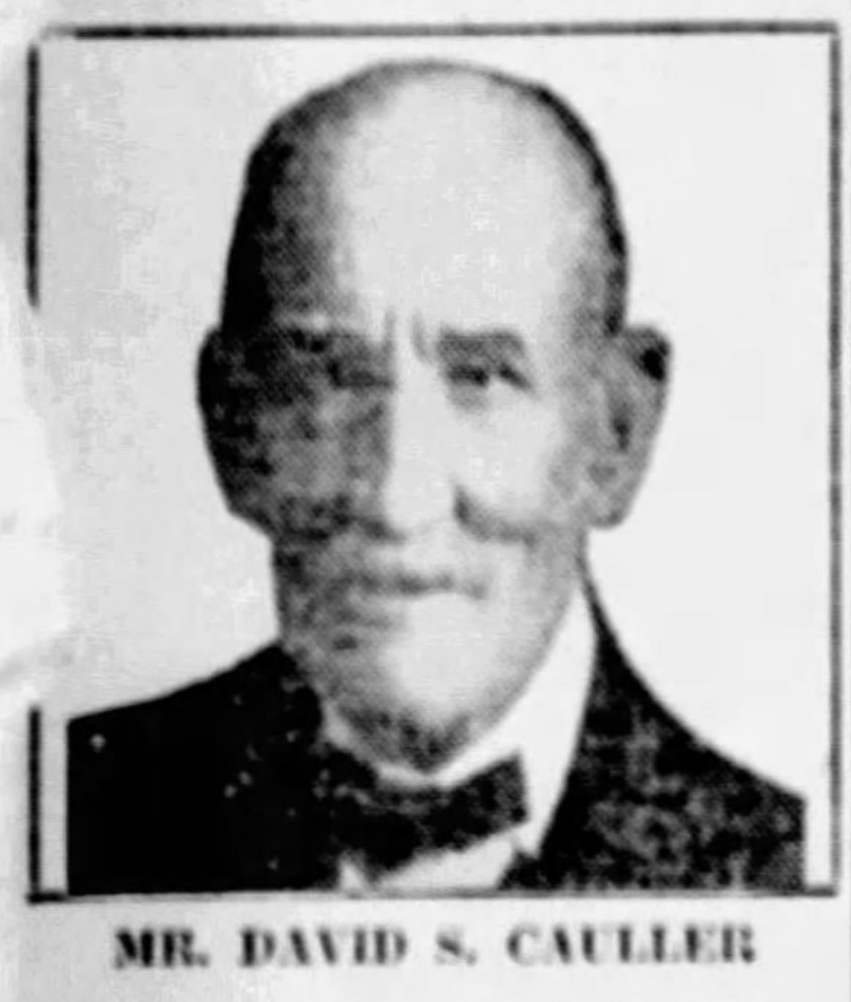
AWFUL BLOATING FOLLOWED EATING

Man Was 76, Yet Ten Herbs Ended Stomach, Liver and Bowel Disorders.

"I had trouble with my stomach, ver, kidneys and bowels the past wo years," was the statement of David S. Cauller, 433 East ange St., Lancaster, Pa., to the n Herbs Man, who is at May's ala Store, 529 Liberty Avenue,



MR. DAVID S. CAULLER

Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the popular medicine, Ten Herbs. Mr. Cauller is 76 years of age, and has lived in this city for 27 years. He was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad for 32 years, during which time he never lost a day's work, but is now on the retired list.

"After meals I would have pains under the ribs and terrible bloating," Mr. Cauller continued. "I had severe spells of indigestion, which were sometimes accompanied with heartburn. I would belch hot, sour water, which would choke me. I had a sluggish liver, which seemed to affect my eyes, as they were weak and watery. I had bad headaches, and if I stooped over I became very dizzy and black spots would appear before my eyes. My kidneys were inactive. Pains surged through my back in the morning, and were so severe in my arms that I could not raise them to comb my hair. Soreness in my limbs interfered with my walking. My hands and feet often became numb. I was constipated, and never slept well.

"I was advised to try Ten Herbs; and, to my surprise, even one bottle made a decided change for the better in my condition. After using several bottles, I feel a great deal improved in every way. Ten Herbs corrected all my disorders. My stomach never bothers me any more, as indigestion, heartburn and gas pains are gone. My liver and kidneys are more active and I am free of dizzy spells and black spots before my eyes. All pains are gone and I have better use of arms and limbs. Constipation has been relieved and I sleep better. Ten Herbs is a wonderful medicine and I am glad to recommend it."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of good water.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS
Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing.

TO HEAR tell, you'd think Tunney was the only champion that ever owned evening clothes and a book.

But a peep into any fighter's family album shows that few were without them.

As far back as 1730, James Figg, the first heavyweight champion of England, even wrote a book called "The Master of Ye Noble Science of Self Defense."

"Gentleman" Jackson, hobnobbed around with the nobility in 1769. Lord Byron being chided for chumming with him, said Jackson's manners were "infinitely more superior to those of the college men I meet at the high table."

This has been the Golden Age for fighters. When Tex Rickard started turning fighters' mitts to gold with million-dollar gates, he financially boosted fighters socially more quickly than good morals, good minds, and good manners, not to mention good clothes, ever could!

But I am still hoping to see some champion make the most of his opportunities the championship brings to him.

Big and important men have always been proud "to shake the hand that shook the hand of Sullivan."

All champions have an opportunity to meet important persons while they are champions. But to date no champion has ever become a bigger man out of the ring than he was in it through their interest and help.

The public has always admired the champion as a fighter, but it has never taken him seriously as a business man.

Champions have always retired to make a living upon their past glory. They tour in vaudeville. They open gymnasiums. They sink their money in cafes, or some business that depends upon their past to draw customers from among their old fans.

That's why a champion is always figuring on retiring with the championship so he can better commercialize his past.

This is not only selfish. It is inevitable that any champion, if he fights long enough and honestly, will in time be defeated.

Every champion owes it to the good of the game to give the next champion a chance to win the title, and not inherit it, or hold it in dispute.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

MORE MOTORGRAMS FOR THE MARRIED

MARRIAGE is becoming a spin at top-speed—divorce, the walk back home. But, if treated tenderly and handled with self-restraint, a good average marriage, a good average husband, and a good average car will last a long time.

Remember that a flat tire can be pumped up again, but a woman's faith and a man's illusions, once punctured, can never be restored—even with hot-air.

Crowd your rivals with care; but never take ANY woman's dust, if you can pass her without a smash-up. The world is full of love-pirates who have no regard for the rules of the road—or the game.

HELEN ROWLAND

There are times to park your car and admire the moonlight—and times to step on the accelerator. Success in winning and taming a man consists in knowing instinctively when to do either.

Keep to the right in an argument, and always give your husband the right of way, if necessary, to avoid a smash-up. You can collect the "fine" later.

Go slow around the curves and don't cut the corners, when tempted to lie to your wife. Remember that a woman who loves you can see through the curtains of your camouflage, even when you keep the hood down. She can see through ANYTHING!

Keep your muffler closed at all times, and don't spare the old OIL, if you value your car, or a man's devotion.

Never listen for the KNOCKS. When your car or your husband is "running smooth and pretty," let them alone—and be thankful!

Don't stop to admire the feminine scenery on a skiddy road. And remember that a sentimental detour is always dangerous, usually rough going, and never worth the wear and tear on the tires—or the nerves.

If you happen to have drawn only a little Flivver in the matrimonial market, be satisfied. After all, he may be much more useful and a lot easier to "control" than your neighbor's speedy Hispano.

Remember that the main idea in the journey of matrimony is not speed, but endurance, comfort and a little diversion and happiness along the way. Go slow, keep your head, watch the signals—and obey the traffic regulations!

Hemorrhoids Disappear

All Pile Misery Banished Without Cutting or Salves.

External treatments seldom banish Piles for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at May Drug Co., who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

Horoscope

Thursday, February 2

LIVELY conditions in business and employment are assured for this day, according to the Solar and Lunar transits. The trine of moon to Sun and Mercury should spur to enterprise, especially in all relating to letters, writings, publicity, printing as well as trade, but be cautious to suppress impetuosity and rashness. It would not be wise to take the long chance with finances. Seek honors, favors, etc.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very active year, with probable promotion or increase of salary, especially in connection with papers, publishings, or literary pursuits. Be calm and keep control of funds.

A child born on this day should be versatile and generally clever and should reach high place by its individual endeavors or in the employment of others. It may be extravagant.

It's hard to excuse Dishpan Hands

"Guests arriving—everything perfect except . . ."

"MY dinner table, set with all my best china for our dinner to Jim's new friends, had never looked prettier. But it made my poor hands look dreadfully coarse by comparison. They simply broadcasted 'Dishpan!'

"And because I know it's just such little things that others judge us by, I became self-conscious . . . ill at ease . . . at my own dinner table.

"Of course it was foolish of me. With Lux always in the house I was still using old-fashioned harsh soap for the dishes. Until that night I had not realized just how pitifully rough and red it made my hands look.

"Now I use Lux for all my dishes. And for cleaning, too! My hands no longer are reddened and coarse. I'm really PROUD now of my dinner-table hands."

Many household soaps—flakes, chips and cakes—are made in the old-fashioned way. They contain harmful alkali that makes the skin rough.

There is no injurious alkali in Lux. Made by a remarkable process, Lux actually SOOTHES the skin, leaves it a little whiter and softer than before.*

Instant, sparkling Lux suds, ready before you ever put your hands in, are so rich and CLEANSING that the dishes seem almost to wash themselves!

The big package of Lux washes six weeks' dishes! Lovely hands for so small a price!

*Many beauty parlors use Lux suds in manicuring the nails, to soften and whiten the fingers

Mantell as Macbeth Moves Large Audience With Poetry And Thrill of Great Drama

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

ROBERT MANTELL gave the second performance of his Shakespeare week last night at the Nixon Theater, that grand old "Bowery melodrama," as Charlotte Cushman used to call "Macbeth," being the bill. The most famous American Lady Macbeth knew what she was talking about. Take away the poetry and the psychology, and "Macbeth" is merely blood and thunder. But nowhere has Shakespeare written nobler lines than some parts of "Macbeth," and nowhere has he penetrated deeper into the tangled thickets of conscience. Mantell reads the poetry beautifully; especially the hopeless melancholy of the closing scenes he can depict in thrilling accents of pathos. The qualms at Duncan's murder, the terror in the banquet scene, when Banquo's ghost appears, and the fits of frenzy when he is besieged at Dunsinane, furnished the other tests of Mantell's powers. He gave a well-rounded performance, true to the best traditions and rising at times to heroic heights. The audience showed its enthusiasm frequently during the progress of the stirring scenes, and he was recalled again and again after each curtain.

It is wonderful to think that this man played in Pittsburgh just 50 years ago this week, and is still vigorous enough, still has his golden voice, still has the alert mind to give such an interpretation of the exhausting role as he gave last night. And he had admirable support. The company did much better than they had done in "The Merchant of Venice" the night before.

A fine performance, of course, was to be expected of Genevieve Hamper as Lady Macbeth. The classic beauty of her face lends itself well to the malignant calm of this murderous Lady, her deliberate diction is in keeping with the character, and the sleep-walking scene she played with eerie impressiveness. But the other members of the company did their share. John Alexander as Macduff gave a thrilling climax to the scene when he hears of his family's slaughter; Le Roi Operti made much of the Porter's little bit; Philip Quin, Bruce Adams and Rex K. Benware merit praise.

The settings were adequate and the lighting effective, especially in the witch scenes. How the audience reveled in it all—the suspense, the poetry, the stirring action. It just went to prove old Charlotte Cushman's saying that "Macbeth" is the greatest of Bowery melodramas. But it is also one of the greatest philosophical poems and tragedies of conscience.

This afternoon there is a matinee of "As You Like It," with Miss Hamper as Rosalind and Mantell as Jaques; tonight "Julius Caesar" is the bill, with Mantell playing Brutus.

Almost Here

MOLLY O'DAY appears with her sister, Sally O'Neil, in "The Lovelorn," film version of the Beatrice Fairfax tale, which will be in the Aldine screen next week.

"Wedding March" To Be Spring Release

Eric von Stroheim's production, "The Wedding March," is scheduled for release this spring. The filming of the picture consumed more than six months. Von Stroheim not only wrote the story but directed the picture and appears in the leading role of Prince Nicki.

The sequences, laid in and before the great St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna during the celebration of Corpus Christi, required the assistance of 2,100 persons.

An outstanding feature of these scenes is the original royal carriage, formerly used by the late Emperor Franz Josef, secured in spite of united opposition on the part of loyal Austrians who protested against the sale of so priceless a relic to foreigners. However, von Stroheim was at length permitted to remove the carriage along with its accompanying eight sets of gold plated harness and the accompanying uniforms for footmen, postilions, outriders and attendants.

COMING ATTRACTIONS FEATURE COMEDY

In the Alvin tomorrow the seat sale for the return engagement of George Jessel, in "The Jazz Singer," will begin. This is Mr. Jessel's farewell tour in "The Jazz Singer." He will celebrate his one thousandth performance in the title role during his local engagement. The matinees will be Wednesday and Saturday.

"Tommy", a comedy of small-town life, will be seen in the Nixon, beginning Monday evening, February 6, for one week only, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Tommy" is a George C. Tyler production. Seats on sale Thursday.

Patricia Quinn is the "Rosemary" in "Abie's Irish Rose," the Anne Nichols comedy, which will play an engagement in the Pitt, beginning Monday February 6, with the Thursday and Saturday matinees. She has interpreted the role for the past three years, having appeared in every company of "Abie" presenting it on this continent. Seats will be sold tomorrow.

The headline act in the Davis next week will be Dave Appolion, in an elaborate stage presentation, "An Appollonian Revue," including the Manilla Orchestra, and Daniel Goodell and Lucretia Craig.

BAUER, GABRILOWITSCH TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

James A. Bortz manager of the Bortz DeLuxe Concerts will present, as the fourth of his series, Ossip Gabrilowitch, pianist and conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and Harold Bauer in a recital for two pianos in Carnegie Music Hall Friday evening, February 3. Their last joint appearance in Pittsburgh was 12 years ago in the William Penn Hotel. Since then they have played singly and jointly in practically every state in the union.

DANCER IS RETAINED IN FLOTILLA CLUB

Rosita Granada, dancer, remains in the Flotilla Club and Venice Restaurant this week, where she is appearing nightly with her partner, DeCarlos. Etzi Covato and his Flotilla Club Orchestra play nightly for the diners in the Venice Restaurant, and later in the Flotilla Club. The Flotilla Club revue appears once each night at both the Venice and Flotilla Club.

A MAN WHO WEARS A MASK

WHO is Warner Fabian? No one knows this man—or woman. For years he has been the mystery of the literary world.

Yet everyone knows his vital books. He invented "Flaming Youth." He was the first to give the world a true picture of what the War had done to the boys and girls who came after it.

Now he begins in MARCH SMART SET a new revelation of modern life—what goes on behind the closed doors of a girls' college.

"I have deliberately chosen," says Warner Fabian, "to present girls of the modern, restless kind, pleasure-hunting and knowledge-hunting as well. Ten years ago they would have been a small group. Tomorrow it may well be the type of collegiate girl."

You meet in UNFORBIDDEN FRUIT spick-and-span Sylvia Hartnett, who thinks it is not unbecoming her Puritan ancestry to play with fire.

You meet Professor Gifford—young, handsome and reserved, who takes an interest in Sylvia unexpected in one of his position. You find strange romance and perilous adventure coloring these supposedly quiet lives.

Has Flaming Youth been quenched? Read Warner Fabian's new story, "UNFORBIDDEN FRUIT," in MARCH SMART SET.

Buy it today at any newsstand.

MINER JAILED FOR TIRADE ON COURTS

Anthony P. Minerich, chairman of the Pennsylvania Miners' Relief Committee and member of Local Union 4238, North Bessemer, was arrested yesterday by Corp. H. W. Pierce, state police, while addressing a meeting in behalf of miners' relief at McDonald. He was locked up in Canonsburg Police Station on a charge of inciting to riot.

Allen Davis of the law firm of Davis & Marshall has been engaged by the International Labor Defense to defend Minerich. Friends said Minerich was quoting the view of the late Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, that injunctions were a violation of the constitutional rights of the people.

Corp. Pierce said he had not interfered until Minerich shouted, "To Hades with injunctions." Then he broke up the meeting.

BAIRD STARTS P. & W. VA. JOB

Resigning as traffic manager of the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad, Frederick C. Baird, former prohibition administrator in the Pittsburgh district, today became general manager in charge of operations and developments of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad. He had been with the former railroad for 33 years, his service in the prohibition force not severing his railroad connections. He said his change in positions had no significance and was not indicative of plans for immediate development of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad. His new office will be in the Wabash Building.

The New Coats for Spring Have Arrived!

Spring 1928 brings coats with an air as new as the season itself. There's the off-the-shoulder line with its youthful swagger . . . the new blonde mole that appears on beige or black fabrics . . . monkey fur, sleek and lustrous . . . the molded hipline, of course. The beige tones or black will dominate the color fields. Dress or sports models are here in such a variety of fabric and trimming . . . that you'll find choosing a thrilling problem! The six coats sketched show the splendid variety in style and price. Women's and Misses sizes. Prices range from $79 to $250.

"Lindy's" Preparations for His New York-Paris Hop

SECOND NEWS SECTION THE SUN TELEGRAPH SPORTS FEATURES
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1928

Type of Plane Chosen; the Building Order; "Slim" Watches Construction

In yesterday's chapter of "We" published in the Sun-Telegraph Col. Lindbergh told how he first thought of attempting the New York-Paris flight and how it became a fixed idea with him while he was carrying the mail between St. Louis and Chicago. At this time he was compelled a number of times to leap for his life. His feelings and experiences while hanging from a parachute made an absorbing narrative.

Careful Plotting of Overseas Course

By COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH.

CHAPTER XXV.

THE trans-Atlantic non-stop flight between New York and Paris was first brought into public consideration by Raymond Ortieg, who, in 1919, issued a challenge to the aeronautical world by offering a prize of $25,000 to the first successful entrant. Details of the flight were placed in the hands of the National Aeronautic Association, and a committee was appointed to form and administer the rules of the undertaking.

I first considered the possibility of the New York-Paris flight while flying the mail one night in the fall of 1926. Several facts soon became outstanding. The foremost was that with the modern radial air-cooled motor, high-lift airfoils and lightened construction, it would not only be possible to reach Paris, but, under normal conditions, to land with a large reserve of fuel and have a high factor of safety throughout the entire trip as well.

I found that there were a number of public-spirited men in St. Louis sufficiently interested in aviation to finance such a project, and in December, 1926, I made a trip to New York to obtain information concerning planes, motors and other details connected with the undertaking.

In connection with any important flight there are a number of questions which must be decided at the start, among the most important of which are the type of plane and the number of motors to be used.

The Efficient Plane

A monoplane, although just coming into general use in the United States, is much more efficient than a biplane for certain purposes, due to the lack of interference between wings, and consequently can carry a greater load per square foot of surface at a higher speed. A single-motored plane, while it is more liable to forced landings than one with three motors, has much less head resistance and consequently a greater cruising range.

Also there is three times the chance of motor failure with a tri-motored ship, for the failure of one motor during the first part of the flight, although it would not cause a forced landing, would at least necessitate dropping part of the fuel and returning for another start.

The reliability of the modern air-cooled radial engine is so great that the chances of an immediate forced landing due to motor failure with a single motor would, in my opinion, be more than counter-balanced by the longer cruising range and consequent ability to reach the objective in the face of unfavorable conditions.

Building the "Ship"

After careful investigation I decided that a single-motored monoplane was, for my purpose, the type most suited to a long-distance flight, and after two more trips to the East Coast and several conferences in St. Louis, an order was placed with the Ryan Airlines of San Diego, Cal., on February 28, 1927, for a plane equipped with a Wright Whirlwind J. 5-C. 200-H. P. radial air-cooled motor and Pioneer navigating instruments, including the earth inductor compass.

I went to San Diego to place the order and remained in California during the entire construction of the plane.

Planning the Trip

The personnel of the Ryan Airlines at once caught the spirit of the undertaking, and during the two months of construction the organization labored as it never had before. Day and night, seven days a week, the structure grew from a few lengths of steel tubing to one of the most efficient planes that has ever taken the air.

During this time it was not unusual for the men to work 24 hours without rest, and on one occasion Donald Hall, the chief engineer, was over his drafting table for 36 hours.

I spent the greater part of the construction period working out the details of navigation and plotting the course, with its headings and variations, on the maps and charts. After working out the track on the gnomonic and Mercators charts, I checked over the entire distance from New York to Paris with the nautical tables. The flight from San Diego to St. Louis and from St. Louis to New York was comparatively simple, and I took the courses directly from the state maps.

From New York to Paris I worked out a great circle, changing course every hundred miles or approximately every hour. I had decided to replace the weight of a navigator with extra fuel and this gave me about 300 miles additional range.

Plenty of Fuel

Although the total distance was 3,610 miles, the water gap between Newfoundland and Ireland was only about 1,850 miles, and under normal conditions I could have arrived on the coast of Europe over 300 miles off of my course and still have had enough fuel remaining to reach Paris; or I might have struck the coastline as far north as northern Scandinavia, or as far south as southern Spain and landed without danger to myself or the plane, even though I had not reached my destination. With these facts in view, I believed the additional reserve of fuel to be more important on this flight than the accuracy of celestial navigation.

For the flight from San Diego to St. Louis and New York I carried maps of the individual states and one of the United States with the course plotted on each. For the flight from New York to Paris I had two hydrographic charts of the North Atlantic Ocean containing the great circle course and its bearing at intervals of 100 miles.

In addition to these charts, I had a map of each state, territory and country passed over. This included maps of Connecticue, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Ireland, England and France. Also a map of Europe.

(Tomorrow Col. Lindbergh will describe his tests of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and the supplies he carried over seas.)

FANNIE HURST TOLD OF FOOD SCARCITY AMONG MINERS

FACES WINTRY BLASTS

Fannie Hurst, celebrated writer, whose articles on mines and mining in The Sun Telegraph have created widespread comment, braved the blasts of winter in her tour over Western Pennsylvania's mining district to gather first-hand information about the strikers and the operators.

CUPBOARD EMPTY

Miss Hurst saw many miner's families in the same fix as Mrs. Alice Bowns and her two children, George, 3, and Harold, 4. Mrs. Bowns' husband went on strike last April at Treveskyn and was evicted from his home at McClain several months ago. They had no food in the house when this picture was taken.

BIG UNION DESERTION DENIED

PICKET LINES ON DUTY 24 HOURS

"There has been no extensive defection of union miners," declared Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, today in commenting on the situation at Russellton, where reports of dissension in the union have come to light.

"I have heard of no one deserting the union there," Murray said. "It is possible that one or two union men have gone back to work, but in a strike of the magnitude of this, that is liable to occur. If there have been deserters, their number is too small to have any significance."

Organizers and leaders of the union are exerting every effort to keep their members in line despite the split within their ranks over the matter of relief distribution.

Two members of a national advisory board said to be working under the direction of Earl Houck, general counsel for the United Mine Workers, are active in the district and a 24-hour picket line has been established at Russellton. The Republic Iron and Steel Company has been unable to get enough men to work its No. 2 mine and a number of miners were brought in from outside yesterday. More were expected today.

NEW MEN ARRIVE

Several strikebreakers and their families arrived at Cheswick from Pittsburgh yesterday morning and made the trip to Russellton by bus. Union men heard about it later in the day and a delegation was sent to meet the afternoon trains. State police were on hand when the 1:15 p. m. train pulled into Cheswick, but no miners got off, so the delegation returned to Russellton in an orderly manner.

Chief Deputy G. W. Hutchison, in charge of the Republic guards, said that the picket line, as a general rule, was orderly and quiet. He said there had been a little trouble yesterday morning, but the matter was soon straightened out.

Louis Gasper, a teamster in the employ of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, was knocked down while going to work yesterday morning, Hutchinson said, but no arrests were made when a promise was extracted from John Zrodnik, president of the local union, that no further outbreaks would occur.

Casper said he had been working as teamster prior to the walkout last April, and he saw no reason why he should go out on strike. He said he was not a miner.

FORD MAY OPEN SOON

Curtisville and Monarch mines are the only ones still idle in the Allegheny Valley district. Harmarville, Harwick and Indianola have been operating with nonunion labor for several months and it is rumored that the Ford Colleries at Curtisville will be operated soon.

No coal is being mined at Russellton, the company being unable to get enough experienced men, it is said. Only a few of the strikebreakers brought in yesterday were hired, it is said, the Republic superintendent having examined these closely to make sure they were capable.

CANONSBURGER CHOSEN PRESIDENT

G. F. Hoge, of Canonsburg, yesterday was elected president of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association of Pennsylvania at the convention in session at the William Penn Hotel. Hart B. Daugherty, of Indiana, is the retiring president. R. F. McCrea was re-elected secretary and G. P. Texter was chosen treasurer. The directors are George N. Glass, S. W. Means, C. W. Dudenhoefer, J. J. Minn, O. A. Grable, Jr., Bruce Barnett, Evan Thomas and A. C. Eggers.

CHORINE'S JOB O. K.'D BY COURT

A mother's objections to her daughter's attempt to "fulfill her life dreams" as a chorus girl were overruled by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today, and Mamie Kost, 19, of 74 Ohio street, McKees Rocks, will continue to prance in the first row.

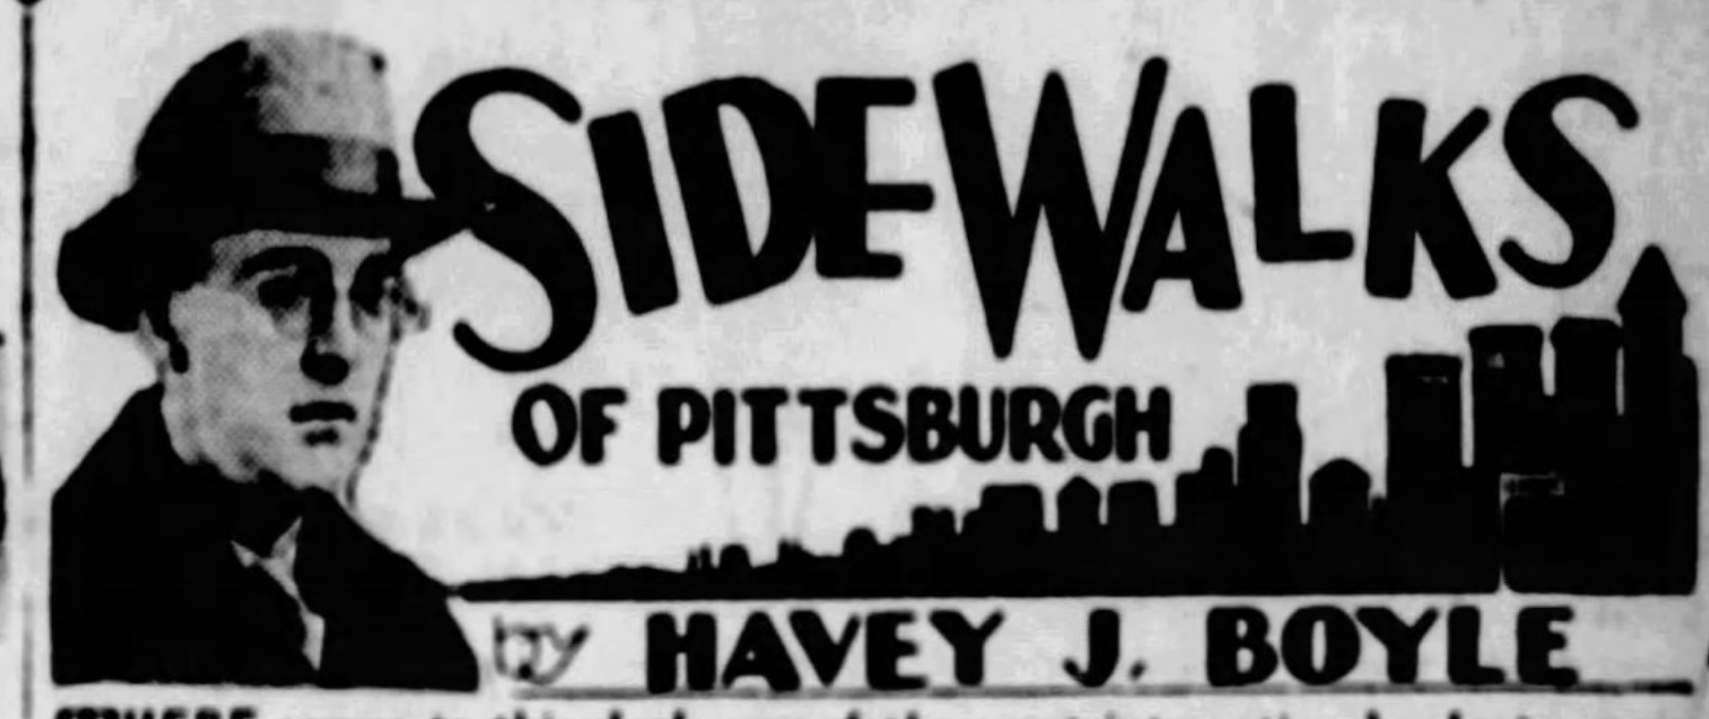
Mamie has a stepfather, she told the magistrate. Two weeks ago she left home, applied for a place in the new stock burlesque chorus at the Gayety Theater and "made good." She is in love with her work, and it pays her $30 a week, Mamie testified.

When Mrs. Mary Kost learned her daughter was on the stage she had Mrs. Ida Forsyth, Pittsburgh policewoman, arrest her as a runaway. But the mother could name no other occupation so remunerative and the magistrate was impressed by the girl's apparent love for the stage.

"Discharged," Brandon said, "and I hope you become a star."

M'KEESPORT WORKMAN KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE

John Finton, 60, of 841 West Fifth avenue, McKeesport, an employe of the McKeesport plant of the American Sheet and Tinplate Company, was struck by a mill locomotive last night and killed.



by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THERE comes to this desk one of the most interesting books to come off the press. The author, Frank Felupa, has written 306 pages on his hobby, which is—the collection of street car transfers. Various circumstances which arise to confuse anyone who may wish to take up this hobby are gone into. For instance, on page 199, the author comes up with what seems here to be a very reasonable solution of one particular problem. He advocates that when the collector finds himself loaded up with dirty transfers the best thing to do is to wash them.

ANOTHER problem that may confuse the neophyte-collector is what to do when one discovers a wet transfer sticking to a pavement. Quite inconspicuously one may use the point of an umbrella to capture such a derelict, the author shrewdly points out. Caught in such emergency without an umbrella the logical thing to do, we imagine, would be to go to the nearest umbrella store.

While there is no system devised so far as to the best way of obtaining stray transfers, there is a valuable hint in the suggestion that transfer points, the floors of street cars and entrances to stores are places where strays often may be garnered.

SOME caution must be exercised in accepting contributions of old transfers from well-meaning but injudicious friends. In many cases there are state laws interfering with such practice. A Massachusetts collector, for instance, will find that he must do all the collecting himself as there is a strict law against giving away or selling transfers.

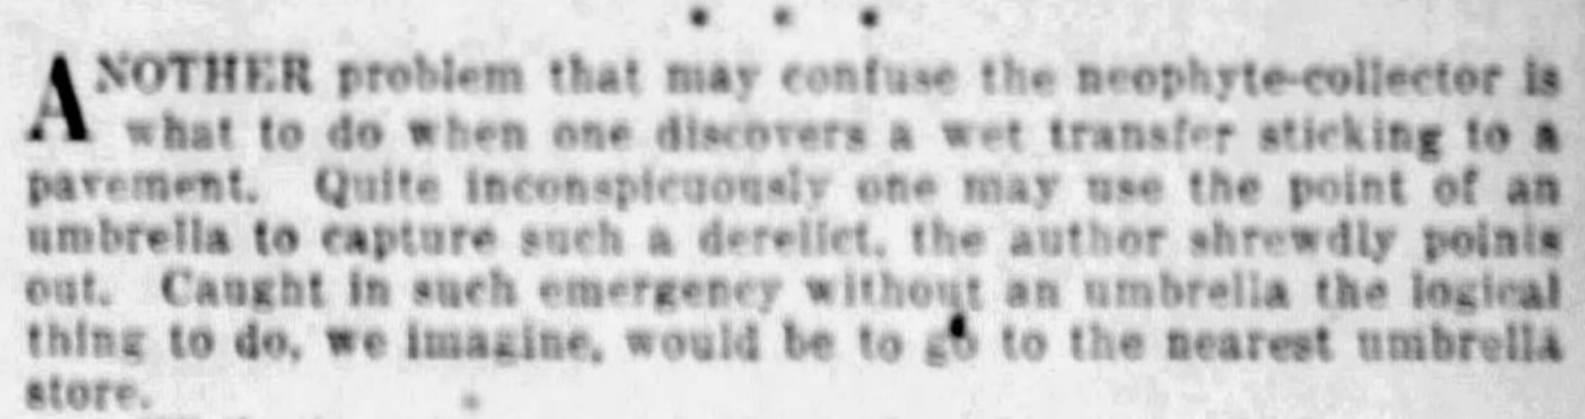
TRANSFERS, when in bad condition, the author advises, should not be put into the main collection at once. He advises, rather, keeping these soiled and torn transfers in a separate file, properly indexed, of course, and held there until they arrive at a condition where they can be repaired. Once repaired, of course, the transfer then can be put into the main collection.



We were not a little amazed to discover in the book that in the 1924 issue of the Los Angles Railway system there were 14 different designs used for surcharges, a different one for each day. This authoritative statement will no doubt silence the man who tried to tell us that there were only 12 different designs of that particular issue.

SOME foolish persons without experience may decide that one transfer is enough to represent its particular type. This idea is dissipated by the author who writes on page 220: "Thus, suppose that a number of transfers of the same form are picked up at once and suppose that that form is not in the main collection; then one form goes into the main collection, one into the duplicate collection, and the rest into the extra duplicate collection."

THE book is well-indexed and some of the headings may be of interest: Company Numbering and Lettering of Routes; Punching and Listing Conditions of Acceptance; Combination of Receiving Conditions with Other Conditions; Cleaning and Patching of Derelicts; Importance of Derelict Transfers in Collection; Summary of Transfer Indexing. These among many others.

In fact, there is now little excuse for anyone desiring to collect street car transfers to be without minute information about the best system.

ACCORDING to the author, the Pittsburgh Railways Company is among the companies that use what are known as Smithoid transfers. This will dispel any rumors to the contrary.

ASK $40,000 DAMAGES FROM TWO COMPANIES

The Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Pittsburgh Transportation Company were made joint defendants in a damage suit for $40,000 filed in Common Pleas Court, by Isaac Cohen and Ida Cohen, his wife, in behalf of their 17-year-old son, Simon Cohen, for personal injuries, received June 6. They charge that as he alighted from a street car at Center avenue and Neville street, he was struck by a taxicab owned by the defendant company. They blame street car company for negligence in that the car had passed the regular stop and, they charge, forced their son to descend in the street.

Yes, Men, There's Something New In Sales, After All—

IF SOMEONE said, "Here's a chance to buy five dollar gold pieces at $3.00," you'd pick them up and lay 'em away for the future. Certainly you would! And the proposition we're going to point out offers somewhat similar advantages—in fact, it's so much like picking up gold pieces at far below par value that we are adopting this distinctive advertising method to lay the facts before you. In a few words, tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, on the Fourth Floor, we inaugurate the greatest sale of men's clothing in our 59 years experience.

"Choice-of-the House" Sale of Men's 1 and 2 Trouser Suits Overcoats and Topcoats at $34

During the course of our business certain special events come along. But there's never been one quite as important to you as this "Choice-of-the-House" Sale. And here are the reasons: Because we present not merely a few, but hundreds of garments at $34.00. Because they are of definitely proven worth, from our regular makers. Because we guarantee quality, smartness and desirability notwithstanding the exceptional price concessions; because our entire stock of Fashion Park Winter Suits and Overcoats is included. As you may know, Fashion Park clothing sells regularly at $45.00 to $75.00. The savings range from $11.00 to as much as $41.00 on a garment.

Now, here are additional reasons for the occasion: We bought heavily in anticipation of the normal demand for clothing as in former seasons. Throughout the late fall and early winter there has been much unseasonable weather. This left us overstocked. Our new spring lines are beginning to arrive. So we have adopted this unusual procedure. Frankly and plainly telling the men of Pittsburgh the actual facts. Only new spring goods and nationally advertised "Middishade" Suits excepted. It's really a magnificent opportunity—to choose one or several garments to wear right now and for months ahead. Be here early. Drop in before going to your office.

Sale Begins Thursday—Tomorrow Morning at 8 O'Clock

(Copyright, Central Press Association.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees down town when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domestic ship sailed smoother for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Staley Drummond pays her bills. Lily and Pat quarrel. Pat leaves the house and Lily goes to France's. Roy Jetterson meets Lily and Drummond on the street.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

LILY nodded. "Yes, I did," she answered, and her head drooped towards her shoulder. Her lashes drooped, too, throwing a dark shadow on her cheek. She was very lovely and very sad to see.

"My husband went to a party without me," she explained, changing the story to suit herself. "And when he came home he told me he had taken another girl home from the party—and then when I objected he got sore and left me all alone in the flat in the dead of night."

"Good Lord!" she heard Staley say under his breath. His jaw tightened and his lips came together in a straight line. The hand that held hers crushed it until she could have cried out with pain.

But she did not. She sat perfectly still and watched him. Suddenly he turned his head and spoke to her in the quick, firm way of a man who has definitely made up his mind about something

"Look here, Lily!" he said, "you can't go on with this thing any longer—I'm net going to let you! This marriage of yours has flivvered, and it's time you brought it to an end. Even if I didn't love you as I do, I'd say this simply as an old friends of yours!"

Lily slowly nodded.

"You'll just have to make up your mind to get out—and then do it!" Staley's voice ran on. "There's no disgrace attached to divorce any more. You can go back to your people and live there quietly until you're free. And then you can marry me."

Lily drew her breath in sharply. . . . She tried to think of anyone's arms but Pat's arms around her, and couldn't bear the thought. . . . She tried to imagine anyone's kisses but his, and the thought of them was hateful to her. . . . The whole thought of being married to any one but Pat was hateful and beastly to her, somehow.

"I love him," she said to herself, drawing her hands out of Staley's grasp. And then without warning she began to cry with her head down against the velvet-covered cushions of the seat.

She was crying because she was jealous of Elizabeth Ertz and because she was unhappy over having quarreled with Pat the night before.

But Staley misunderstood the cause for her tears. The whole thing looked perfectly simple to him. . . . Here was the girl he loved crying because she was unhappily married to a poverty-stricken chauffeur who couldn't buy her the ordinary necessities of life, and who ran out with other women and neglected her, to boot. . . . That was the way it all looked to him.

"Now, come, come, you mustn't cry," he tried to soothe and comfort her, patting her hands again. "It's not half so bad as it might be. Suppose you'd been married to France for three or four years and had a child or two before you found out that you couldn't live with him? That would have been a real tragedy."

With his left hand he drove the car into the parking place behind the Adriatic Hotel, where he was planning to take Lily for lunch.

"Although," he remarked, "it wouldn't make any difference to me how manw children you had, or how long you'd been married. . . . I'd care for you just as I do now. I guess I must be pretty much in love with you, Lily."

He pulled a clean handkerchief from his pocket and offered it to her. "Wipe your eyes, dear, and we'll go in and have a bite to eat," he said. "And afterward, whether you like it or not, I'm going to take you down the street to Hyde and Hyde's and see that you get some furs. . . . Why, you're freezing—" He pressed his lips to the icy hands that he held.

That night when Lily went back to the France's little white house there were two silver foxes slung around her graceful shoulders. Pat's mother, who knew almost nothing about expensive clothes, did not even notice them.

But Florence, who sat sewing by the window seat in the tiny dining room, gave them a curious glance when Lily walked into the room. Then she looked at Lily, whose cheeks were flushed with excitement, and whose neck fairly dripped with strands of pearls—the expensive kind that are made in France and cost almost as much as the real ones. Florence knew the value of these things. . . . She saw them every day in Angouleme's, that jewel-box of a store.

"You look as if you'd been out on a shopping trip," she said pointedly.

Lily laughed. "You mean because I'm wearing these furs? But they're not new," she fibbed lightly. "They are some that I had all of last winter."

She could see Florence watching her, looking her over, all the time she said good-bye to Pat's mother and locked her little overnight bag. She knew that Florence did not believe her—and that she was probably thinking of the golden-brown clothes that Staley Drummond had paid for at Angouleme's a month before.

But she did not care. Florence could not prove nothing, and as for herself, she had the furs and the wonderful imitation pearls. And that was the important thing!

The little flat was dark and cold when she unlocked the door of it and hour later. The bed was unmade still—just as she had leaped out of it the night before. Staley's last offering of roses was wilted in its vase. There was a fine film of dust on everything.

In an hour's time she had straightened it up, and was cooking supper for Pat.

The table was set, the evening paper lay folded at his place, and the afternoon's loot of silver foxes and pearls was safely hidden in a dresser drawer. Every few minutes she would go into the bedroom and try them on before the toilet glass. . . . Staley had told her that the rich, dark fur brought out her blonde coloring, and he was right.

"Too bad I can't have nice things to wear always," she decided. "I look so nice in them—and so many women don't. They look like cooks dressed up, most of them. Fat and funny—"

The sound of Pat's key grating in the lock of the hall door made her start and throw her treasures back into the drawer. She had just time to slam it when Pat came into the room, still in his working clothes.

He did not speak.

In the mirror Lily watched him hang up his hat and coat in the clothes closet. She saw his muscles ripple under his shirt as he stood at his chiffoniere, brushing back his thick, dark, unruly hair.

Then, all at once, his eyes caught her in the pool of shining glass. He turned slowly and smiled at her—and the smile seemed to wipe out all the coldness and bitterness and misunderstanding between them. It was the intimate smile that a man has for just one person in the world—and that person the woman he loves.

With a little sob, Lily was across the room and his arms were around her and his mouth on hers. She closed her eyes and tears of relief squeezed out from under the tight-shut lids.

"Pat—we're a couple of simps to quarrel, aren't we?" she asked presently. "I love you and I know you love me—only promise me you never will look at that Ertz agair—or speak to her. Aren't you ashamed of yourself for taking her home last night?"

She really thought that he ought to be ashamed of himself for it. But she had no feeling of shame or guilt concerning the pearls and the gorgeous furs that were hidden in the drawer behind her—none at all!

The warm and sunshiny happiness that always wrapped her 'round when she was in Pat's arms enveloped her now. She forgot Staley Drummond and the long talk she had had with him that afternoon. . . . She forgot all the hard things she had said about Pat to him. And she almost forgot the pearls and the furs.

She forgot everything but Pat for an instant—the feeling of his face against her face, the clean smell of his hair, the strength and comfort of his nearness.

"Oh, if only you'd notice me once in a while instead of just living down at that machine shop, you don't know how happy I'd be!" she sighed. "I could even forget that I haven't any new clothes or a washwoman—"

At 8 o'clock, while they were doing the supper dishes, the doorbell rang and the Jettersons came noisily up the front steps. They were in their best clothes, and Sadye wore no hat. Her hair was curled and slicked down with brilliantine and her make-up was very fresh and bright.

"We're going to the whist club," she said, "and we want you two to go along with us." They played whist once a week and were always talking about it.

Lily refused for the pair of them. "I can't play whist," she explained, and then quickly changed the subject. "What a lovely dress you have on, Sadye."

"Do you like it?" asked Sadye, pleased. "Don't you think the skirt is too short?" She bustled into the bedroom to look at herself in the long mirror in the closet door.

"I have too much paint on my cheeks," she said, looking carefully at her reflection. "Have you any powder?"

And with a quick movement she had the dresser drawer open, and was staring down at the fox furs with the pearls coiled on the top of them like a gleaming snake. Her eyes sharpened as she looked at them.

"My goodness! Pat must be making money!" she twittered, lifting the furs out. "Silver foxes! Me, oh my! I must have Roy get me some!" She threw them around her broad, fat shoulders and walked into the living room with them.

CHAPTER XLII.

WITH the mincing step of a style-show model, Sadye walked into the little sitting room to show off the furs.

"Look, Roy!" she said to her husband, twirling around on one heel in a manner that might have been graceful and airy if Sadye had not been so broad and fat, "look at these gor-r-geous furs that Lily's bought! Silver foxes. They're horribly expensive, but I want some, too, Honey Boy!" She crossed the room and sat down on the arm of his chair with her arms around him.

Roy looked at Pat and winked. "The old girl thinks I have money, eh, wot?" he asked, humorously. "Money to throw away on silver fox furs."

Another Wild Ride by Dicky in Quest of Beauty Is Feared by Madge Graham

THE very next second after my revelation to my mother-in-law that Dicky was responsible for my projected call upon Miss Lincoln I was keenly regretful that I had spoken. She was an old woman, I told myself scathingly, and, even though her arrogance and captious criticism had become almost unbearable through constant repetition, it was petty meanness upon my part to wound her with my knowledge of her son's erratic behavior.

It was too late for retraction, however, or for futile wishes. The words had been spoken, and Dicky's mother threw up her head with the challenge which any criticism of her son, open or implied, arouses in her.

"What are you trying to do?" she demanded hotly. "Defend yourself at your husband's expense?"

I flushed angrily at the retort, but made no reply. Indeed, I could not have interposed one, for my mother-in-law, as just as she is—swift to intolerant anger, came swiftly over to me and touched my shoulder.

"I didn't mean that, Margaret," she said. "Of course, I don't doubt your statement in the least. But what in the world that crazy boy wants—" She stopped and sent a quick questioning, pitying glance in my direction.

"Margaret," she exclaimed, "don't tell me it's beginning again!"

I knew what she meant; knew also that she attached far greater significance to her expressed fear than I did. She referred to her son's frequent "artistic obsessions," as Lillian dubbed them, when at sight of a beautiful young woman of a type which fitted some set of drawings he had been commissioned to make, he abandoned all other avocations first to persuade her to pose for him, and second to make a study of her personality, that he might bring out the moods he wished her to assume for his drawings.

While I never could rid myself of a certain jealous conviction that Dicky never appeared to make the same exhaustive study of his masculine models that he bestowed upon the feminine ones, yet, except in the case of Grace Draper, who for so long had been a menace to my happiness—to my very life itself—because of her crazed infatuation for Dicky, I did not trouble myself about them to the extent his mother did.

To her, reared in a narrower and more suspicious school of life, and with memories of her own marital experience which I guessed had given her much cause for fear, any symptom of her son's absorbed interest in some beautiful face was a portent of lasting trouble for me. As I saw the pitying concern in her face I scored myself again for my thoughtlessness, and tried my best to make amends.

"Nothing beginning again," I told her emphatically, putting my arms around her now trembling figure and kissing her reassuringly. "You take your son altogether too seriously, mother. He's made up his mind that Miss Lincoln is the type he wishes for his latest set of drawings, and he wishes an opportunity to study her. He told me all about it, and you see, don't you, that I couldn't do anything else save invite her?"

"Yes, I see—more than you think," she said, slowly, significantly. "And what I see is making my last days very sad. Not that I blame you, Margaret. You have endured more than any woman has a right to put up with. I am afraid that feeling the way you do is going to bring you great unhappiness instead of peace and freedom from worry, as you think."

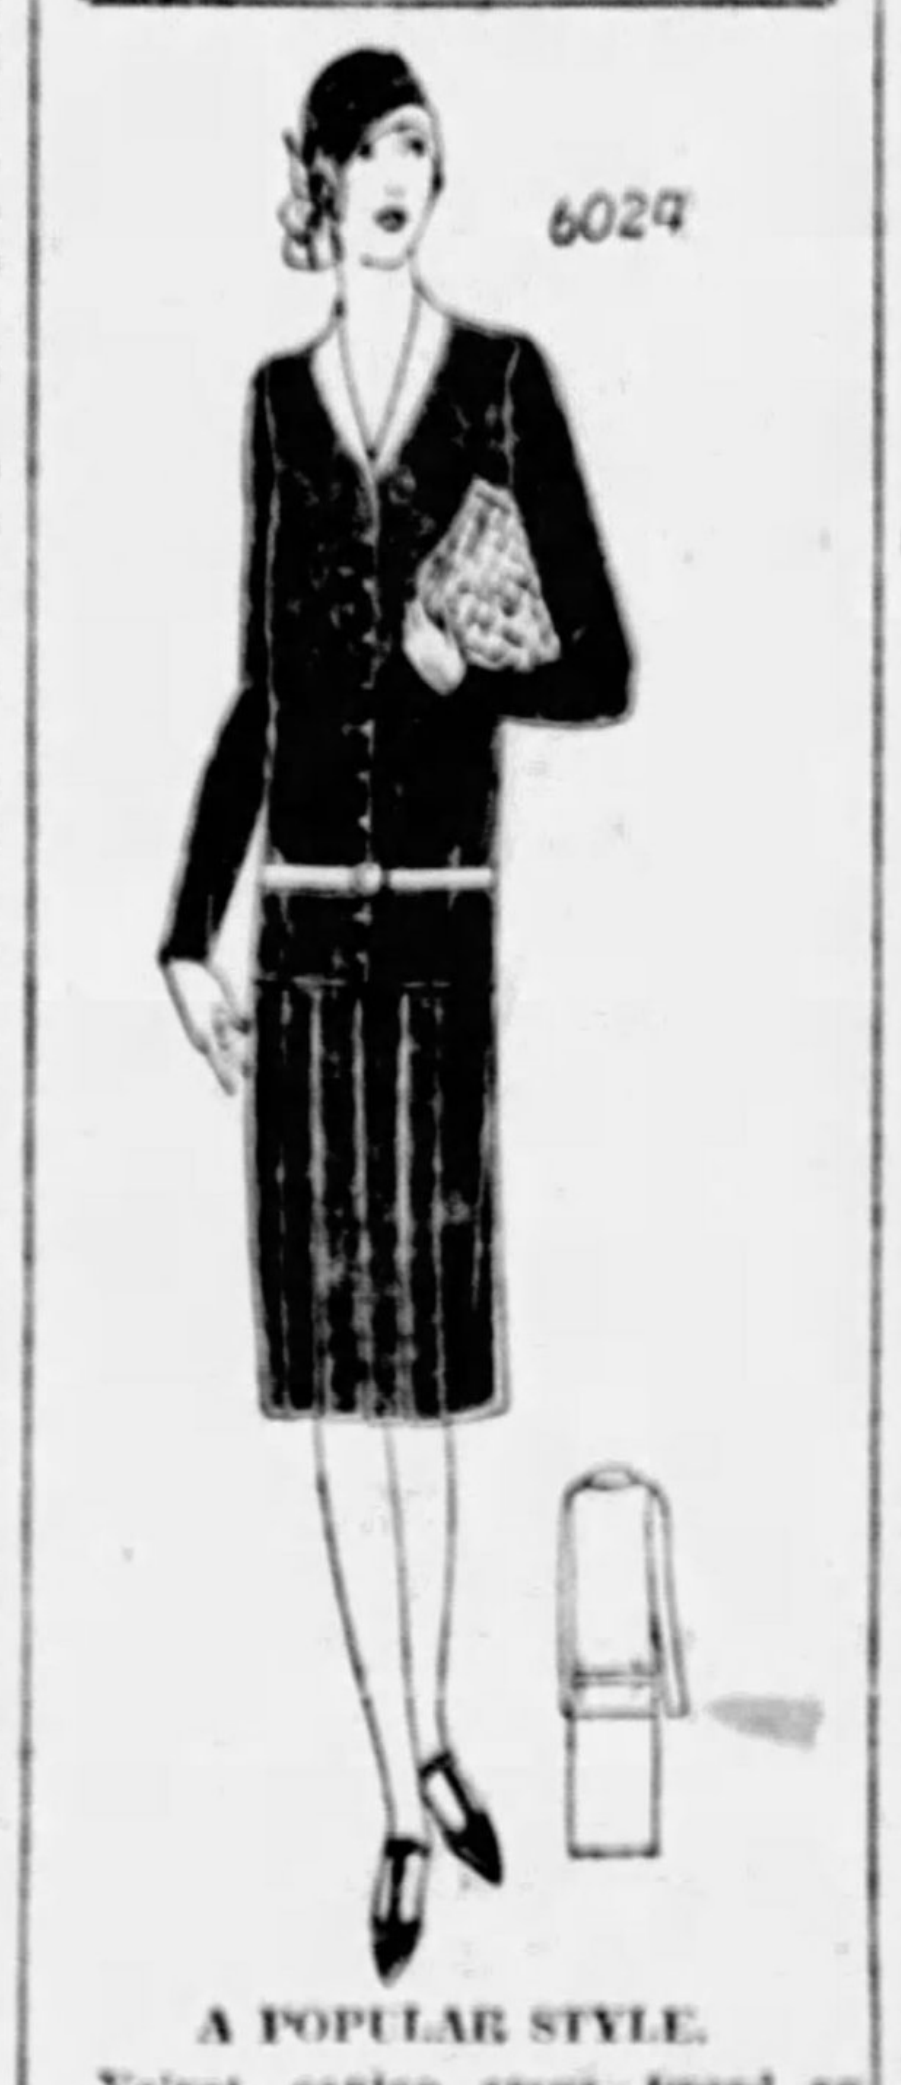
Capes for Spring

Capes capture attention both as part of the advance spring ensembles and as attached details of coats or frocks. The hip-length cape, longer in back, is expected to be extremely popular in spring versions of daytime ensembles—slightly longer models, of circular cut, in the same fabric as the gown, being designed for evening wear. Separate coats and individual frocks have sections cut along cape lines, lending a swinging grace to the garment.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A POPULAR STYLE.

Velvet, canton crepe, tweed or cashmere could be employed in the making of this pleasing model.

The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Has Your Back Given Out?

Backache May Be Due to Various Causes But Often Warns of Sluggish Kidneys

DOES every day find you lame, stiff and achy? Do you feel tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions scanty, too frequent, or burning in passage?

Know, then, that these are often signs of improper kidney action. Sluggish kidneys allow acid poisons to remain in the blood and upset the whole system.

If your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with Doan's Pills. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Doan's are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Kodiak Shirts

The Perfect Shirts for Sportsmen

Of Finest All-Wool Flannel

Very early in our country's history, a group of priests settled in a little valley on the Pacific coast, bringing with them a small flock of Merino sheep. Generation after generation, the moist sea breezes have kept the wool of this strain soft and fine—and now each fall the wool of the eight-months-old male lambs, conceded to be the finest, softest, cleanest wool grown, is sheared and made into flannel for Kodiak Shirts.

An exclusive cloth . . . and an exclusive garment that can never be made in quantity. Beautifully tailored—the body is cut in one seamless piece—the cut of the skirt preventing "stuffing" under the belt.

Truly a man's comfort shirt—equally desirable for outdoors or for lazy mornings at home . . . Find it here in your choice of colors—grey or tan.

SOCCER NEWS by TOM BIRKS

QUITE a little has been written recently regarding the abilities of Arnold Oliver, now a featured member of the J. & P. Coats eleven in the American League, by soccer writers. In fact, one of them stated in a recent article that Oliver was the best home-bred to appear in the professional league this season.

This news item has quite a local interest, for Oliver was classed as the star performer of the Defenders F. C. who met and defeated Heidelberg by a 1-0 score at Cleveland in 1925. It was Oliver, according to the writers from around Boston, who would score the goals to spell Heidelberg's defeat.

However, it will also be remembered that Oliver had a tough time with Joe Fagan. In fact, the Millers Run star never gave Oliver the least chance to show his shooting skill. But since that time Oliver has gone ahead with leaps and bounds, and by real ability in the strongest league in the country has made his mark. Goal-getting in the professional league down East is a real job, because of the first-class defensive aggregations practically all the teams sport.

Oliver might be the best home-bred forward developed for many a day in the American League, but local fans will remember that Mike Hookie did not go so good, but possibly did not get any help. Hookie is much faster than Oliver, shoots harder and shows better form in controlling the ball. Of course, we only saw Oliver in action once, and he should not be judged on that display. But Hookie and McCosky are by far better natural soccer forwards than Oliver.

Two boys who should enter soccer's hall of fame are two young Heidelberg boys—Fitz and Mass, in the Chartiers Valley League. These boys played in the first game on Sunday against Thoms Run, and lasted the 90 minutes. Then came the chance for the boys to show their stuff in big time soccer and they both accepted, playing in the second game against Heidelberg for Mustard Hollow.

Leading the defense against the national amateur champions for 90 minutes is a job that is seldom relished by older players, but to take part in one game and then stop the Donnelli combination is worthy of more than passing note.

This is the type of player that the Chartiers Valley League is producing. Valiani and Campbell have already made their mark in senior company, and when Fritz and Mass are ready to step out among the seniors their signatures will be sought by the best clubs in the district.

The appeals committee of the United States Football Association is coming in for some uncomplimentary remarks around the district because of the length of time it takes in handing down decisions. Two matters from this district have been before that body for a long time now, and no action seems to be forthcoming. It might be suggested that if this committee finds itself unable to get together within a reasonable time it should disband, and soccer's wheels of progress permitted to go along unhampered.

GRIDDERS MOURN COL. JOE

AMONG the countless Pittsburghers mourning the death of Col. Joseph H. Thompson are the members of the famous Pittsburgh Lyceum team, which was coached by Joe. Out of respect to their friend, many members of the old Lyceum team will visit the Thompson home in Beaver Falls tomorrow.

Hero in War And on Grid

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

NEWS of the death of Joe Thompson, hero of the battlefield and gridiron, which occurred early today at his home in Beaver Falls, Pa., has been received in the sport world with deep regret. Widely known in the nation's political and social circles, the famous Colonel won his first fame as a gridiron hero. The world of sport sincerely mourns the passing of the great soldier-athlete.

The military career of Joe Thompson is the most striking phase of his eventful life, but his athletic exploits are of such a nature as to provoke great admiration for the eminent Pennsylvanian.

It is no mere statement to say that Joe Thompson revolutionized the entire sport plan at the University of Pittsburgh. It was left for Joe to put the Panther in the big league of college endeavor, and those who were closest to him are the first to proclaim the truth of this contention.

Back in 1893, young Joe Thompson led several other sturdy athletes from Geneva College in Beaver Falls to the study room and campus of the Western University of Pennsylvania—three years later the present university received its name.

WENT TO GENEVA

Joe was engaged in carpenter work as he studied at Geneva. His desire for education was matched by his love for sport, so it was quite natural that we find him to have been an outstanding figure in football, basketball and track, being a star in the latter sport as a sprinter.

During his days as a football star at Geneva College, Thompson figured in a play that still is being discussed by old followers of the collegiate sport hereabouts. Geneva was playing Wash-Jeff at old Exposition Park, according to those familiar with the details, when, with the contest rapidly drawing to a close and the Presidents holding a slight lead, Thompson was given the ball and started what seemed to be a dash for the winning touchdown. Colonel Joe broke through the Wash-Jeff defense and headed for the goal line along the sideline, when it is said a Wash-Jeff substitute stepped on the field, while another took his place on the bench, and tackled the Geneva star just as the whistle blew. Since then it has been an unsettled debate of "who tackled Joe Thompson."

It was while Thompson was thus taken up with Geneva that he made close friendship with the lads who went with him to the bigger institution in Pittsburgh. Accompanying Joe when he reached the Blue and Gold campus were Jud Schmidt, Art McKean, Joe Edgar and Walter East, each of whom was a stellar athlete, there are some who insist that Jud Schmidt was the best backfield man Pitt has yet produced.

Jud was a big star in any event, and now he is Dr. A. E. Schmidt. Joe Edgar is Dr. D. J. Edgar and Art McKean is Attorney Arthur McKean. Walter East stayed in athletics in a professional way and became quite famous both as a football and baseball player.

Up to 1904, "WUP" on the grid was just a football team that stepped out to be smeared by Penn State, Wash-Jeff and other elevens. Joe and his gang certainly did put a stop to all that stuff. The jaunty State club of 1904 stepped out onto Exposition Park to take a sock at the Panther, but when the field was cleared the Pitt boys had made a walkaway of the contest.

"That's the first college football game I ever saw, and what a thriller it was!" said Karl E. Davis, prominent Pitt official, in touching on Thompson's career.

Davis, Dr. Charles B. Quailey and other Pitt boosters who were close to Joe cannot find words to express the affection they held for the colorful player and coach Thompson, according to Davis, was ahead of all coaches in the land in the point of making a club respond to a plea. Joe's eloquence in talking to a squad of athletes is something that is not to be forgotten.

When Thompson finished his course at Pitt he was not allowed to sever his connection with the school. The leadership qualities he displayed in changing the complexion of things athletically at Pitt were so pronounced that he was engaged as coach of the Panther squad.

NAMED PITT COACH

As director of the incoming athletes, Joe proceeded to rise to new heights. His knowledge of human nature was remarkable—perhaps it was this trait, exemplified in his playing and coaching, that helped to make him one of the most efficient and best-liked of the officers of the fighting division of the A. E. F.

Thompson's greatest team flashed on the gridiron of 1910. Built around the famous Tex Richards, who many say was the greatest fullback ever showing in Western Pennsylvania, the Panther team of that vintage went through the entire season without allowing an opponent as much as a safety! A rare achievement.

The 1910 team played nine contests, including the regular games with Wash-Jeff, Penn State, Carnegie Tech and West Virginia. The Pitt card at the finish of the season was: Panthers, 282; opponents, 0. There's a mark for future squads to duplicate.

While Thompson eventually stepped aside from the field of sports to follow other pursuits, including the military, he did not disassociate himself from athletic endeavor. Always ready to help the team of his choice, Joe was ever at the beck and call of his various successors on the big hill above Oakland.

One of the crowning events of Thompson's association with sports came after he returned from the battlefields of France. For some reason the Pitt authorities had been unable to schedule the University of Pennsylvania. Thompson got busy on the matter soon after he had been elected to the State Senate. It wasn't long until Penn was landed. And Joe always accompanied the Panther teams to Philadelphia for the annual fights. Perhaps the Pitt boys were a bit too keen for the Quakers—in all events, the scraps were eventually called off from the other side of the state.

Even on his sick bed, Col. Joe manifested exceptional interest in the doings of the Panther. The great football team developed by Jock Sutherland was a source of deep pleasure to Thompson.

Recently Karl Davis and Alex Stevenson called on Joe at his Beaver Falls home. One of the first things the ailing one inquired about was the championship Pitt basketball team. Joe was sorry he could not see the Panther tossers in action. He knew they must be good, for Thompson was a star at the game himself.

"BABY BANDITS" ROB, FLEE HAIL OF RIFLE SHOTS

AUTO RIDDLED AS YOUTHS ESCAPE

Refused cigarets because they were under 16, two "baby bandits" held up the confectionery store of Thomas O. Walley, at 3887 Bigelow boulevard, last midnight and carried off the cash register containing $5. With another companion, who had waited in an automobile in front of the store, the youths escaped amid a hail of rifle shots fired by Walley. The bullet-scared machine, a stolen one, was found abandoned, an hour later.

Walley told police that while he and his son, Albert, 15, were in the store, the boys entered and demanded cigarets. When he refused them, both drew revolvers, and one picked up the small cash register, ran to the street, and threw it into the automobile. The other youth followed and leaped into the car, which had been set in motion by a third boy.

Walley picked up a rifle from behind the counter, ran to the street, and fired four shots at the car. The machine was found in Wandless street, near Bedford avenue, with four bullet holes in the rear. It had been stolen late last night at Penn avenue and Eleventh street.

William H. Bradford, local manager for the Bell Telephone Company, explained tele-photography in an address yesterday before the members of the Credo Club of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania in the Chamber of Commerce. He used still and moving pictures in giving the demonstration.

P. O. Eitel, chairman of the membership committee, announced enrollment of 55 of the 200 new members being recruited. Chairman J. W. Thomas of the credit educational committee announced that a series of educational talks would be given over WCAE during March by well known credit executives.

C. R. STRATHERN DIES; FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral of Charles Ray Strathern, of 2612 Braddock avenue, Swissvale, who died yesterday in Belvedere Hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the First Christian Church of Braddock, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Waite. Interment will be in the Monongahela Cemetery, North Braddock.

Strathern, who served with the Naval Aviation Unit in France and England during the World War, was a prominent baseball player, and the son of the late Samuel B. and Sarah Jamison Strathern, long residents of Braddock. He was a member of the First Christian Church and Swissvale Lodge No. 585, F. & A. M. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Alice S. Hamilton, of Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Bess S. Finlayson, Munhall, and Sadie E. Strathern, at home, and a brother, Thomas R. Strathern, of Detroit.

BR'ER GROUNDHOG TO SEE SHADOW

Tomorrow, Grounghog Day, will be fair and cold, the Weather Bureau predicted today, with odds on the 'chuck seeing his shadow, symbol of six weeks more of winter.

Regardless of the 'chuck, winter will remain, Forecaster W. S. Bretzman said. Clear, cold weather prevails all the way to the Rockies. Tonight's low temperature will be between 15 and 20, he said.

Today's snow flurries swept down from the lake region, center of a low pressure area.

ARREST TWO BOYS FOR SLOT MACHINE THEFT

Possession of a money box from a nickel slot machine, containing $28.55, caused the arrest of William Jefferson, 19, of 221 Bloomfield avenue, and Paul Page, 20, no home, in West Ohio street early today. They were held over by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court when they could not explain where they got the box.

KENNEDY LOSES TRAVEL HONOR

Robert Wardrop, prominent Pittsburgh banker and the oldest director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, has replaced Presiding Judge R. A. Kennedy, of the County Court, as the champion commuter for the Central Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. Wardrop, who is chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank and vice president of the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, has been commuting between Pittsburgh and Sewickley 59 years. Judge Kennedy recently completed his fiftieth year as a commuter.

FAILS TO MAKE DEFENSE, BUT WINS CASE

James E. Shaner, a Homestead druggist, defendant in a suit for $1,500 commission alleged to be owed to M. B. Cain, a realtor, because of the alleged failure of Shaner to sell his store to prospective purchasers obtained by Cain, got a verdict without appearing to defend his case.

Judge Richard W. Martin was astounded when the sealed verdict was opened this morning and Clerk J. E. Jacobs read the decision, "We find for the defendant." Shaner, who formerly owned Shaner's pharmacy at Eighth and Ann street, Homestead, it was alleged by Cain, failed to carry out an agreement with him to sell his drug store for $17,000.

When the case was called for trial yesterday afternoon with Shaner and his counsel absent, Judge Martin ordered the trial to proceed. Attorney James F. Kane produced his witnesses. The court charged the jury and the 12 men and women retired, bringing in a sealed verdict after the court had adjourned for the day. Shaner had denied the allegations some time ago.

Being Husband Of Film Star Prince's Job

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb. 1.—(AP.)—In Europe, David M'Divani claims the title of Georgian Prince, but when arrested here on a speeding charge yesterday he gave his occupation as "husband."

M'Divani, who is 28 years old, is the husband of Mae Murray, the film star. He is a brother of Prince Serge M'Divani, who is the husband of Pola Negri, Polish film actress.

BEGIN FINAL LAKE CARGO ARGUMENTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Final arguments were begun today before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the lake cargo coal rate controversy, attorneys for southern railroads, which attempted to reduce lake cargo rates 20 cents per ton last summer and met with the opposition of northern producers, defended their project and argued for the right to put the lower schedules into effect.

W. S. Bronson, counsel for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, asserted that even after the reduction lake cargo rates "would be the highest that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad charges for transportation."

"It is perfectly evident that the lake cargo rate, after the reduction proposed by the Chesapeake and Ohio becomes effective," he said, "will produce a reasonable revenue for the road and will tend to support rather than hurt other traffic, since it will maintain the volume of transportation."

D. S. Younger, speaking for the Norfolk and Western, declared that the action to lower the rate had been an absolute business necessity.

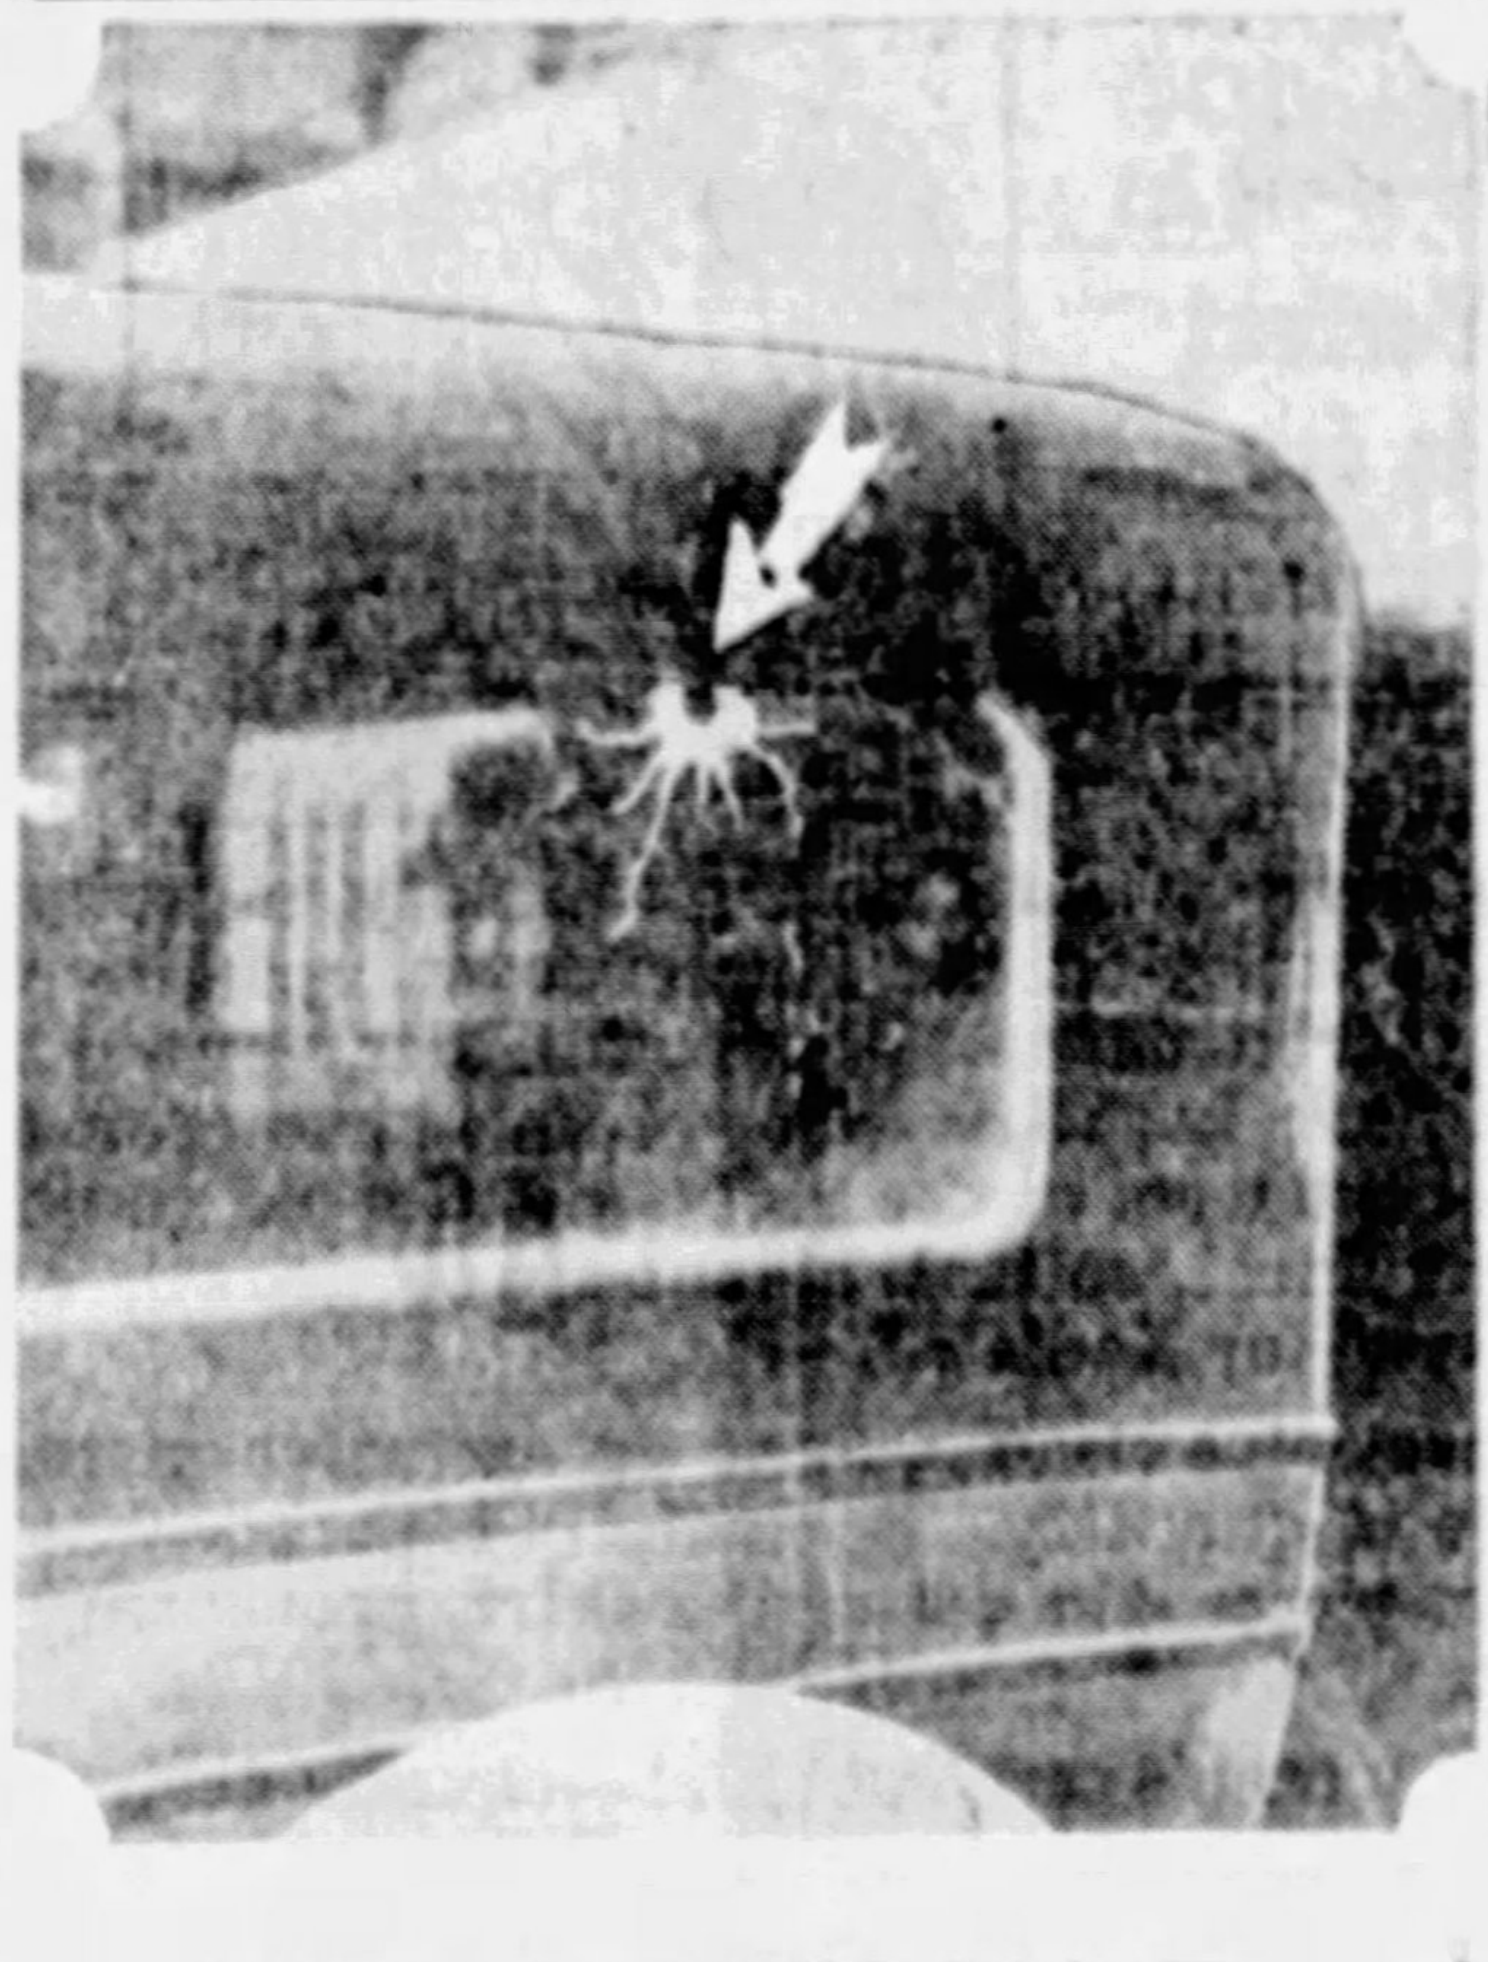
"It is certain that unless these roads are allowed to make this reduction to meet the reduction made by northern lines from northern producing territory," he said, "they will lose out in the attempt to maintain their volume of traffic. The step they have proposed to take is to restore the relationship between northern and southern lake cargo rates which existed prior to last summer and they feel that there is every justification and necessity for bringing about that restoration."

In readiness to follow the southern railroad representatives were attorneys for southern coal mine operators, while in opposition will be heard counsel for northern railroads and coal producers. The arguments will be concluded tomorrow.

SUBURB POLICE CHIEF QUITS

After more than 25 years' police service, W. J. Hazlett, chief of the Tarentum force, has resigned his position voluntarily so that a younger man may take over the direction of the force. Chief Hazlett will become a desk sergeant. In 1897 Hazlett was elected a constable and after 10 years in this capacity he became a policeman. After four years' service on the force he was made chief.

BABY BANDITS -:- ESCAPE VICTIM'S -:- RIFLE FIRE



BULLETS MISS HOLD-UP PAIR
A demonstration of plain and fancy shooting was exhibited to a pair of "baby bandits" last night after they held up the confectionery store of Thomas O. Walley, 3887 Bigelow boulevard, and were making their escape in a stolen car. After their departure, Walley shouldered a high-powered rifle to regain possession of his stolen till.

GOOD MARKSMANSHIP
The first shot from Walley's rifle pierced the left front tire. When this failed to stop the robbers Walley fired again, the second bullet going through the rear window and the windshield. A few inches lower and the shot would have been fatal. The picture shows Walley and son, Albert, 15, who, with his wife, were in the store when the holdup occurred.

ESCAPE UNDER RIFLE FIRE
The car was found a few hours later by police. It had been reported stolen. The holdup occurred when two boys entered the store and, after having been refused cigarettes by Walley, drew revolvers and commanded Walley to throw up his hands. Walley darted into another room and waited until the bandits departed before firing.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

THE Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, at its meeting in Philadelphia today, took steps that will put a stop to the disorder that has marred many boxing shows following the announcement of a disagreement between the judges.

Tony Canzoneri

Part of the crowd was generally thrown into an uproar when it was announced that the judges had disagreed.

And it didn't stop at a single outburst. There was a roar of disapproval from one side of the house when the announcement was made that one of the judges voted for one of the boxers; there was another "explosion" when the spectators where informed that the other judge had cast his award for the opposing fighter, and there was still further disorder when the referee's final decision was given out.

HOW to stop this was the problem that the commission faced and the outcome is a new way of announcing decisions at all future boxing shows in this state.

Commissioner Havey J. Boyle conceived the idea of doing away with all announcements about judicial disagreements. His plan was to have the announcer collect the slips of the two judges and the referee, and to withhold his bulletin to the crowd until he had first observed which fighter had been declared the winner, either by an agreement on the part of the judges or by the referee in the event that the judges had failed to agree.

Tris Speaker.

Hereafter the only announcement will be "a draw" or the name of the winner, and those fans who are inclined to become disorderly will not know whether there has been a disagreement or not.

Consequently, if the decision is unpopular, they will have no one in particular to "razz," and there will be only one outburst instead of two or three. How the judges voted can be published in the newspapers next day, when it is too late for any crowd disorder.

THE action was hastened by the near-riot at the Canzoneri-Nebo fight in Philadelphia Monday night.

When the announcement was made that a judge had cast his ballot

BILLIARDS ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS.)—In the future all national and international professional billiard tournaments in the United States, and also tournaments for state and city titles, will be held under auspices of the National Billiard Association of America. This organization, formed at the request of leading billiard players, goes into full control today. It will have jurisdiction over balkline, three-cushion and pocket billiard tourneys.

The innovation will put championship professional billiard players into the "big money" class. The first tournament under the control of the association will be held in Chicago, beginning March 5. It will be a national pocket billiard tourney.

A world's championship tournament will be held in October.

TAYLOR AND O'DOUL SIGN WITH GIANTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS.)—The New York Giants have received the signed contracts of Catcher Zack Taylor and Outfielder Lefty O'Doul, voted the most valuable player in the Pacific Coast League last year.

The Brooklyn Robins have signed Charlie Corgan and Leo Bader, infielders, and Pitcher Doug McWeeney.

ADD TO STADIUM

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Contractors will begin work on the addition to the left field section of the Yankee Stadium grandstand today. When the work is completed about July 1 the stadium's seating capacity will have been increased by 7,000 bringing it up to 80,000.

Bush's Brother Signs as Cub Pitcher

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Two Bushes, brothers, may see service on the pitching mound for the Chicago Cubs during the coming season.

Yesterday the Cubs signed Granville Bush, 20-year-old brother of Guy Bush, veteran of the Cubs' pitching staff. Granville is at present a student in a Mississippi military academy, and, according to Guy has the "stuff." Brother Guy's advance information reads: "He is taller and heavier than I: has longer arms and sure does know how to pitch; no foolin'."

SUCCUMBS IN HOME; BATTLED FOR LIFE

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Hughey Jennings is dead. After 35 picturesque years on the diamond and a career as a lawyer, followed by a long battle for health, the end came at 1:15 o'clock this morning in the city where he was once a breaker boy in the anthracite mines. He was 59 years old.

Captain of the famous old Baltimore Orioles, Hugh Ambrose Jennings later for 14 years was manager of the Detroit American League club which secured its only pennants, three, during his regime. He led the Tigers to championships in 1907, 1908 and 1909 and his "ee-yah" and pulling grass on the coaching lines delighted fans.

At the close of the 1920 season Jennings turned over the Detroit helm to Ty Cobb and became assistant manager of the New York Giants under John J. McGraw. Jennings came in for a big share of the praise for the success of the Giants during the succeeding campaigns. When the Giants annexed the National League championship in 1924 it was the seventh world series for Jennings. In his playing days he was first a shortstop, then a first baseman.

HEALTH FAILS

In 1925 Hughey's health failed and in the following spring he entered a sanitarium at Asheville, N. C., for treatment for tuberculosis. After about three months at the sanitarium he returned to his home in Scranton. Illness had obliged him to give up his duties as McGraw's assistant.

His last illness took a serious turn on Friday when he was stricken with meningitis. He became unconscious Sunday and except for brief intervals remained in a state of coma until he died.

Members of the family were gathered at his bedside at the time of death. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas F. McWilliams; a sister, Mrs. Edward Walsh, of Moosic, Pa., and two brothers, James, of this city, and Frank, of Pittston, Pa.

Jennings came to Scranton from the Pocono Mountains Friday to attend a meeting of the Traders Bank, of which he was a director. He had not missed a meeting of the board for 26 consecutive weeks.

COMMUNITY LEADER

Jennings had always taken an active interest in the civic, social and business life of the community. He was affiliated with the Knights of Columbus, the Elks, the Kiwanis Club and the Fox Hill Country Club. He was a member of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral and of the Holy Name Society. He also was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Arrangements for the funeral will be completed later today, it was stated by members of the Jennings family. Indications are that the funeral may be held Friday, but definite announcement will be made later.

Messages of sympathy and tribute arrived at the Jennings home today from all parts of the United States.

It was made known today that Jennings had planned to go back to his favorite baseball this year if his personal physician and friend, Dr. Martin T. O'Malley, approved. Jennings had received several offers to coach college teams and was about ready to accept one, when he was stricken last week, friends said.

Kremer Vindicates Buccaneer Scout

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

IT WAS "thumbs down" on Remy Kremer as he toiled uncomplainingly through five long summers in the Pacific Coast League. Famous scouts refused to O. K. the big Frenchman; they said he wouldn't do in the majors. And then Joe Devine, Boy Scout for the Pirates, stepped in, and, aided by the lamented Jack Miller, Remy was yanked out of exile.

Now let us see how Kremer has vindicated the judgment of Devine and Miller. Wiz rounded out his fourth season as a "big-timer" last season. Perhaps it would smack of fulsome praise to say that Kremer is the equal of the Alexanders, Johnsons, Vances, Hoyts, Pennocks and Shockers in that period. Yes, it

SAVED FROM BUSHES

Pitcher Ray Kremer, star of the Pirates, who was rescued from the minor leagues by Scout Joe Devine, who had confidence in his ability to make good despite the fact that other baseball wiseacres couldn't see Remy with field glasses. Kremer has more than justified Devine's judgment by turning in an unparalelled record for his four seasons under the Big Tent.

Will Pass On Otto Today

By JIM HURLEY,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Dr. Otto Peltzer, crack German sprinter, will learn today from the foreign relations committee of the A. A. U. whether or not he will be allowed to run in three races in this country without participating in the championships fostered by the A. A. U. in Madison Square Garden February 25.

The committee can do one of several things: Grant him permission to run as above, give him permission to run in three races with the assurance that it will try to obtain from the German Athletic Association a sanction for him to run in a fourth, or refuse to give him permission to run in this country at all.

TOWNSEND RIDDLES PHILLY REPORT

STOUT denial of announcements from Philadelphia that the Pittsburgh Hockey Club franchise and players of the National Professional League had been sold to the Arrows Club of Philadelphia was made today by Horace Townsend, president of Duquesne Garden.

Stories from Philadelphia quoted I. O. Wener, president, and George F. Sears, business manager of the club that represents that city in the Canadian-American League, as authority for the statement that the deal had been put through in Montreal last night.

"There is absolutely nothing to the report," Townsend said. "These rumors have been in circulation for some time, beginning with the report shortly after the death of my father, Henry Townsend, that Tex Rickard would step in and take over the Garden and the club. I have had no offer for the hockey franchise or players and am not in the market for any. There absolutely is no dicker under way for the sale or transfer of the club."

American League Card to Get OK. Today

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Ratification of the American League schedule and "a few things I have been talking over with Commissioner Landis," form the program of the annual spring meeting of the league today, President E. S. Barnard said yesterday.

Significant of the new regime in the league was the statement that matters discussed with Commissioner Landis were to be laid before the club owners.

The commissioner and President Barnard's predecessor, Ban Johnson, were at odds from the moment of Landis' appointment to supreme power in organized baseball.

TWO BASKETBALL ACES LOST TO ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, FEB. 1.—(AP.)—With eight Western Conference games remaining, the University of Illinois basketball hopes have been dealt a severe blow by semester examinations and illness.

The Illini captain, Everett (Swede) Olson, has been declared ineligible for further competition on account of grades while Bill Short is out for the remainder of the season because of illness. Both men play forward.

Northwestern at Urbana February 8 is the next game scheduled for the Illinois five.

JOE DEVINE, PIRATE SCOUT

KREMER'S RESCUER

Devine is a comparatively young man to be a successful major league baseball scout and they call him Daredevil Joe since his trick of uncovering Kremer as a winning pitcher when everybody was thumbs-downing the slabster.

BUCS TOP CANADIENS IN GREAT GAME

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—Continuing their fine play, which has brought them victories over Ottawa and Boston in recent games, the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a sparkling triumph over the Les Canadiens here last night, handing the Flying Frenchmen their fifth setback of the present season. The score of the game was 2-1.

The Buccos, who have been more or less downtrodden in the league race so far this season, rose to noble heights to down the Canucks last evening. The stellar goal tending of Roy Worters, Pittsburgh's half-pint tender, was the feature of the game. Cotton and Herb Drury scored the goals for the Buccos, Lepine tallying for the locals.

The first Pittsburgh score came in the second period when Cotton slipped the puck past Hainsworth,

YANKEES BEGIN WORK ON PARK ENLARGEMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(INS.)—Work will be started today on extension of the left field grandstand at Yankee Stadium which will increase the seating capacity of the stadium from 65,000 to 72,000. For boxing matches, the ball park will hold 100,000. The enlargements will be completed by July 1.

PENN GETS TITLE SWIM

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(INS.)—The national collegiate swimming meet has been awarded the University of Pennsylvania and will take place here March 20 and 21. This is the first time the event has ever been held in Philadelphia and will mark the appearance in the East of such star teams from the Middle West as Northwestern, Michigan and Illinois. Yale is one of the outstanding contenders in the East.

SPUG MYERS WINS

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Spug Myers, Pocatello, Idaho, 139 pounds, knocked out Frankie Osner of Indianapolis in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Myers led all the way.

CREE SKATERS DOWN OJIBWAY SEXTETTE, 6-5

The Cree Indian hockey team defeated the Ojibway tribesmen in an exhibition hockey encounter at Duquesne Garden last night by a score of 6 to 5.

The Indian skaters showed a lot of speed, but lacked the experience and skill in handling the puck and stick to make the game thrilling. They drew down more laughs from the spectators than cheers for their brilliancy of play.

MACK TO CONFER WITH TRIS SPEAKER

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, left for the South today, leaving word for the fans that he "may have an important announcement concerning Tris Speaker this week."

It is believed that Mack will get in touch with Speaker while in the South. Speaker officially becomes a free agent today.

ROOKIE HURLERS JOIN N. Y. GIANT RANKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Four recruit pitchers have signed contracts with the New York Giants for the 1928 drive, Secretary J. J. Tierney announced today. They are Chet Nichols, drafted from the Jersey City Internationals last fall; Arthur Johnson, a southpaw from Newark; Henry Boney and Ned Porter, former stars at the University of Florida.

Boney and Porter had tryouts previously with the Giants. Boney was sent to Newark last season, and Porter, to Birmingham.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

THE death early this morning of Col. Joe Thompson, famous Pitt football star and one of the most enthusiastic supporters of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, is being mourned by fans in all branches of sport.

While the Beaver Valley favorite won his greatest athletic fame as a member of the University of Pittsburgh football team, those who have followed basketball hereabouts for the last 30 years recall when Col. Thompson was regarded as one of the best collegiate forwards in this section of the country.

Col. Thompson, who started his athletic career at Geneva College, really was responsible for basketball at the Covenanter school. Starting out in 1900, Col. Joe was instrumental in organizing the first Geneva College floor machine, a team that met and defeated some of the strongest teams in this section of the country.

A BRILLIANT floor man and an excellent shot, Thompson, according to those who saw him in action, was easily one of the best forwards in local collegiate circles at that time. John D. Meyer, United States district attorney, and Samuel H. Gardner, Allegheny county district attorney, vividly recall Thompson's brilliant exploits on the pine court for they were his opponents on numerous occasions. Gardner was captain of the Grove City College quintet at the time, a college that has remained one of Geneva's closest rivals.

Possessing a thorough knowledge of the rules, Col. Thompson did not confine his basketball activities to active competition, being called upon on numerous occasions to referee some of the best attractions in this vicinity. Despite the fact that he was enrolled as a student at Geneva, Col. Joe's fairness was unquestioned by those who knew him and he often handled some of Geneva's toughest games with the mutual consent of its opponents.

THE Cleveland Rosenblums, a member of the American Professional League, will make its first appearance of the season in the Pittsburgh district tonight when they meet the crack McKeesport Cyclers on the latter's floor in the Tube City.

Eager to see Soups Campbell, former Homestead favorite, in action with the big leaguers, several hundred Pittsburgh basketball fans will make the trip to the Tube City tonight.

The Cyclers have been going at a rapid clip throughout the season, losing only two games, one to the Philadelphia Club of the American League and the other to the Enoch Rauhs of the Allegheny County League. The members of the Cyclers are well acquainted with the Rosies' style of play, as they met virtually the same club here several years ago while serving under the colors of the Pittsburgh Morrys.

Including Husta, Hickey, Hanson and several other noted pros in their lineup, the Rosenblums should pack the spacious Y. M. C. A. floor tonight.

ONE of the staunchest supporters of the Duquesne Lafayettes is John J. Davis, vice president and treasurer of the Duquesne Trust Company, a man who made possible the appearance of the Allegheny County League champions in league competition this winter.

A strong supporter of basketball, Davis came to the rescue this year when the Lafayettes found themselves without financial support in outfitting the team. Davis not only furnished the cash for the purchase of new uniforms, but has made it his policy to attend all home games staged by the Lafayettes.

That the Lafayettes appreciate the support given them by their supporters was easily shown by the manner in which they went through the first round of the County League schedule, winning the championship with points to spare. They stand an excellent chance of repeating in the second round, judging by their showing to date.

The Lafayettes owe much of their success to men like Mr. Davis, a supporter who always is ready to contribute to the operating expenses of the club.

DRIBBLES

Jersey (Peter) Siegle, former star of the A. P. Moores and this year with the Protected Home Circle team of Sharon, has been signed by the Somermans of the P. & O. League and will play against the Siane Club tomorrow night.

Leo Carroll has been given his unconditional release by the Goose Goslin Club of the Allegheny County League. Carroll, a veteran of local basketball, asked to be released from his contract.

The Braddock-Butler Allegheny County League game, scheduled for Saturday, has been brought forward to tomorrow. The game is scheduled at Butler.

Kaufmanns meets Duquesne Light and Hornes opposes Carnegie Steel in the two C. & I. League games scheduled at Fifth Avenue High School tonight.

HOCKEY

Canadien goalie, who missed the disc completely. Both teams were checking close, and this prevented any further score in the period. The first frame had been uneventful.

In the final period, both quintets battled hard, the Bucs to hold their lead and the Canadiens to even the score. After a series of snappy attacks, Lepine took a pass from Morenz and drove the rubber past Worters to tie the score.

It was the only time that the Buc goalie slipped, for after that, he continued to turn aside the murderous drives of the Canadiens, and finally, his perseverance was rewarded when Drury snapped White's rebound into the net to give the Pirates another goal and the game.

The Pirates are now a bit closer to a play-off berth, having pulled up to within three games, six points, of the Detroit Cougars. The Pittsburgers will leave for home today and will meet the New York Rangers on their home ice at Duquesne Garden tomorrow.

LAW CHECKS CANUCKS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 1—(AP.)—Four members of the Kansas City club of the American Hockey Association were temporarily detained by United States immigration officers at Pembina, N. D., yesterday.

Fight Card Is Completed

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

THE complete card for the boxing show in Motor Square Garden next Monday night was announced today by Matchmaker Johnny Ray.

Instead of consisting of four eight-round bouts, as previously announced, the bill will be made up of a 10-round windup, an eight-round semi-final and two six-round preliminaries.

Sandy Seifert, local heavyweight, and Battling Levinsky, former American light-heavyweight champion, will meet in the main event and Garfield Johnson and Kid Crutchfield, local Negro rivals, will box the semi-final.

For the second bout, Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, has been substituted for Phil Scello, of McKeesport, as the opponent of Nick Susnell, Rochester, Pa., welterweight. Scello is suffering from a bad ear and had to call off the match.

Jimmy Delmont, Braddock lightweight, and Johnny Powers, of Clairton, just out of the Navy, will box the opener.

Footie Zeinack, of Glassport, and Lou Terris, of New Kensington, have been matched for a six-round bout on the McKeesport boxing card tomorrow night. Garfield Johnson and Frankie Monahan, light-heavies, are the main-bouters.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, boxes Al Bryant, who holds two victories over Bobby Garcia, at Newark, N. J., next Monday night. Phil defeated Young Tiernan at Holyoke, Mass., last Monday night.

JENNINGS

and by the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1909.

Jennings remained a colorful, though not successful manager, for 11 years thereafter, being finally succeeded by his greatest star, the only Ty Cobb. However, Hughey had the satisfaction of managing a resplendent host of stars during his days at Detroit, the list, in addition to Cobb, including Sam Crawford, Donie Bush, George Moriarty, present manager of the club; Bob Veach, the late Bill Donovan, Charley O'Leary, Bobby Lowe, Matty McIntyre, Davy Jones, Harry Heilman, George Mullin, "Hack" Schmidt, Oscar Stanage and many others.

In his days on the playing field, Jennings attained almost as much fame as he did as a manager. He was the shortstop of the old Baltimore Orioles of Ned Hanlon, the club that featured John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson, Brodie, Joe Kelley, Dahlen, Willie Keeler, McGann and others. Subsequently Jennings "lost" his arm and put in a few years at first base, one of them with the Phillies and several more with Brooklyn, then the National League champion.

When Bill Armour was dropped at Detroit Jennings stepped into the breach. He remained for some 14 years and, after being superceded by Cobb, got a job as coach of the Giants under the auspices of his old friend, McGraw. That was in the spring of 1921. He lasted until the end of the 1925 season, when tuberculosis claimed him and he was forced to retire to a sanitarium at Asheville, N. C.

He returned in greatly improved health during the 1926 season, but did not resume his connection with baseball.

Jennings was a graduate of Cornell University and practiced law in his home town of Scranton, Pa., until his health failed. He was born in the mining village of Moolie, Pa., on April 2, 1871.

"HUGHEY INSPIRATION"—TY

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 1—(AP.)—"Baseball has lost one of its most constructive forces in the death of Hughey Jennings." Ty Cobb, who played under Jennings for many years as a member of the Detroit team, said today when informed of his death.

KREMER

might seem to be an over-statement of the facts. Well, what would you think if Kremer were nominated as the best pitcher in the game since he reached the majors?

Let the reader judge after hearing some details of the belated major-league career of one of the smartest pitchers that ever graced a Pirate uniform.

As a part of this article you will see a "box" giving the records of the topnotch pitchers of the game since the invasion of the unobstrusive Frenchman. M. Kremer, you will observe, rests quite becomingly at the top.

Remy has won 74 and lost 32 battles for the honor and glory of the Pirates. In percentage of victories, he leads Vance, Pennock, Meadows, Johnson, Alexander, Coveleskie, Shocker, Ruether and Hoyt. Ol' Dazmarine is the only one of the stars to show a better "earned-run" average, and Kremer was just about as stingy in the matter of runs as The Dazzler. Alexander and Kremer are deadlocked in this respect, their mark being within a whisper of Vance's.

Moreover, Kremer has been a tremendous force in the winning of two flags and one world championship. Aside from his outstanding skill, the Frenchman is ever ready to go to the mound. He tried to pitch at times last season when he should have been kept off his injured leg.

Devine, one of the youngest of baseball scouts, knew more about Kremer than the veterans who had been passing up Remy. "Dare-Devil Joe" they call him now, partly on account of the Kremer case, yet Devine is a careful scout who rarely sends up a boy who does not stay.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

for a certain boxer in a preliminary bout, a woman ringsider rose and struck the judge on the head with a tightly rolled newspaper, her notion being followed by such a wild demonstration against both judges that Chairman Frank Wiener lifted the pair and put in two new ones for main bout.

Incidentally the latter two disagreed also and the referee called the fight a draw.

No doubt disagreements will continue to be as numerous as ever, but the new plan will prevent a great deal of disorder and help the game greatly.

Bill McKechnie

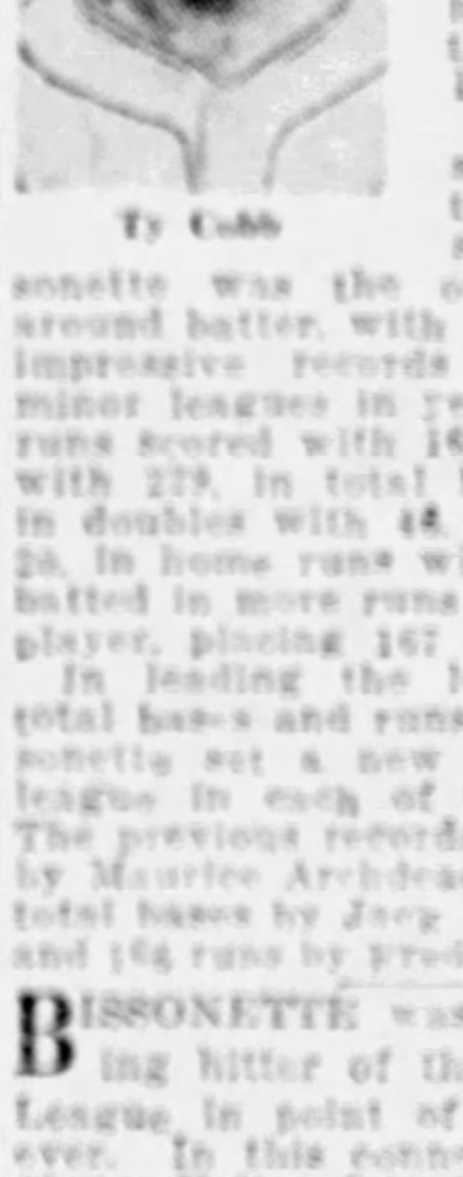
WHETHER Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb remain in baseball or not, it is pretty certain that they are not going to be seen in the National League. It is equally certain that neither will receive a sum even approaching last year's salary.

At the time Connie Mack expressed a desire to sign Speaker on reasonable terms, it was also reported that "Spoke" might land with the St. Louis Nationals. That neither Manager Bill McKechnie nor the chief owner of the club desires him, however, is made clear in a statement by President Sam Breadon. "I am not going to try to sign Speaker because I do not think it would be good business to do so," said Breadon. "We have plenty of center field material and it is questionable if Speaker will get off the bench frequently for us if we did sign him."

"TOO much salary" is the main objection all around to signing either Speaker or Cobb. It has been demonstrated that neither is as strong a drawing card as was figured, and that neither will pull the fans through the gates in numbers large enough to pay his salary unless his club is up in the race.

After all, that is the real answer all the time in baseball. A winning club that is in the fight will draw well no matter who is playing on it. Babe Ruth is the only individual performer who can bring out the customers when his team is not in the thick of the pennant fight.

THE weak offense that caused the Brooklyn club to finish in the obscurity of the National League's second division last year in spite of their having the strongest defense in the circuit, will be bolstered considerably for the season of 1928 if Del Bissonette, the Robins' new first baseman from Buffalo, is able to keep up in the majors a pace anything like that which he maintained in the International League.



Ty Cobb

Official averages for 1927 in that circuit show that Bissonette was the outstanding all-around batter, with one of the most impressive records made in the minor leagues in years. He led in runs scored with 168, in hits made with 229, in total bases with 408, in doubles with 46, in triples with 20, in home runs with 31, and also batted in more runs than any other player, placing 167 to his credit.

In leading the league in runs, total bases and runs batted in, Bissonette set a new record for the league in each of those divisions. The previous records were 166 runs by Maurice Archdeacon in 1921, 397 total bases by Jack Bentley in 1921, and 164 runs by Fred Merkle in 1923.

BISSONETTE was not the leading hitter of the International League in point of average, however. In this connection the Allegheny Valley friends of Al Tyson, who played for the Allegheny Steel team at Tarentum for some time, will sympathize with Tyson in the unlucky break he experienced in being beaten out by a single point. Tyson batted .375 for Buffalo, but Dick Porter of Baltimore nosed him out for the league leadership with a mark of .376.

THE record made by Andy Cohen, Buffalo infielder, probably will prove of more than ordinary interest to the fans by reason of the fact that he will be with the Giants this year, and may be chosen to fill the second-base vacancy caused by the trading of Rogers Hornsby.

Andy Cohen

Cohen had a big year in the International and his figures say a great deal for his ability. In 155 games he scored 90 runs and made 196 hits for a total of 281 bases. His safe blows included 34 doubles, 5 triples and 14 home runs; he made 20 sacrifice hits, drew 22 bases on balls and struck out 15 times.

The one weak spot in his record is the fact that he stole only three bases, but in a general sense his record warrants a thorough trial for him in the Giants' spring camp.

TIGERS TRADE COLLINS

DETROIT, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Rip Collins, right-hand pitcher of the Detroit American League baseball club, has been traded to the Toronto team of the International League for Vic Sorrel, another right-handed hurler, it was announced here today. No cash or other player considerations were involved in the deal.

RACING BILL PLACED BEFORE VIRGINIA SENATE

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 1—A bill providing for the establishment of a racing commission and the pari-mutuel method of betting on horse races in Virginia was introduced in the Virginia Senate yesterday afternoon.

It is expected the measure will meet with considerable opposition. Another measure pending in the Legislature is to legalize Sunday baseball and golf. It is being opposed by ministerial associations.

Dukes Walloped By Westminster

By JESS CARVER.

IT had been a long, long time, so it had, up until last night, since Duquesne University had been pasted about and snowed under in a basketball game. In fact, during the past few years, or since the Campbell and the present Davies regime, the only time there was real news connected with a Duquesne game was when the Dukes lost. But this has been changed now—at least it was last night. Westminster lived up to its reputation of having a crackerjack team by romping over the Dukes for a 43-18 win in a crucial Conference contest, before the largest crowd that ever saw a college game in the Duke gym.

As a result of having downed the Dukes in such a decisive fashion, Westminster now looms as the probable Conference champion. Indeed, after seeing the Blue and White passers outclass Duquesne last night, there were many perfectly willing to hand the United Presbyterians the Conference trophy then and there. The Westminster varsity now leads in the Conference race with four victories and no defeats.

Westminster did everything right last night, while the Dukes did many things wrong. Led by the brilliant floor play of Capt. Tudor Lewis and Babe O'Donovan, the United Presbyterians profited from the start through Sparky Connor's fine work at center, and rushed off to a commanding lead. They were never behind, and always had at least a three-point lead.

SOME CUT!

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(INS.)—The University of Pennsylvania freshman baseball nine will play only one game this spring, according to an announcement today of the council on athletics. This is understood to be the first step of a move to curb freshman athletics. Usually the team plays 12 games, but this year Cornell only will be met.

PARSONS LOSES AT MIAMI

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 1.—A first round without upsets in the Miami Beach amateur golf championship over the new LaGorce course ended yesterday with Atlanta, New York, Chicago, Miami and Pottsville, Pa., still represented in the first flight.

Jimmy West of Atlanta, medalist of the tourney, had the most difficult struggle, when he was carried to four extra holes to edge out a victory over A. C. Phillips of Miami Beach.

C. A. Roberts, New York Golf Club, won his match from Donald Parsons of Youngstown, O., three and two, and Douglas Casey of Glenview Country Club, Chicago, eliminated W. W. Fisher of Kahkura Club, Erie, Pa., five and four.

Fred Tod, steel manufacturer of Youngstown, O., laid T. W. Palmer, defending champion, three stymies on three short holes, and even went so far as to lay the champion two stymies on the same hole, but Palmer won out, five and four.

Heavyweight Ballyhoo

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Jack Dempsey still hopes to fight again. He said this today in denying a report that he would quit the ring to become the manager of Armand Emanuel, promising young local heavyweight.

ZERO HOUR AT HAND

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 1.—Tex Rickard will announce today or tomorrow his plans for Gene Tunney's defense or defenses of his heavyweight title this year. It is believed the program will call for a fight in June with the winner of the heavyweight series and then a third bout with Jack Dempsey in September.

Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, arrived here today and immediately went into a huddle with Gene, after which they were to confer with Rickard.

DENY BUC SALE

—I. O. Wener, president of the Philadelphia Arrows Ice Hockey Club of the Canadian-American League, today announced the purchase of the franchise and players of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Hockey League. The deal was completed last night in Montreal.

The purchase price was not disclosed, but it is reported a franchise in the National League alone is worth $50,000.

EFFECTIVE NEXT SEASON

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—(AP.)—The Pittsburgh franchise in the National Professional Hockey League has been sold to the interests owning the Philadelphia Arrows in the American-Canadian League, but whether the Pittsburgh team will be brought to Philadelphia next year depends upon the patronage received by the Arrows during the remainder of the present season here.

This was made known today by George F. Sears, business manager of the Arrows, who said that $50,000 had been paid for the Pittsburgh franchise.

SEWELL BOYS JOIN RANKS OF HOLDOUTS

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1. — (AP.) — Joe and Luke Sewell, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., shortstop and catcher, respectively, have refused the contracts tendered them by the Cleveland Baseball Club, President Alva Bradley announced today.

MOLLA, GOSS REST

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Molla Mallory and Miss Eleanor Goss who gained the quarter-finals of the Womens' Invitation tennis tournament at the Heights Casino Monday, rested yesterday, while six other players joined them. Mrs. Mallory and Miss Goss are expected to meet in the finals.

THURSTON SHARES -:- TRUCKLOAD OF FOOD -:- WITH MINERS' FAMILIES

HOT COFFEE!

Howard Thurston, the magician, took a truckload of food to the suffering women and children at Acmetonia and being hungry himself, after the long ride from Pittsburgh, took "pot luck" with them in the barracks.

GOOD HOME COOKING

The magician's charming wife and beautiful daughter, Jane, accompanied Thurston on his relief expedition. They were just as hungry as the magician and thoroughly enjoyed the meal hastily prepared in their honor by Mrs. McGinley. Before the Thurstons arrived, groceries were scarce in the barracks.

FOOD FOR RUSSELLTON

Three big trucks carried the groceries into Russellton where hundreds of women and children expressed their thanks for the magician's thoughtfulness. The big stock of provisions was turned over to representatives of the Central Relief committee for equal distribution among needy families at both Mine No. 1 and No. 2, at Russellton. Thurston gives a benefit performance in the Pitt Theater tomorrow afternoon, all proceeds to go to relief of needy miners' families.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—Following is the official list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (000 omitted in sales column in bond list):

STOCKS.

Local Stocks in January

Total transactions on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange last month exceeded 242,000 shares of stocks, the largest monthly turnover since last March when the volume rose slightly above 135,000 shares. The bulge last month was due to the heavy dealings in Carnegie Metals of which more than 157,000 shares changed hands. Eight new high records were established during the month while three issues sold at new lows for all time. Following is the official summary of sales recorded during January:

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The movement of fruit and vegetables was rather slow today at the local wholesale produce district. All vegetables were sold at about unchanged quotations. The fruit market was dull. Grapefruits were somewhat higher in price.

Poultry was in liberal supply and the market was easy. The demand was slow and the quotations were unchanged.

The quotations on white and brown fresh selected eggs and current receipts were much lower, a decrease of 7c per dozen taking effect. The butter and cheese markets were firm. No change was made in the quotations.

Carlot supplies were fairly liberal, a total of 505 cars being on track. Arrivals included 5 cars of apples, 3 cabbage, 1 carrots, 20 celery, 6 grapefruit, 2 lemons, 4 lettuce, 2 onions, 1 peppers, 1 spinach, 8 potatoes, 14 sweet potatoes, 2 tomatoes and 1 turnips.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Another new low record for the season was established in the raw sugar market early today, when prices declined 1-32c under increased offerings. Sales at the decline were 15,000 bags of Cuban to an operator for first half February shipment at 4.30c, duty paid.

Raw sugar futures opened steady at 1 point decline to 2 points advance on covering and a little European buying, but continued weakness in the spot market attracted increased offerings and all the early gains were lost. The principal selling seemed to come from houses with trade and Cuban connections, and at midday the list was 1 to 2 points net lower.

The refined sugar market was unchanged at 5.80c for fine granulated, but business was light, with buyers inclined to limit operations, owing to the further reaction in the raw market.

Mr. E. F. Albee, President of the Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation, has summarized in part his letter regarding the Corporation as follows. Copies of this letter may be had from the undersigned upon request:

BUSINESS

"The proposed consolidation of the Keith-Albee and the Orpheum interests will unite the two leading factors which have developed vaudeville from its beginning, each in a distinct territory. In almost all of the houses programs comprising both vaudeville and motion pictures are now presented. The uniting of these two circuits will form a great chain of theatres, in both the United States and Canada, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coasts, and will provide a single vaudeville booking office for these as well as independently owned theatres.

The theatres in which the two circuits have an interest, can play to over 1,000,000 persons daily. The two booking agencies furnish the vaudeville entertainment for a majority of the higher class vaudeville theatres in the United States and Canada.

ORGANIZATION

The Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation has been recently incorporated to acquire all of the outstanding stock of the B. F. Keith Corporation, Greater New York Vaudeville Theatres Corporation and the Vaudeville Collection Agency, at least 80% of each class of stock of the B. F. Keith-Albee Vaudeville Exchange (which four Corporations are referred to as the Keith Companies), and at least 80% of the common stock of the Orpheum Circuit Inc.

THE KEITH & ORPHEUM COMPANIES

The Keith Circuit, founded in 1883 with one theatre, now numbers 46 theatres owned or leased by wholly-owned subsidiaries, of which 18 are owned in fee (including three under construction) and 28 are leased (including four under construction), and in addition 115 theatres owned, leased or operated by companies in which the B. F. Keith Corporation owns varying amounts of stock. In 19 of the latter theatres it has a stock interest of 50% or more. This chain of theatres extends from Eastern Canada south as far as Washington, D. C., and Louisville, and west to Detroit and Indianapolis.

Among the more important theatres owned in fee by wholly-owned subsidiaries are the following, with their respective seating capacities: Fordham (2391), Coliseum (3107), and Franklin (2951), in New York; Albee (3241) and Prospect (2433), in Brooklyn; Keith-Albee (1935) in Washington; and Keith's (2600) in Ottawa.

The fifty theatres owned or leased by the subsidiary and affiliated companies of Orpheum Circuit Inc. have a total seating capacity of approximately 112,000. Among these are fourteen theatres which are owned in fee, and five theatres owned on leased land, by wholly-owned subsidiary companies. These include the Golden Gate (2800) at San Francisco, Hillstreet (3000) at Los Angeles, New Orpheum (2600) at Seattle, Mainstreet (3000) at Kansas City, Hennepin-Orpheum (3000) at Minneapolis, and New Orpheum (3000) at Omaha.

Among the thirty-one theatres under lease by subsidiary or affiliated companies of the Orpheum Circuit Inc. are the following leased by wholly-owned subsidiaries, each of which has between 2350 and 3200 seats: the New Palace, State-Lake and Belmont in Chicago, the Palace and the Granada in South Bend, and the New Orpheum theatres in Los Angeles, Springfield, Ill., Madison, Sioux City, and Vancouver, B. C.

EARNINGS AND ASSETS

The combined earnings of the Keith Companies and Orpheum Circuit Inc., and their predecessor and subsidiary companies, exclusive of earnings applicable to stock of B. F. Keith-Albee Vaudeville Exchange and preferred stock of Orpheum Circuit Inc. not proposed to be acquired by the new Corporation, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., after the adjustments enumerated in their certificate attached to the President's letter, were as follows:

Year Ended Dec. 31	Combined Earnings as above	Times Pfd. Div. Req.
1922	$1,357,546.71	1.9
1923	3,130,625.90	4.4
1924	3,921,633.02	5.6
1925	3,734,025.35	5.3
1926	3,813,104.89	5.4
Eight Months Ended Aug. 31, 1927	1,924,865.44	4.1

While final audited figures are not yet available, the management estimates that the combined earnings for the calendar year 1927, computed in the same manner as the earnings above, were approximately $2,600,000, or 3.7 times the preferred dividend requirement. The decrease in earnings in 1927 from the earnings of 1926 is attributable to certain abnormal conditions that obtained during the last year, which are not expected to continue or recur.

With the consolidation of the two groups of companies, and the many advantages and savings expected to result therefrom, the operation of a larger number of the theatres of the Circuit with a policy of combining vaudeville and motion pictures at popular prices, the carrying out of other plans and policies designed to meet new developments in the business, and the additional profits anticipated from nine new theatres opened during the last half of 1927, and nine new theatres expected to be completed during the present year, there is every reason to believe that the earnings of the Keith-Albee-Orpheum Companies will show a substantial increase in this and following years.

The new Corporation's consolidated balance sheet as of August 31, 1927, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., after giving effect to the transactions therein referred to, shows net assets of $31,859,236 or over $318 per share of Convertible Preferred Stock."

*It is anticipated that all or substantially all of the common stock of Orpheum Circuit Inc. now outstanding will be acquired by the new Corporation and all calculations in this advertisement have been based upon the assumption that the acquisition of the entire outstanding common stock will be effected. In the event that less than the entire common stock of Orpheum Circuit Inc. now outstanding is acquired by the new Corporation, the proportionate net assets and earnings of Orpheum Circuit Inc. applicable to the holdings of the new Corporation in that Company and the amount of outstanding Common Stock of the new Corporation will be reduced accordingly.

Application will be made to list both the Preferred and Common Stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price $101 Per Share and Accrued Dividend

In connection with the above we are also offering a limited amount of Common Stock

This offering is made in all respects, when, as and if issued and delivered to and accepted by us and subject to the approval of our counsel. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for, and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. It is expected that delivery of temporary stock certificates or of interim receipts will be made on or about February 14, 1928, at the office of Lehman Brothers, 16 William Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

Oakland Ready to Pay So Watch City Grow.

—By B. C. FORBES—

OAKLAND, CAL., Jan. 31.—Gene Tunney remarked the other day that, given the requisite natural talents, a man could reach the very top if—and the "if" is important—he were willing to pay the price, the full price, to develop his talents.

Oakland has the necessary natural qualifications to become a towering metropolis and—equally vital—she is demonstrating unmistakably that she is prepared to pay the necessary price in effort, in enterprise, in stick-to-itiveness, in temporary self-sacrifice.

Watch this city's growth during the next 10 years.

TRANSPORTATION makes civilization. Great cities of the past usually were seaports located near the mouths of mighty rivers. Great cities of to-day, too, must develop the finest transportation facilities, not only by water but by land.

And the great cities of tomorrow must needs add to this the finest and fullest facilities for transportation by air.

DID you know that Oakland has an 825-acre flying field which Lindbergh characterized as unsurpassed in America and surpassed by only one airport in Europe? Naturally, this vast, perfectly flat, wholly unobstructed, ideally-equipped field, with its 1,000,000-candle-power light, has been designated the official air mail base for this section of the country. The government, the army, the Navy, see in this airport a possession of incalculable potential value, looking to the future and to all the uncertainties which the future always holds in store for nations as well as for individuals.

THE thing that impressed me most was not the magnitude of Oakland's airport nor the busy coming and going of airships, but the crowds and crowds of people who kept constantly arriving. They displayed insatiable interest in the many different makes of planes, in the hangars, in the field, in the monster electric device that turns darkness into noonday light, in the arriving mail planes and pilots. And there were applicants galore for flights.

Manifestly the people of Oakland have already become air-minded.

And that is something no city can buy. Oakland might have spent millions on providing the material things that go to make a flying field, but if the citizens, the taxpayers, had remained indifferent, unresponsive, cold, the project would have languished and ended in failure.

WHAT I have been witnessing here has made me feel rather ashamed of being a New Yorker. It has made me feel that, after all, there may be much truth in the accusation that New Yorkers are terribly provincially minded, self-satified, blind often to the vital realities of American fundamentals, American progress, American life.

If a New Yorker goes up in the air for 10 minutes, or if he has flown from London to Paris, he brags and struts, poses as something of a hero. Here a spin in the air is regarded as commonplace.

Being a New Yorker, with, I suppose, all of the typical New Yorker's provinciality, I have still to make my first flight. After what I have been seeing, I am almost persuaded to become a flying fan—why, I saw a 4-year-old getting into the cockpit for his fourth trip.

IF New York hopes to retain her metropolitan dominance it is imperative that she hasten to become air-minded.

Unquestionably the city that long lags behind in this respect will hurt its progress and its prestige. Superior transportation facilities are just as essential today, and will be tomorrow, to civic leadership as they have been all through civilized history. That city which lacks adequate, properly equipped, conveniently located flying fields will be as seriously handicapped in the future as is the traveling salesman of today who is without an automobile to compete with the salesman who daily uses a car.

I STARTED to write about what makes cities great, but I flew off at a tangent, so to speak. Consequently I'll have to postpone talking about what is needed in front, in back and inside of a modern city to insure its sound, healthy, permanent growth.

DRIVE ON RAILS TURNS STOCKS REACTIONARY

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—Renewal of selling pressure against the railroad shares, presumably in reflection of the disappointing December railroad statements now being published, turned the course of prices reactionary today after an early period of quiet strength. Trading, which had been dull on the rally, quickened perceptibly when large selling orders appeared in some of the popular issues. A 3-point break in Western Maryland common started the selling movement.

Publication of the unfavorable quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation apparently had been fairly well discounted, and traders appeared more interested in the further increase in the mill operations of the corporation to around 89 per cent of capacity. Talk of a further advance in sheet prices also was a bullish factor. Steel common opened a point lower, but had recovered the loss by mid-day.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, as against 5 yesterday, and the plentiful supply available at that figure aroused hopes of a further decrease before the end of the week. Some encouragement also was seen in the fact that the daily average of crude oil production last week was the smallest since 1926, although this was offset by a poor Marland oil report, which showed a large deficit.

Public utilities displayed a strong undertone in the face of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee's decision to recommend an investigation of public utilities doing an interstate business. Laclede Gas jumped 8 points, Detroit Edison 6½ and several others moved up 2 to 4 points before the market turned reactionary. Montgomery-Ward advanced 2 points to a new record high at 132, but quickly lost its gain. Studebaker and Packard also recorded good gains in the early trading.

Rails sold off 1 to 2 points, with the eastern carriers the hardest hit.

625 COKE OVENS TO BE FIRED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 1—The H. C. Frick Company today ordered 350 ovens fired at Lemont and 275 at Standard. Resumption of coal mining was ordered at Trotter. All have been idle for several months.

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED BY PROSPECTIVE FARES

When Steve Parrish, a cab driver, of 316 Winston street, stopped to pick up two Negroes who hailed him in Bedford avenue, near Washington place, at 5:30 o'clock this morning, the prospective fares drew revolvers and robbed him of $9.60. The two fled before Parrish could summon aid. He reported the hold-up to police.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Steel Statement Discounted.

The stock market swallowed the unfavorable earnings statement of the United States Steel Corporation without a tremor this morning. The strength displayed by the list was not surprising, however, as the general opinion in trading circles was that the poor showing of the steel corporation represented "water over the dam" and that the statement had been discounted to a large extent. Steel common was firm around 146, practically unchanged. Principal sustaining power was derived from the motor division, where leading issues pushed upward, probably in anticipation of the expected record earning of General Motors for the year 1927. These figures are due for publication momentarily. Metal issues were also strong and the upward movement in Montana Power continued. Scattered specialties added to the encouragement provided by the motor group. American Can was prominent, as were Midland Steel Products, Gold Dust, National Cash Register and a half dozen others. Oils fought doggedly against the selling induced by the heavy cut in Pure Oil dividends. The latter opened off three points at 19, but there was apparently a good buying power underlying the market. Subsequent dealings carried it up two points from the opening.

Inland Earned $5.16 on Common.

Inland Steel Company reports for the year ended December 31 net income after charges and estimated federal taxes of $6,606,591, equal after preferred dividends to $5.16 a share, compared with net of $7,147,794 or $5.45 a share on the common in 1926. A special meeting of Inland Steel stockholders to approve the consolidation with Youngstown Sheet and Tube has been called for March 15. Directors have approved the tentative contract.

Important Louisiana Gas Well.

Considerable importance is attached by oil interests to the 10,000,000 cubic foot gas well brought in by Gulf Refining Company of Louisiana, subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corporation, in section 14-10-4, East, Ascension parish, La. This well is farther east than any oil or gas producer in Louisiana, being only 14 miles west of Lake Ponchartrain and practically within New Orleans district. It is known as McElroy No. 3, is 1,446 feet deep and is on a dome located by seismograph.

Glass Demand Spotty.

A spotty demand is reported by manufacturers of flat glass. Reductions in prices, such as were put into effect in the latter part of 1927, were never conducive to increasing demand. The upturn in automobile manufacturing, along with encouraging reports from the construction industry, presages a livelier market with the coming spring months. Manufacturers of automobiles are beginning to order plate glass in an increased amount.

Armstrong Cork Slumps.

A sharp drop in Armstrong Cork shares were recorded on the local curb today with the stock selling down to 210 as compared with a price of 250 a few days ago. Company's earnings for 1927 are expected to show a decline of about 10 per cent from those of the preceding year. The recent upturn in the shares was attributed to the anticipated splitup of the stock on a four-for-one basis rather than to any development affecting actual operations.

PRICES NARROW, VOLUME SMALLER IN LOCAL MART

EARLY TRADING QUIET HERE

There was no change in the tone of the market on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Early dealings were in small volume, with prices showing practically no change from the figures recorded at the close last night.

Carnegie Metals was again the active issue, but trading in the issue was light and the price was within a small fraction of yesterday's final. The early recession in the stock yesterday attracted sufficient buying to halt the reactionary tendency which made its appearance and convinced some of the traders that interest in the stock still favored the buying side. Only a few hundred shares were handled in the early dealings today.

Standard Sanitary preferred appeared on the board at 124 for a small lot, unchanged from the last previous price. Arkansas Gas sold at 5⅝, indicating that traders are still uncertain as to the market position of the shares despite recent announcement that the Arkansas stock would receive $9.60 per share in debentures in the new company being formed by Cities Service interests to take over Arkansas and some of the Insull properties in the Southwest.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Auspicious weather for movement of the corn crop tended to favor early sellers in the corn market today, and prices averaged lower. Wheat values were steadied by persistent complaints of drought southwest. Opening unchanged to ⅛c off, corn later sagged a little all around. Wheat started at ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance and then held near to the initial range. Oats were steady. Provisions went lower.

Sellers in the corn market today based their action not only on favorable conditions prevailing at present for the corn crop movement, but also on the relatively low price of hogs and on uncertainty as to the keeping quality of much of the corn in the hands of growers. Estimates were current that 45 per cent of the Illinois crop cannot be safely carried into warm weather and that the portion of the Indiana yield which will not keep is 51 per cent.

On the other hand, talk was heard today that a big export demand for corn was awaiting price recessions and that Chicago is likely to feel the brunt of foreign requirements. It was added that ocean freight rates to European continental ports are so much lower from the Atlantic seaboard than from the Gulf of Mexico that corn shipped east from here is now considerably cheaper than via the gulf.

IRON OUTPUT INCREASED

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say: A marked increase in blast furnace operations in January, fresh price advances and further evidence of heavier consumption reflect the growing strength of the steel market. The rapidity of recent gains in steel mill operations is given fresh emphasis by the blast furnace statistics. A net gain of 16 active furnaces in the month, all of them steel works stacks, is indicated by telegraphic reports to the Iron Age on January 31. The nearest approach to this increase in recent years was a gain of 14 furnaces in December, 1925. The Steel Corporation alone blew in 13 furnaces in the month and put out one, a net gain of 12. The operations of this producer's plants now average 84 per cent, as against 82 last week and 75 three weeks ago.

Evidences of broadening demand are seen in the better showing in pipe and tin plate. Pipe mill operations have increased to 70 per cent.

Total production of pig iron in January, according to preliminary estimates, was 2,866,468 gross tons, or 92,467 tons per day, a gain of 5,657 tons or 6.3 per cent over the 86,960 tons per day in December.

Finished steel, on the basis of the Iron Age composite price, has advanced to 2.336 C. a lb., after holding at 2.314 C. for six weeks. It is now higher than at any time since early last October, but is 2½ per cent below the level of a year ago. Pig iron remains for a third week at $17.67 a ton.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The cotton market opened easy today at a decline of 20 to 27 points. May contracts selling down to 17.50c and October to 17.22c under liquidation combined with local, Southern and Liverpool selling, promoted by the weakness of the Liverpool market.

Covering and trade buying absorbed initial offerings and caused rallies of 10 or 15 points from the lowest in early trading, but the tone of the market was rather unsettled.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to hedging with local and American selling, and that sentiment there as to trade conditions in this country had been unfavorably influenced by reports from the steel industry.

The rally from the opening decline carried the market up to 17.71c for May, or about 21 points above the lowest and within 6 points of yesterday's closing quotation. The volume of business tapered off at the advance, which seemed to attract a renewal of liquidation or a little southern selling and there were reactions of several points. The market at midday ruled about 10 to 12 points net lower.

BEGIN HARVESTING ICE AT SANDY LAKE

STONEBORO, Pa., Feb. 1.—Harvesting ice from Sandy Lake began today with 100 men, employed by the Stoneboro and Chautauqua Lakes Company, sweeping off a light snow, cutting the ice into blocks and storing it in company houses here. The water is frozen nine inches deep, and company officials say the ice is of a fine quality.

First Things First!

A Word to Husbands and Fathers

You owe tomorrow's food, clothing, shelter to your family, as much as you owe today's. Make tomorrow's income as sure as today's, through adequate insurance on your life. But think further. Will the insurance money be safely invested, if paid in cash to your family? Can they tell speculation from investment—the risky from the safe? The chances are 9 to 1 against them. Our new booklet "The Life Insurance Trust" tells why, outlines the most dependable safeguard you can build around them and their capital. Ask us for a copy, in person or by letter.

WELL, JO, IF EVER ANYTHING PROVED THAT PEOPLE WERE ABOVE THE AVERAGE IT'S THE FACT THAT EVEN AFTER ALL THE TROUBLE HERMAN LAMB CAUSED US WE STILL WERE BROADMINDED ENOUGH TO TALK HIS WIFE INTO TAKING HIM BACK HOME.
THERE ISN'T MANY WIVES WHO WOULD FORGIVE A MAN AS MRS. LAMB DID
CORRECT! AND THERE ISN'T MANY MEN WHO'D FORGIVE WHAT HE DID TO ME, EITHER. MY WORD, SOME OF MY BEST FRIENDS WERE UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT I REALLY THREW THAT BABY INTO THE RIVER.
WHAT HURT ME MOST WAS THAT SO FEW PERSONS WHO KNEW YOU SEEMED SURPRISED.
THIS ISN'T THE FIRST TIME THE LOCAL WISEHEIMERS TRIED TO WORK OUT A BIG PROBLEM AND GOT ZERO. I WASN'T WORRIED. I KNEW EVERYTHING WOULD COME OUT IN THE WASH.
THE SITUATION CERTAINLY GAVE ME MANY A SLEEPLESS NIGHT. YOU SHOULD SEE THE NUMBER OF GRAY HAIRS I HAVE NOW
WELL ANYHOW IT WAS A BIG EXPERIENCE FOR US. A THING LIKE THAT BROADENS A PERSON. IT'S LIKE MEDICINE, HARD TO TAKE, BUT GOOD FOR US.
A LITTLE OF SUCH EXCITEMENT GOES A LONG WAY WITH ME. IT'S CERTAINLY NO FUN TO SPEND 24 HOURS OF EVERY DAY FEELING AS IF YOU'RE RUNNING TO A FIRE.

Ella's dad, who fled to China, has become one of the powers behind one of the Chinese revolutions......
Panamint Perkins, discoverer of the radium cave that Ella is helping to promote, is still wedded to the desert, his lifelong sweetheart......
While O. Watters Neek, Ella's arch enemy, works his crooked mind overtime to do her a bad turn......

CONGRESSMAN FRISBY ANSWERS TOT'S PLEA

Little girl whose plea to Congressman Frisby is answered in today's article.

By Congressman Frisby

WASHINGTON—A question that continually bothers the little folks has been puzzling this country.

While going down the street last night I felt a childish tug at my coat. Then a voice cried out: "Congressman Frisby! How do you tell a horse's age?"

Let me answer that question this way—

It depends on the horse.

Some horses respond readily to kind treatment.

You can determine the age of some horses in no time, depending, of course, on circumstances over which you have no control.

General Grant, for instance, had a horse that lived to be nobody knows how old. Apparently he sold the horse, as the horse is not mentioned in any of the Grant correspondence.

Personally, I like to feel that it doesn't really matter if the horse and its owner love each other.

On the other hand, you take a horse that is naturally sullen and sometimes it will kick you where you least expect it.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
This year we'll run things on a budget, dearie.

An aged apartment house landlord, who sat down and fell asleep on the doorstep, awoke to find his hat full of small change.

What a lovely world this is in which to live!

A newsboy observed a funny thing about the landlord. He says the old gentleman reached out every once in a while in his sleep and pocketed a few coins.

The landlord must have been hopping mad at whoever woke him up.

She—You look like a college man.

He—I know I do—I haven't had this suit pressed since Thanksgiving.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Emb. Mom. Broadcaster,
Station EMBMOM,
Sir:

I have a brother-in-law who is a police officer of the Law. While investigating a house yesterday he came to a door which was locked, so all the officers got together, he was at the head, and started to push. Imagine his embarrassment when the door flew open and he fell clear down the basement.

T. QUERNETTE.

P. S. This is a fact.

ON "MEN'S FRIENDS"

WHY is it that a man's Men FRIENDS always seem A little PECULIAR to his wife?
Usually she WONDERS what on Earth he can SEE in them,
For they seem so exceptionally DULL. A wife often feels Her husband's GENEROSITY to
Other men is just mental WEAKNESS, and his SYMPATHY for Any other woman is simply
Lack of CONTROL.
This, of course, often makes a Man WONDER why he MARRIED.
If he should ASK her to BELIEVE that his intentions in Both cases are quite GOOD,
She will probably ask him
Not to INSULT her
Intelligence. This is sure to START something. And
If the man is "CUCKOO" he Wants to know how he can INSULT what he can't SEE.
During the BATTLE that ensues
Every friend the man has ever
HAD in his life is LIABLE
To be brought on the CARPET
And stabbed in the BACK, or Some place. And then, on comes Another CASE for the COURT
Of Domestic Relations.

BUGS BAER Says

ANDY GILLIS, the bad boy Mayor of Newburyport has been in New York to meet Mayor Walker, who he admits is a good man, too.

The political record of Bossy Gillis is shorter than a microbe's shadow.

Bossy was catapulted right out of the Boy Scouts into the men's department when he socked a mayor on the whiskers.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

He asked the Mayor of Newburyport for a permit to run a filling station. After a primary argument, Bossy changed the subject by leveling the Mayor with a punch on the jaw.

While this may be recognized as parliamentary procedure in Rhode Island and Pennsylvania, it earned Bossy 60 days in the iron theater.

Having had some experience running after a mayor, Bossy decided to capitalize his ability and run for a mayor.

They elected him on his record, which was one wallop in one time at the bat.

Bossy is red-haired, a former sailor, and stands five feet five in his opera hat. They wouldn't give him a filling station, so he emptied City Hall.

He ran all his enemies into the last blizzard and used City Hall as a filling station for his friends.

A man who knows politics this well is presidential timber. We would like to see Bossy stumping the states and knocking his opponents for the derby route.

It wouldn't be a bad idea if the candidates followed Bossy's recipe for making votes.

Hoover could square off with Borah for 15 minutes in Madison Square Garden. Six-ounce gloves and no hitting below the eighteenth amendment.

The winner would meet Hughes while Heflin and Al Smith were stepping gingerly around each other in the elimination tournament.

We wouldn't suggest that Coolidge meet Bossy Gillis, as Cal might have to change his ultimatum about not desiring to run.

When Bossy started swinging that navy haymaker around Cal's chin, the President would either have to run or learn some new dance steps.

When you think it over you must admire Bossy's style of campaigning. We are tired of hearing political opponents boast about what they are going to do to each other.

Bossy does no talking. He just swings that right duke and his opponent wakes up to find that Bossy is famous.

Reorganize Street Bureau If It Means Efficiency

P. J. McArdle, John S. Herron and W. Y. English have been named as a special committee to make a study of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers with a view of increasing efficiency. It is a good move on the part of Council, inasmuch as special attention is to be given to the asphalt division, perhaps to make it a bureau. As such it would concentrate on new construction and large repair areas, having a division which would look after small repairs in brick, stone and concrete paving as well as asphalt.

If this would increase the efficiency of the organization engaged in street repairs let it be done, since well kept pavements are of first importance these days. Poorly kept streets are a menace to life and are costly to the public through slowing up of traffic as well as being an expense to the city. The expense mounts if repairs are not made promptly, since a small hole soon becomes a large one through the constant shocks of traffic, and a $5 repair job soon becomes a $25 job, a $100 job and then more.

The city loses much each year in not making repairs as promptly as they should be made. If this be because of lack of funds, there is nothing to be done except to provide more funds. But if it be because of fault in the organization of the bureau, let the bureau be reorganized by all means.

Perhaps, too, a way may be found to keep the streets reasonably clean. The filthy condition of Pittsburgh streets is a disgrace.

National Debt of Honor

After each war arises the question: At what point does the nation's obligation to the veteran cease? Congress is again facing it with respect to veterans of the World War.

It has appeared most acutely in the matter of a future policy of hospitalization. As the years pass, ailments among the three and three-quarter million American survivors of the big struggle may be expected to multiply.

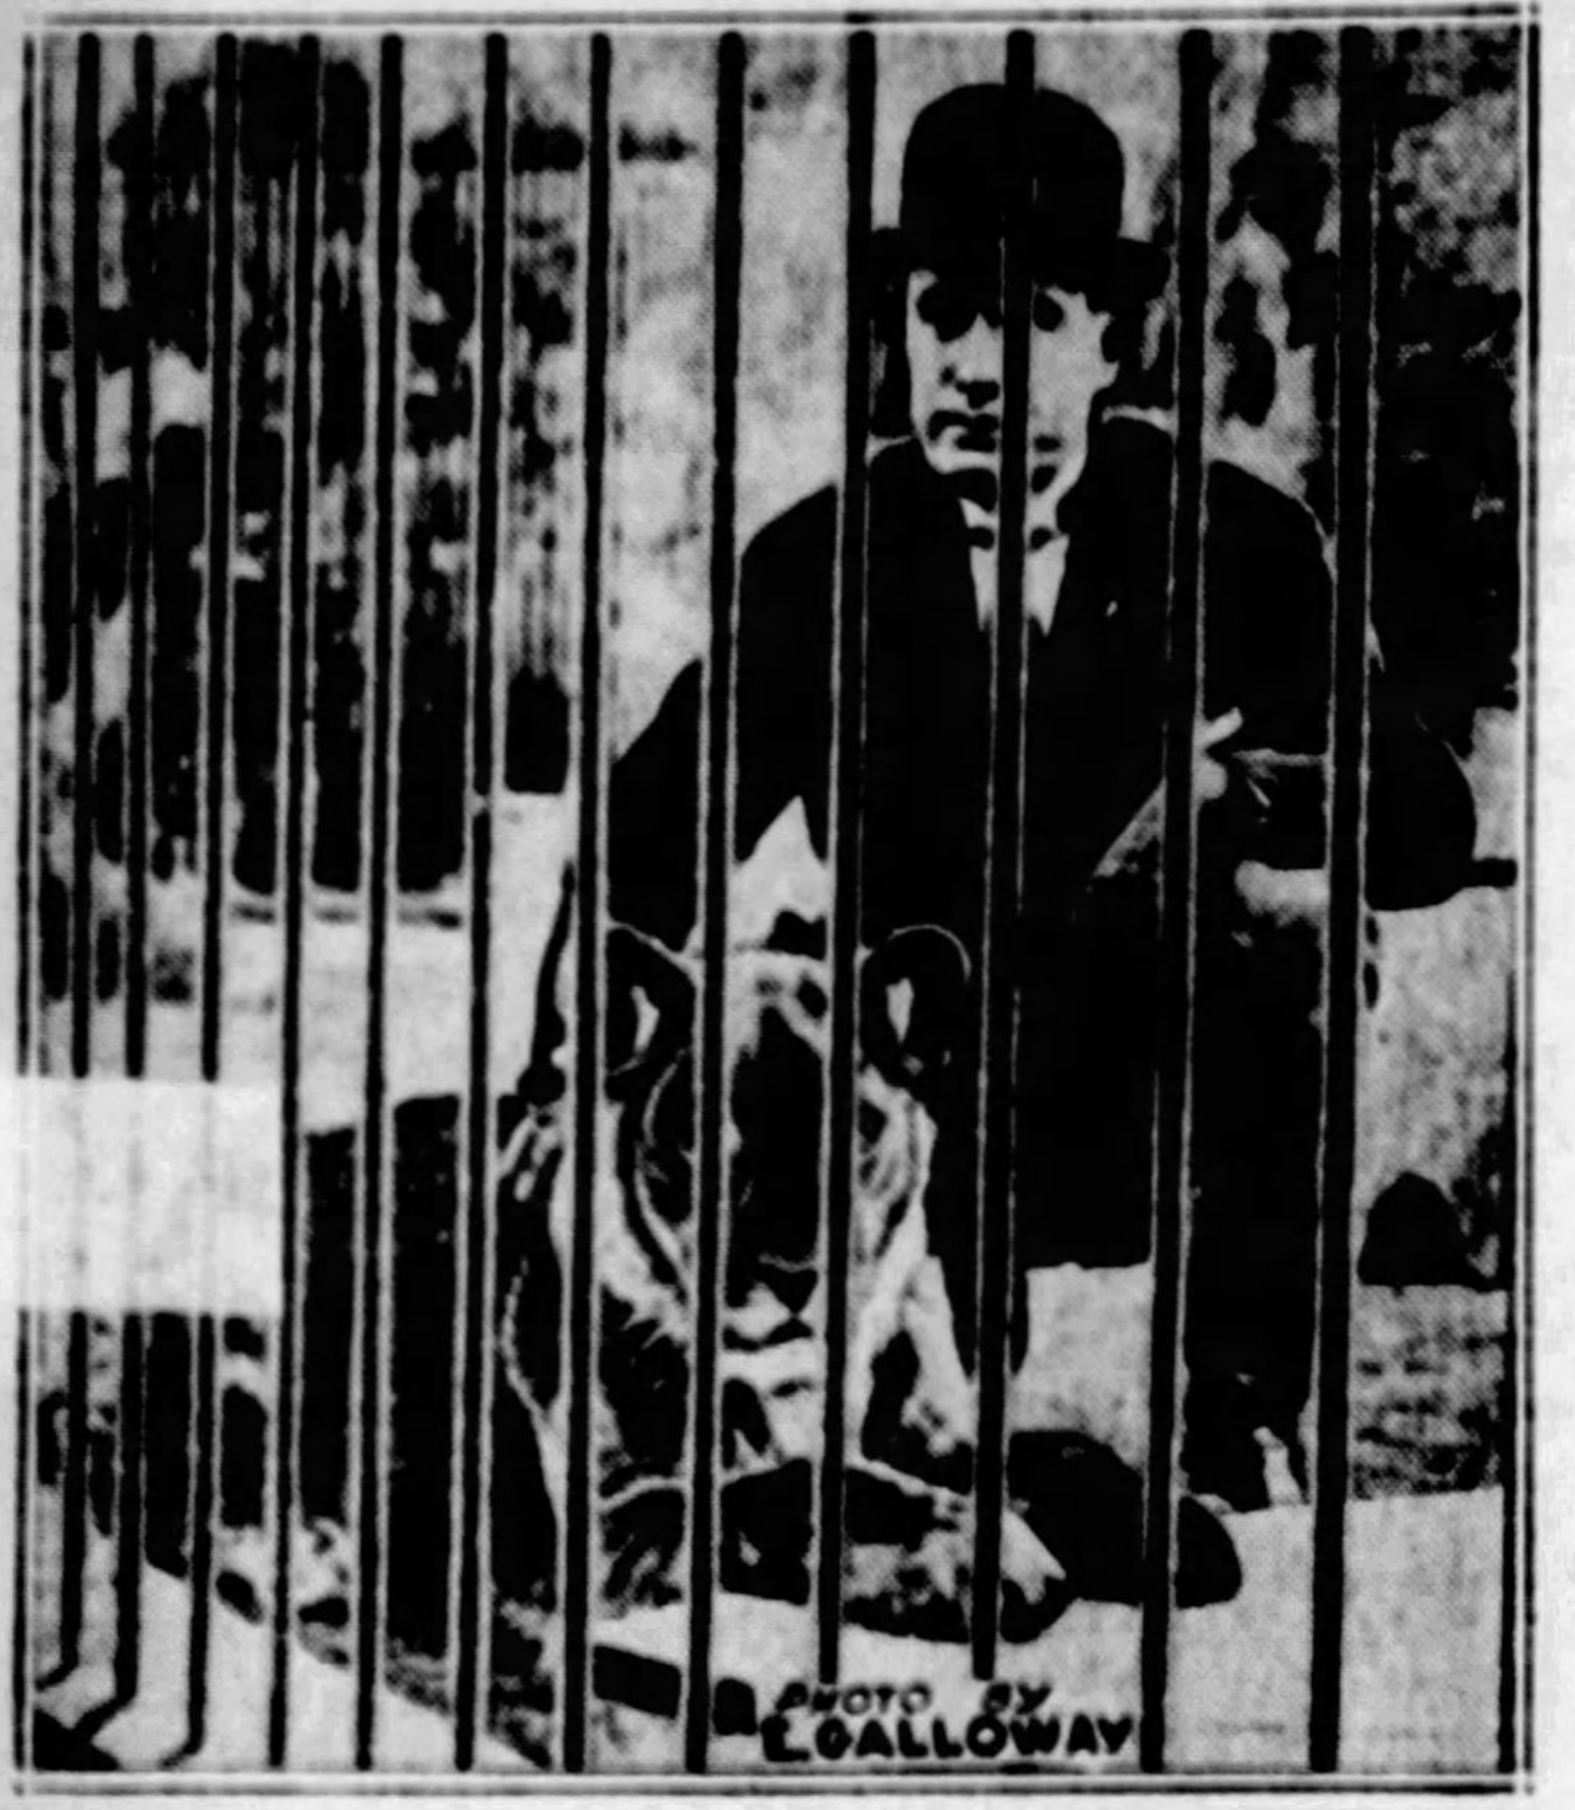
Gen. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, estimates that twenty years hence more than 160,000 veterans will be afflicted with nervous disorders. The percentage of these disorders traceable to war experience will, he contends, be small. He would limit to this small percentage the free use of Government hospitals.

The American Legion takes the position that the nation owes the best possible care to any veteran who is ill, no matter what the origin of the illness. It is pressing for hospital provision to meet this wider view.

Experience teaches the likelihood that a compromise policy will prevail. But the Legion's contention is sound. A nation which sent its boys to war promising them every consideration should not afterward try to whittle down the fulfilment of its pledges.

Two Lions in One Cage

Il Duce Seeks Amusement



MUSSOLINI VISITS HIS LION.

This picture will interest Italian-Americans and other ALL-Americans.

It throws an interesting light on the character of Mussolini, Italy's ruler, shown in a lion's cage, amusing himself with his pet lion.

He used to have this lion playing about in his room when it was smaller. But it has now grown big enough to make it dangerous for ordinary mortals, so Mussolini visits it behind iron bars.

Of any other man you would say this was "posing;" that Mussolini was trying to show how brave he is.

There is no nonsense of that kind about Mussolini. Somebody shoots him, as has happened more than once, he says calmly, "I refuse to be assassinated," and goes about his business of the moment.

There was no braver soldier in the war than Mussolini, who fought in the Alps, was wounded, then went back to fight again.

He plays with his lion because it amuses him, and perhaps because a little danger is a pleasant sensation.

A strange, interesting man this ruler of a great people. Formerly a Socialist, he has abolished Socialism; formerly an extreme radical, he will not tolerate a word, even of mild radicalism; once a passionate advocate of complete liberty, he now says that liberty is one of the unimportant, much exaggerated words.

When he was a child it was his amusement to frighten other children by making savage faces that startled them.

Now that he is a man, that same face, with its natural expression, frightens half of Europe, and deals on equal terms with the dominating League of Nations.

In childhood he worked in his father's blacksmith shop. Part of his work was blowing the bellows to keep the fire roaring, while his father, with big muscles, heated horseshoes or ploughshares ready for hammering.

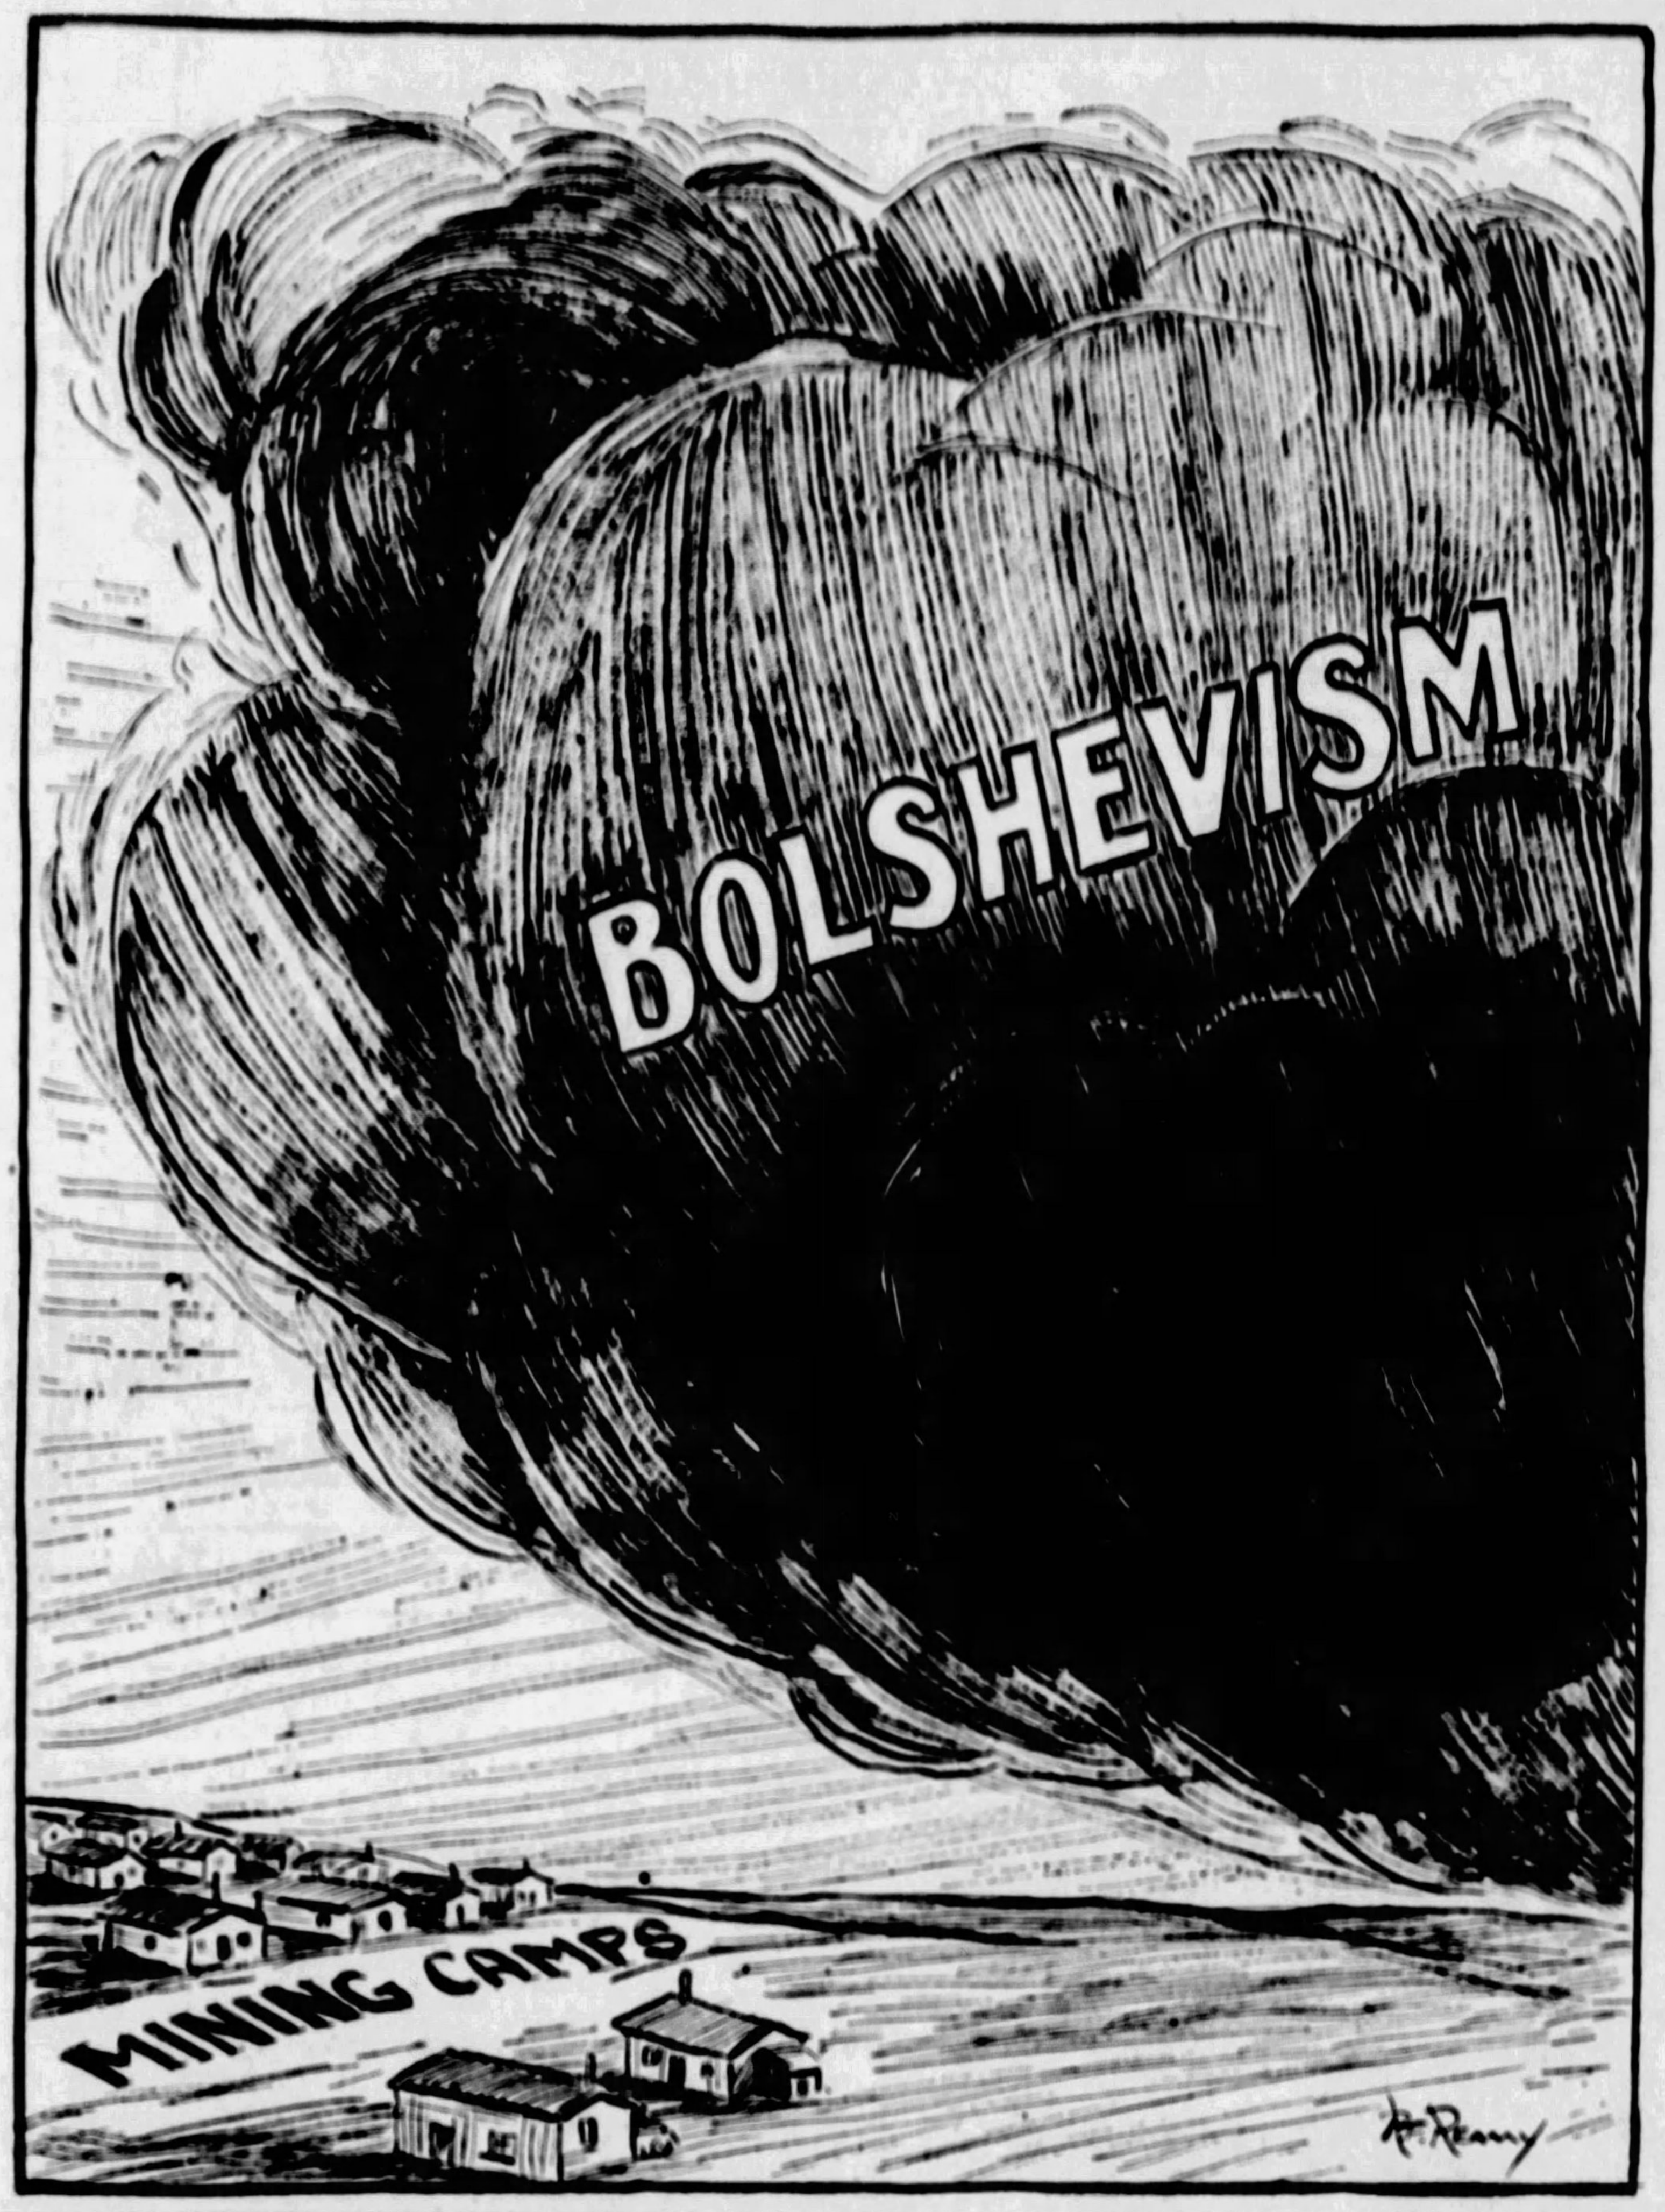
He was not allowed to jump or show fear if sparks flew at him. "A sharp smack over the head," as Mussolini tells it, reminded him that a young Italian boy should not be frightened.

Mussolini learned his lesson. Nothing frightens him now, whether it be a young lion with sharp teeth, or the League of Nations with teeth longer and sharper.

While he lasts, HIS will must rule.

Italy hopes that he may last a LONG time, and wonders what will happen when he lasts NO LONGER.

THE MENACE



New York Day by Day
by
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Broadway after the 8:30 theater rush enjoys a lull—like the sudden peace in the wake of a storm. Haberdashery clerks step out to the entrance for a breath of air. Old men crawl out of their corner news hutches to stretch. Window flapjack jugglers relax.

Taxis line the curbs and drivers enjoy a nap. Restaurant managers sit down to eat their meals. Newsboys squat in doorways to count their pennies. Door tenders slyly steal puffs from cigarets. Girls in the movie ticket cages open their novels and magazines.

It is the hour when a taut street unbends. Paraphrasing the movie title: "Comes the yawn!" It seems the only time of day when Broadway takes on the manner of Main street. Acquaintances stop on the sidewalk for friendly claps on the back and an exchange of gossip.

Even the policemen eddy into doorways to chat with strangers. Night porters enjoy a bit of pavement skylarking. There is little business transacted along Broadway until the first show movie audiences make their exit.

Some merchants even dim their electric signs during the lull. Somehow the effect is a melancholy silence—like a circus lot after the performance. But Broadway does not remain inert long. It arouses with the roar of a sleeping lion disturbed in the jungle. All of a sudden—

Taxis begin to honk. Newsboys cry early morning editions. There is the shrill of the traffic cops' whistles. The click of a million heels and the whine of dance hall jazz. The small town mask is dropped, and Broadway becomes alert and brittle again.

It is the fashion among wealthy gentlemen these days to live in the pent houses on the roofs of towering buildings. Here they have the sweet, clean air, are closer to the creation of things and can indulge whoop-de-doo without hearing sharp raps on neighboring walls. A gentleman of leisure without his pent house is not exactly in the social swim.

It is discovered by a journalistic snooper that there are now only 110 celebrities living in Greenwich Village. It remains today chiefly the haunt of ash tray and lampshade decorators, but quite arty withal.

Three years ago he was courting a Hollywood movie queen. He dispatched tender telegrams several times a day and at midnight was repeating the old, old story over the long-distance telephone. A year later they were married. He came to town the other day and I ran across him in a hotel lobby. We started across town together. At the exit he excused himself and rushed back into the hotel. When he returned he said: "I just happened to think, I must send a postcard to the wife.

* * *

He is one of the herring-hipped gigolos with the cosmetic gloss of his guild. For some time he had been coming into a certain supper club nightly with a beautiful and vivacious lady. Then the other night he came in alone, sporting a magnificently "moused" eye.

"What happened to you?" inquired the headwaiter.

"He came home unexpectedly today," was the frank reply.

In a recent divorce of a middle-aged matron her diary revealed she gave one of these "boy friends" an allowance of $75 a week, aside from paying the rent of his apartment and buying his clothes. And I am one of those scoffers who used to say a gigolo was just a rich woman's toy and would never amount to anything.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Zodiacal Light

AS SPRING comes on one of the most mysterious phenomena of the Solar System begins to show itself in the western heavens after the twilight has faded. This is the Zodiacal Light, usually described as a lenticular-shaped illumination rising in a sloping direction from the place of sunset and reaching at least half way to the zenith. For the night wanderer on country roads this strange apparition has an eerie effect. It is so unlike anything else in the heavens and so evidently an enormous appendage of the sunken sun that the imagination is excited with conjectures about its nature and meaning.

It gets its name from the fact that it stretches along the course of the zodiac, which is an imaginary band extending around the sky, whose central line is the ecliptic, or the path which the sun follows in its apparent annual circuit from west to east through the constellations.

The astronomers themselves are puzzled by this phenomenon. In the clear skies of the tropics it can be traced around the whole circle of the ecliptic, so that it appears to form a luminous ring about the earth. At a point opposite to the sun there may be seen a patch of slightly greater brightness, which is called the Gegenschein.

The explanation of the Zodiacal Light now generally accepted is that sunlight is reflected from a vast, but very thin, lens-shaped cloud of minute particles, enveloping the sun and extending outward far enough to include the orbit of the earth. It can be seen before sunrise as well as after sunset, but the morning views of it are best in the autumn, while in the evening it is most conspicuous from February to April.

The origin of this great cloud of reflecting particles hanging round the sun like dust around a mill can only be conjectured. A suggestion was once made that the particles might be derived from comets that had lost their tails during the hurry and excitement of a solar visit. Evidently they cannot be so small as to be affected by the pressure of light, which would drive them out of the solar system. Their quantity, or the density of the cloud that they form, must be fairly uniform, since the light remains practically unchanged in brightness from year to year.

But, if calculations are correct, the density is amazingly slight. For instance, it has been shown that the observed illumination would be accounted for "if inside the earth's orbit there were particles one millimeter in diameter, of the low albedo (reflecting power) of the moon, and at an average distance of about five miles apart!"

Or if the supposition is preferred that the cloud consists of scattered gaseous molecules, then "the whole amount of gas in the thickness of nearly 200,000,000 miles would, if compressed to atmospheric pressure, form a layer somewhat less than one centimeter thick!" —Russell-Dugan-Stewart's "Astronomy."

Defenders of the Einstein hypotheses are somewhat tender on the subject of the mass and density of extraneous matter around the sun, since, unless it is kept down to very narrow proportions, it might be proved that the much discussed deviation of starlight passing close to the sun is not due to "relativity" effects.

Take in the Zodiacal Light with your other evening spectables when you can.

When to Laugh

THOMAS PILLON, of Chicago, was ejected forcibly from a movie theater for laughing at the wrong sub-title too uproariously and he now sues for $24,000 damages.

So, it seems a patron has got to be just a bit discriminating and let his idea run along with those of the management as to what is funny. If he sees a serious scene that looks funny to him, as many of them do, the bogie man will get him.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

In Debt

I AM so very deep in debt
That I can never pay
For half the lovely things I get
That make life sweet and gay.

I owe for song which came last night
Just drifting down the wind;
It changed an hour from dark to bright,
It made the world grow kind.

So many are these debts of mine
I cannot count them all;
They lend life beauty, like a vine
Upon a graceless wall.

For laughter of a child I owe
For friendship long and true,
For April orchard's fragrant snow,
But, most of all, for you!

Tales That Are Told

Promptly Answered

A PORTER at a certain station had a very red nose, which caused no little amusement to travelers in passing trains.

The new stationmaster had not been long at the station before his curiosity was aroused.

"Porter, what makes your nose so red?" he asked.

"Oh, pride, sir, pride," replied the porter. "It's simply blushing with pride because it doesn't poke itself into other people's business."

Modern Utopia

THE young and ardent reformers were having a debate, and when they had agreed that the country was just about as corrupt as it could be, a grim-faced man rose to his feet.

"What you want," he ventured, "is a place where everybody has to be good by law."

"That's it," agreed the reformers.

"Where smoking and drinking are prohibited. Where everybody has to go to church and keep regular hours."

"Oh, to find such a place," sighed the reformers soulfully.

"Easily found," snapped the grim-faced man. "I'm just out from doing a month in one."

Knew His Worth

WILLIAM WIGGS was on the point of securing a job, or, rather, Mrs. Wiggs had secured it and William was in imminent danger of securing it. His account of his capabilities, which were limited mainly to long months of efficient dole-drawing, had not impressed the prospective employer, but he was incluined to give him a chance.

"Very well, you can start," William was told. "And for the first week I'll pay you what you are worth."

A look of relief spread itself over Wiggs' features. He was as good as saved.

"What I'm worth, guv'nor!" he cried. "That won't do at all. The wife told me to stick out for a living wage."—London Answers.

A New Start

By DR. FRANK CRANE

We often wish that we could live our lives over.

We see where we have made mistakes, and see in the clutches of what untoward things we have been caught, and we would like to start again with the new knowledge we possess.

Most resolutions that are formed are useless because they have not enough steam behind them. We haven't the power to carry them into effect.

The one motivating power that we all have at hand and which we can call on in any emergency is love.

Love something.

Find something or somebody that you love. Make your resolution for the sake of that love and backed by it.

A resolution that is purely intellectual or purely from the will is not of as much value as one which is backed by the power of a supreme love.

It may be the love of a mother that you have neglected so far but for whom you really feel strong affection. It may be love of a wife, or children, or a friend. Whatever it is, it is a life buoy for your sinking will. Lay hold of it and it will keep you up.

As well try to run a locomotive without steam or an automobile without gasoline as try to steer your life without love.

It is the motive power that underlies the will.

All of us love something.

Search your heart for some object upon which you can center all your affection and by that love you shall be saved.

Love is the keeping of all the Commandments and love is the true savior of man.

We remember an instance in the Scriptures of a woman who was a great sinner, but who was pardoned because she loved much.

Love is the only thing that counterbalances our wrongdoings.

All conclusions that are reached by anything else than love are falsehood. Love sees and understands. Hate is blind.

Wits and Brains

SOMETIMES I feel like laying custom across my knee and spanking her till the cows come home.

Her prank that provokes me now is the habit of using words wrongly so that one can't use them rightly and be understood. For samples:

Affinity—a magnificent word that has been traduced to signify only an illicit love.

Temperamental—limited by custom to the tantrum folks when everybody has a temperament and hence is temperamental.

Immorality—defined by custom as sexual misalliance when it should be the label of anything anti-social.

Wits—a word which indicates mental altitudes but which has been prostituted by custom to indicate the brains of the underworld. The outstanding Bertillon stamp of crime is:

"He lives by his wits."

When custom does such things I scarcely know whether she needs the ferrule or the dunce cap; the bastile or the alienist.

Yesterday among the side-splits of the jokester I found this:

"What author is noted for his vocabulary?"

"Noah Webster."

This Noah of the deluge of diction defines wit as mind; intellect; understanding; sense." And then he gives a number of shades and tones of this dominant color.

Now then, if friend Crime lives by his wits, let us live by our brains. If by wits we mean trickery and chicanery and fraud and imposture, then we prefer brains and will define brains as the Galahad of thought.

Degenerate wits have the Sing Sing habit and utilize too much the arsenal of murder and leave one ultimately with heart-ache and soul-ache. But Galahad brains turn a life desert into an oasis; fill life's trees with nightingales and life's sky with larks; make domesticity a symphony; and make every law in one's decalogue a positive.

Sometimes brains slip the leash and become wits.

I have a personal friend in the penitentiary. He had brains which gave him eminence in his profession. Then Mammon came to him with siren speech and he decided to "live by his wits." I won't see him again for 10 years. Poor fellow! But I'm still his friend.

I have another friend who thought he'd live by his wits. I got him out of jail. Since then he lives by his brains and he and his charming wife and dimpled child have a private paradise.

Use Your Head

IT IS far more important to know how to spend your money than it is to be able to save it.

It does not take much brains, and only a little common sense, to put a certain part of your wages or your salary away each week, in the bank.

It has been conclusively shown in numberless cases that systematic saving is necessary to create a fund for old age or for the period of accident or illness.

But how much do you know about wise spending of the rest of your income?

Do you buy what you want, and when you feel like it, with what ready money you have in hand?

Do you buy because you have planned to do so, rather than because you need a certain article?

It takes real hard work to know the relative values of materials, to know how and when to buy to get the biggest discount, and to buy with an idea of getting comfort rather than luxury.
